Here in mid-June 2020, Vermont and the world are concentrating on COVID-19, the Black Lives Matter movement, and policing. As part of our missions at the Sheldon Museum, we witness and collect information, documentation, and photographs on these seminal events that have overtaken our everyday lives. We invite your reflections, impressions, photographs, and observations during these riveting days.

At the Sheldon we champion equality, justice, and healthy communities. Our individual goals are to treat others as we wish to be treated.

No one is above the law, but we are all equal under the law.

In commemorating Flag Day this Sunday, June 14, let's reaffirm the oft-fragile goal to be a "United" States.
PLEASE NOTE:
Due to ongoing concerns about COVID-19, The Sheldon Museum, Research Center, and Store are closed until further notice.
