

NATAN

WORLDWIDE DISASTER RELIEF

Helen Zelon

Writer and Editor, NATAN Communications Team

Helen Zelon is a prize-winning journalist and nonprofit communications leader with strong commitments to social justice and advancing stories that otherwise go untold. Her work has appeared in dozens of print and online publications, anthologies, and books for young readers; as an editor, she works with established voices and helps to develop emerging writers, as a Mentor/Editor of the OpEd Project.

A graduate of the University of California, Berkeley, Helen has spent her career writing, reporting, editing, teaching and mentoring – including experience teaching writing at Sing Sing Prison in New York State.

Helen began volunteering with NATAN several years ago, and is now Editor of NATAN documentation and publications, including the monthly newsletter. Helen lives in Brooklyn, NY, with her family.
