

EXHIBIT A
PROVISIONAL ARCHIVE
OF THE PAPERS
OF
PROFESSOR G E M ANSCOMBE
made by
LUKE GORMALLY

The following listing follows the order in which I came across the papers. It is highly desirable that the papers be reorganised since, for example, disparate files contain copies or different versions of the same paper. But at the time at which I began to make a typed version of the hand-written record I kept of the files (as I assembled them) it was not clear to me that I would have the opportunity to reorganise the files. Having completed the typed record, it is now clear to me that the task of reorganisation will have to fall to someone else.

I should mention that I did not have access to all the papers at the same time.

The bulk of the preliminary archiving I carried out between other tasks in the period 2008-2011. Among those other tasks was editing some of the papers for publication. I archived further papers as they came to light in subsequent years.

Not all the papers are of equal value and interest. But there are many files which contain material of considerable interest both to those enquiring into Anscombe's thinking and to those interested in the topics she discussed, as well as to those with biographical interests.

Some may question my inclusion of offprints of published work. I decided to include them because at least some of them carry important corrections by the author, corrections which authorise the alterations to subsequent published versions for which I have been responsible as an editor. There is a preponderance of offprint items in the first 250 entries, though there are some important unpublished entries in that range, but thereafter there are many more important entries for unpublished material.

This typescript of the Archive has been typed as opportunity has permitted over a period of three years.

All the papers are in preservation files in preservation boxes of the kind used by professional archivists.

286	(1) MS, 11pp, entitled 'The Illegal and the Unlawful'. (2) Typescript, 7pp, entitled 'In Pursuit of a Definition of Murder. I. The Illegal and the Unlawful'. (3) 2 copies of incomplete MS (only 6pp) of 'Prolegomenon to the Definition of Murder: The Illegal and the Unlawful'. Text equivalent to (2), p.7 missing. (4) Typescript, 9pp, of 'Prolegomenon to a	8

	Pursuit of the Definition of Murder'. Pp.1-2: Preamble on equality'; pp.3-9 same as (3). (5) Carbon copy of pp.1-2 of (4).
287	Single sheet entitled 'What is murder?' [On why murder rather than the ethics of suicide is the appropriate subject under which to consider euthanasia.]	W3
288	Copy of typescript (numbered pp.2-11) untitled, but probably first draft of GEMA's 'Murder and the Morality of Euthanasia', being her contribution to c.3 of the Linacre Centre Report Euthanasia and Clinical Practice , so dating from ca.1979.	W3
289	Blue notebook (9" x 11¼"). First two pages: objection to murder and manslaughter is wrong done to victim. Then 18pp on why there are absolute prohibitions on forms of injustice.	8
290	MS, numbered pp.8-31, no title. Begins with large variety of killings of humans by humans. Goes on to explore what is involved in culpable killings.	8
291	MS, numbered pp.1-54: 'On Murder'. "What follows is an enquiry into what constitutes murder, and what should be our attitude towards it."	8
292	MS; coverless notebook; first 4 sheets torn out; 32pp of text. Mostly about legal concepts in connection with crime in general and killing in particular: 'mens rea'; intention and responsibility; 3 senses of 'responsibility': (i) causal, (ii) answerability, (iii) guilt/merit. What cannot count as justification for the killing which is murder. What are not titles to kill. Titles to kill deriving from civil authority. Private persons must be constituted by law as exercising civil authority. But in the absence of sovereign authority (usurpation) there can be self-assumption of authority. There is no title to set out to kill in self-defence.	8
293	MS, 11pp: on tyrannicide and titles to kill.	8
294	MS, 9pp: on causes of a death and the conditions in which they operate.	8
295	MS, 6pp: on consequentialism and the incoherence of G E Moore's teaching of it.	8
296	MS, 15pp: on responsibility for different killings and the substantive question whether it is ever justified to commit murder; murder should not be defined as 'wrongful killing'.	8
297	MS, numbered G1-G14: on civil authority and the notion of murder as 'unlawful killing'	8

