ChargeUp Europe, Voice of the Industry in Europe, Welcomes Compleo as its 10th member

ChargeUp Europe, the voice of the electric vehicle charging industry in Europe, is delighted to announce its latest member, Compleo.

Compleo, one of the leading hardware manufacturers in the EV charging sector provides high-grade charging stations to major companies, operators and energy providers across Europe. Active in the industry since 2009, Compleo provides cutting edge AC and DC charging stations and wall boxes that make EV charging possible in private and public locations.

ChargeUp Europe, launched in March this year, has now grown from the three founding members - Allego, ChargePoint and EVBox Group, to ten members with charging stations and services in all 27 EU member States. As it continues to grow, ChargeUp Europe will actively contribute to discussions on policy initiatives at EU level that can deliver the roll-out of charging infrastructure across the EU.

Commenting on the announcement, Georg Griesemann, Co-CEO from Compleo, stated:

We believe in a climate-friendly mobility in the near future. The turn towards low-emission and e-mobility can only succeed if we collaborate across borders. Therefore, we are excited to join ChargeUp Europe and be part of the alliance which is an important voice of the electric vehicle charging industry in Europe. We are looking forward to working to ensure that EU policy and legislation put the consumer at the heart of EV charging ecosystem and to build an open, interoperable and secure charging ecosystem across the EU."
