For immediate release
Edmonton, Alberta (April 17, 2020) In light of the current global pandemic and public health measures to help limit the spread of COVID-19 the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra (ESO) have cancelled the remaining concerts of the 2019/2020 season.

Patrons are encouraged to consider continuing to support the ESO through this difficult time:

- Donate tickets to cancelled performances for a tax receipt
- Subscribe to the upcoming ESO 2020/2021 season
- Make a donation

"The ESO has always lived to bring beauty and magic to the world, to inspire, to be our best and most compassionate selves, to provide catharsis and joy alike, to help us understand our world, other people and other cultures, and above all to bring people from every walk of life together through this wondrous art we call music. Until we can resume the special and shared experience of live concerts, we are committed to doing what we can to bring our performances to our audiences, great big ESO fans, and family in our beautiful community - around the world, in your own homes,” added ESO Chief Conductor Alexander Prior.

Upcoming “Live From The Winspear: From Stage to Screen” events will be announced on the Winspear Centre website, allowing audiences to experience live orchestra music from the comfort of their homes. Performances can be found here: https://www.winspearcentre.com/livestreams/

Patrons may contact Box Office staff by email at box.office@winspearcentre.com

About the Winspear | Edmonton Symphony Orchestra | Tommy Banks Centre
In its 69th year, the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra has taken its place as one of Canada’s foremost orchestral ensembles. Its current roster includes 56 musicians from Canada and around the world performing a wide-ranging repertoire from the great classical masterworks to pops and family concerts. The orchestra is the resident artistic ensemble, the “home team,” of the Winspear Centre, among the best acoustic concert halls in North America. The Tommy Banks Centre for Musical Creativity launched in 2013 delivering musical discovery programs that transform lives.