298	Part typescript, part MS, numbered W1-W18 (but also with other pagination): on what makes killing murder.	8
299	Typescript, 16pp, entitled 'Killing in War'	8
300	Typescript (carbon copy), 10pp, no title: on assassination.	W3
301	MS, numbered A1-A10, no title: on tyrannicide, leading to the distinction: "The discussion of the justifiability of a killing (whether 'private' or 'public' indeed does not matter) purely in the light of expected advantage and without any other character distinguishing the act of killing apart from that, is a discussion of the justifiability of murder; while the discussion of the justifiability of certain kinds of killing, identifiable independently of advantage to be obtained, is a discussion of whether these kinds of killing are murder or not."	9
302	MS, numbered B1-B10 (but final sentence on B10 is incomplete), no title: on what is wrong with conflating foresight and intention in causing death.	9
303	MS, numbered I1-I9, with 3 separate attachments; no title. Begins: "If we do not make the equation foreseeability=foresight=intention, and have also abandoned the idea of 'constructive murder', it becomes necessary to think out anew the possibly acceptable criteria for 'malice aforethought.'" Itemises 8. Criticises the notion of 'premeditation'. Mostly concerned with elucidating the notion of 'unlawful' in 'unlawful killing'.	W3
304	(1)MS, numbered M1-M16, no title. Begins: "Moral action descriptions are applicable only to voluntary behaviour." Elucidation of the notion of voluntary behaviour . Moral action description given if anyone says "X acted well (ill) in doing such-and-such". Goes on to analyse 6 of the man-related 10 commandments which give strong indications whether the actions are good or bad. Ends by beginning an analysis of the concept of 'murder'. (2) Typescript by LG of (1).	9
305	MS, numbered H1-H9 (incomplete), no title. Concerned with first task of government as "the protection of subjects against unjust violence ... which must lead to various enlargements of the general kind 'protection against injustice'. The most general of these enlargements will be the	9 securing of peaceful normality... For the sake of this a society with a developed form of government will be apt to proscribe all violence, other than that of the officers of the law.”

306	MS, numbered S1-S6, no title. The source of civil authority – its right to be obeyed – is not special divine ordinance. It requires independent establishment of it as a justified institution.	9
307	MS, numbered L1-L6 (incomplete), no title. On the theoretical limits to what the law can make a matter of guilt.	9
308	MS (beginning mid-way through sentence in page numbered 31 through to p.35). Given subsequent title ‘Primary rights of state’. Civil authority’s right to the use of violent coercive power founded on the first task of government to protect people from unjust attack on their lives and persons and unjust impediments to their activities.	9
309	MS, numbered 37-40. Subsequent title: ‘Secondary rights of state’. On government’s use of coercive power to enforce laws which do not proscribe what would be wrongs against persons whether or not there was a law against them.	9
310	MS, 2pp, numbered D1-D2 (very incomplete). On civil government and loss/deprivation of prescriptive rights.	9
311	MS, 3pp, numbered 13-15, evidently from draft of contribution to Linacre Centre Working Party on Euthanasia and Clinical Practice. On ‘letting die’.	9
312	(1) MS, extracted from larger MS, 17pp, no title. On causing death as a ‘side effect’; includes consideration of craniotomy case . (2) Typescript by LG of (1).	9
313	MS, numbered R1-R12, no title. On the inseparability of levels 2 and 3 of ‘responsibility’, illustrated by reference to the ‘theory of murder’ (R7-R12).	9
314	Carbon copy of typescript, numbered 1-11. ‘The Penumbra’ (i.e. of the concept of murder).	W3
315	MS, 3pp numbered T1-T3, no title. Summarises her account of what it is for an action to be murder , an account which has invoked the notion of civil authority. Announces intention to consider intentional killing of the non-innocent in the absence of civil authority.	9
316	Typescript, 12pp (with written corrections)	W3

	entitled 'What is murder?', being one draft of GEMA's contribution to to c.3 of the Linacre Centre Report 'Euthanasia and Clinical Practice'.
317	MS, 10pp; no title. On the question 'What is murder?'	9
318	Typescript, 41pp, but separate pagination for each of its five sections: 'Von Wright on Practical Inference' (with some marginal corrections. For the history of the publication of this paper see editorial footnote at p.109 of HLAE.	9

