

The Portofino Nurse Station follows both form and function with a clean, streamlined design that is sufficient for the intense nature of healthcare environments. It is constructed with the same sleek and contemporary style as other Portofino casework and is designed to provide a multi-functional area for interaction among patients, nurses, doctors, and other healthcare professionals. It is constructed with metal corner protectors and capped with a solid surface to allow it to withstand a harsh environment. This nurse station is fitted with a power and data raceway to accommodate electrical wiring. Filing cabinets are placed on either side, providing ample room for storage while maintaining plenty of legroom for those sitting at the desk. There is also space to accommodate a tack board in the desk area utilizing material of the customer's choosing. It pairs nicely with the Portofino Nurse Island to create a larger, more efficient workspace.

Note: power and data cables are to be provided and installed by others.