567	Letter (11 June 1982) from Fr Timothy Russ to GEMA about the celebration of the 10 th anniversary of his ordination and about the sad sale of the ancestral property of his family, Sawston Hall, where the family had lived faithful to the Church throughout the recusant period.	14
568	Letter (10 June 1988) to a Fr Maloney criticising the changes he proposed to make to the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes in New York. This was the Church her daughter Barbara used to attend. At the time Barbara was campaigning against the changes and had no doubt enlisted her mother to support her efforts.	14
569	Some correspondence from Anselm Müller (1994-1996) and documentation in connection with his application for a temporary (5 year) Readership/Professorship at Oxford, together with the reference GEMA wrote on that occasion. Also an important letter stating the precise nature of his indebtedness to her. Date unclear; seems to be 12.10.1994.	14
570	Letters to GEMA concerning the biography of Wittgenstein.	14
571	Miscellaneous letters/cards to GEMA.	14
572	Various letters to GEMA from the 1980s with requests for contributions from her (lectures, papers, reviews, references).	W5
573	Documents (1987-88) about the Program in Human Rights and Medicine, University of Minnesota, of which GEMA was a member.	14
574	Correspondence from Dr David Wainwright Evans to GEMA mostly about diagnosis of death on the basis of diagnosis of 'brain death'. Wainwright Evans, who was GEMA's	14 consultant cardiologist, was a notable and courageous opponent on scientific grounds of the practice of diagnosing patients as dead using unsatisfactory tests for 'brain death'.

575	2 letters from Fr Brian Davies OP (1: 14 June 1984; 2: 24 February 1991) the first partly on the interpretation of Summa theologiae 1a, q.16, a.7 ad 4, and partly on Anselm's argument in the Proslogion ; the second entirely on the Anselm argument.	14
576	Miscellaneous letters from professional colleagues, including Joseph M Boyle Jr, Roderick Chisholm, Donald Davidson, Ian Hacking, Hidé Ishiguro, Saul Kripke, Norman Malcolm, Gareth Matthews, Andrej Połtawski, Richard Sorabji, Sir Richard Southern, G H von Wright, and various others.	14
577	Letter from Germain Grisez (7 October 1978) correcting mistakes in an article published over the name of a Fr S Crestani about Humanae Vitae . A copy of the article had been sent by GEMA to Grisez. The copy is included.	14
578	Letter (undated) from Lars Heitmüller, a 17 year old German boy staying in England to study English, asking GEMA to help him with some of the questions exercising him.	14
579	4 letters (18 Feb 1966; 17 Jan 1969; 28 April 1977; 18 Dec 1977) to GEMA from Professor John Dolan.	14
580	Letter (19 Feb 1964) from Philippa Foot, writing from Boston, to GEMA, in part answering GEMA's question about why she was an atheist.	14
581	2 letters (20 Jan 1965; 2 May 1980) from Jonathan Bennett about (1) the action/consequence distinction and (2) about GEMA on the importance of the intention/foresight distinction (principle of double effect) to the applicability of absolute prohibitions; together with a photocopy of a letter of reply from GEMA (11 May 1980) to the second letter.	14
582	8 letters from Jenny Teichmann, ranging in dates from 1964 to 1982.	14
583	File of letters from Norman and Ruth Daniel. Ruth was a close friend of GEMA from their schooldays. They went up to Oxford together. Norman Daniel was a contemporary of theirs at Oxford and the co-author with GEMA of their undergraduate pamphlet The Justice of the	14

	Present War Considered (1939). Ruth Daniel died in late 1981; GEMA gave the memorial address at her funeral (see file no. 131 and other entries). Norman Daniel worked throughout his professional life for the British Council, mostly in Sudan and Egypt, and published volumes on Islam and the West. There are 3 letters from Ruth Daniel (9 Feb 1964; 13 Nov 1978; 8 Oct 1979). The letters from Norman Daniel begin from shortly after Ruth Daniel's death: 1982: 5 letters (3.1; 5.1; 19.1; 9.3; 8.5.) 1983: 1 long letter, 8 pages (26.12.) 1984: 5 letters (4.3; 18.3; 1.6; 22.7; 14.10.) 1985: 2 letters (21.5; 24.11.) 1986: 4 + part letter (8-10.4; 11.4; 7.6; 7.7.) 1987: 4 letters (5.8; 10.8; 21.8; 3.12.) + undated final page of typed letter.
584	7 letters from Rush Rhees to GEMA (28.09.1955; 18.02.1956; 18.09.1957; 02.10.1957; 23.10.1957; 21.11.1957 [lacking ending; a single ending page does not seem to belong to this letter]; 18.05.1966). All the letters are about questions of religious belief that exercised Rhees.	14
585	Letters from Anthony (Tony) Kenny. The first 18 are from the then Fr Anthony Kenny. The sequence is not exactly clear because Kenny rarely gave the year of a letter. The first two seem to be from December 1959. Most of the others seem to be from 1960 and concern Kenny's problems about Catholic belief and also about his sense of being involved in a corrupt clericalist system. There is a further letter (undated; ?1963) when Kenny had been laicised and was applying for Oxford teaching positions. There is a 34 page Kenny typescript on 'Faith' dating from 1959/60 (?). There is a copy of The Old Palace (journal of the Oxford University Catholic Chaplaincy) Hilary Term 1959, with a letter by Kenny criticising GEMA's earlier published criticism of C S Lewis on the Psalms. Finally there is a stray letter from 1980 from Kenny writing as Master of Balliol sympathising with GEMA after an accident she had recently suffered.	14
586	Photocopies (135pp) which Kenny produced for	14

	Anselm Müller (and which the latter passed to LG) of letter correspondence (as distinct from postcard correspondence – see file 559) between GEMA and Kenny on knowledge, certainty and faith. The photocopies of Kenny’s typed letters in this file prompt questions when compared with the originals in file 585. Compare, for example, what appears as a copy of the letter dated February 3rd (1960), pp.41ff, with the original. The file contains 3 typed covering pages with Kenny’s selection of what he regards as salient ‘Points from Anscombe’s correspondence (from her letters)’.
587	Letters from Basil Blackwell publishers mostly about the publication of GEMA’s Collected Philosophical Papers. Also a letter from Professor Raymond Klibansky about publication of the Anscombe-Geach translation of Descartes Philosophical Writings.
588	2 handwritten letters (originals) from Archbishop Thomas Williams (Archbishop of Birmingham 1929-1946). The first, dated May 1st 1940, appears to be addressed to the Catholic Chaplain of Oxford University (at that time Fr Ronald Knox). The second, dated May 3rd 1940, is addressed to the Prior of Blackfriars, Oxford. Both letters relate to the Archbishop’s concern that the pamphlet The Justice of the Present War Considered (written and published by GEMA and Norman Daniel) had been published “without submitting it to ecclesiastical authority” when it took “a line opposed to that of the Hierarchy of this country”. See the remarks about this by GEMA in her Introduction (at p.vii) to CPP3.	14
589	Proofs of ‘Die Wahrheit “thun” and ‘How Can a Man be Free? Spinoza’s thought and that of some others’, with covering letter from the Secretary of the International Academy of Philosophy at Liechtenstein.	14
590	Letters from Georg Kreisel to GEMA from 1954-1956 when he was at the University of Reading and at The Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton. A carbon copy of a letter from Kreisel (dated February 1 1977, to a Mr Joseph Guberman.	W5

	of the night prayer ‘Matthew, Mark, Luke and John’; revealing and moving. (2) 2 essays at translating (both single foolscap sheets) by GEMA of a German poem which MCG reports that her mother said was an allegory of the Catholic Church.
592	Scans of some of GEMA’s correspondence with Georg Henrik von Wright. These are included here by way of alerting users of this archive to the fact that the extensive correspondence between GEMA and von Wright is on deposit in the von Wright Archive in the National Library of Finland. The correspondence is principally concerned with their joint responsibilities as executors of Wittgenstein. The scans in this file were supplied by Dr Christian Erbacher who sought LG’s assistance in deciphering them. Dr Erbacher has been working on the history of the editing of Wittgenstein’s manuscripts. The letters show the respect GEMA had for von Wright and the friendship which quickly developed between them.	W6
593	Brown envelope containing “A formalization by GEMA circa 1950 of St Anselm’s Proslogion argument in Polish notation”. This description of the contents is in the handwriting of PTG.	W6
594	An assemblage of unsorted sheets many of which belong to larger manuscripts but have proved to be unassignable. It is possible, however, that an enterprising researcher may find in this bundle a missing sheet from a manuscript on which he/she is working. They are included for this reason.	W6
	The following items 595-602 evidently belong to the earliest stage of GEMA’s translation of Remarks on the Foundations of Mathematics prior to the editing of the first 1956 edition. The typescripts show extensive handwritten corrections by GEMA of her translation (and in a few places by PTG) as well as large editorial deletions of text. Some of the typescripts are evidently unedited translations from Wittgenstein’s Notebooks.
595	(1) Handwritten heading: I, circa 1937-38. Pages numbered 1-71 (but there are pages marked 60a to 60e, 61a, 61b). Text begins: “We use the expression ‘The steps are determined by the formula ...’. How is it used?” (2) Appendix I, pp.1-8; Appendix II, pp.1-15	W6
596	(1) No heading; 86pp, with some MSS inserts.	W6

	Text begins: "1. 'A mathematical proof must be perspicuous'. At page 86: 'END OF VOLUME 18'. (2) Handwritten heading: II 1939-40. 69pp. Extensively edited version of (1) – many omissions.
597	(1) Carbon copy of 596(1). (2) Carbon copy of 596(2).	W6
598	(1) Handwritten heading: III 1942. 26pp. (2) Carbon copy of (1).	W6
599	(1) Heading: 6A – January 1942. 35pp with additional MS page. Text begins: '1. "The axioms of a mathematical axiom-system ought to be self-evident." How are they self-evident, then?' A pre-edited version of 598. (2) Carbon copy of typescript with different corrections on some pages.	W6
600	(1) Handwritten heading: IV 1942-3. 48pp. Text begins: 'It is of course clear that the mathematician, in so far as he really is playing a game, does not infer .' (2) Carbon copy of (1).	W6
601	Handwritten heading: V 1941 and 1944. Very extensive handwritten revisions. Paginated 1-92, but additional handwritten insert at p.19, p.33 is entirely MS, there are pp.35a and 35b. GEMA notes that pp.41-45 have been 'left out' and pp.68-78 have been 'cut out'; there is a further MS insert at p.62, p.64 has MS p.64b added, and p.86 is a 2 page MS insert, and p.88 is an MS insert. The text begins: 'The role of propositions which deal with measures and are not "empirical propositions".'	W6
602	(1) No heading. 53pp, with one MS insertion at p.25. Text begins: 'One might ask first: cannot the fact that two different proofs lead to the same proposition be expressed in two different mathematical propositions, each of which is proved by one of the two proofs?' Text ends at p.53: 'End of the dictation from volume 13.' There are indications on this typescript of very extensive editorial omissions. (2) Carbon copy of (1).	W6
603	(1) 1 stray page (19) from 1A. (2) 6 discontinuous pages of German text.	W6
604	41 letters: from Georg von Wright, Rush Rhees and Michael Nedo and 5 replies from GEMA, dating from 1981-89, concerning publication of	W6

	Wittgenstein's Nachlass .
605	Correspondence with Basil Blackwell Publisher (31 letters, 1981-84) mostly concerned with disputes over royalties and translation rights in respect of Wittgenstein texts published by Blackwell, including letters from GEMA's solicitors, Field Fisher and Martineau.	W6
606	Letters from Henry Hardy (OUP) and Brian McGuinness concerning publication of letters from Wittgenstein together with letter from GEMA to McGuinness.	W6
607	Correspondence with Suhrkamp Verlag about publication of Wittgenstein texts.	W6
608	Letter from Harvester Press to GEMA about K.T.Fann (ed) Ludwig Wittgenstein: The Man and his Philosophy .	W6
609	Letter from Ian Robinson (The Brynmill Press) about royalty payment.	W6
610	Correspondence from Gerard Granel about French translations of Wittgenstein.	W6
