Draw a line to match the pollinator to the plant that it pollinates!

- Bee: Likes flowers with a landing pad.
- Butterfly: Likes large flower clusters.
- Moth: Likes white flowers with a strong scent.
- Fly: Likes flowers with a foul odor.
- Hummingbird: Likes red, orange, or purple tubular flowers.
- Jasmine: Has a strong scent.
- Lavender: Has clusters of large flowers.
- The flowers of the mango tree smell like rotten eggs.
- Petunias are long and tubular.
- Carrot flowers are clustered, creating a small landing pad.
Honey Possum: Likes bright low growing flowers.

Wasp: Likes very small flowers.

Beetle: Likes bowl-shaped flowers.

Bat: Likes large, bell-shaped flowers.

Lemur: likes fruit-scented flowers with lots of nectar.

Magnolia flowers have a bowl-like shape.

Traveler's Palm flowers have large amounts of nectar.

Spearmint has tiny flowers.

Banana flowers are very large.

Heath is a low growing shrub that has bright flowers.

Magnolia flowers have a bowl-like shape.

Traveler's Palm flowers have large amounts of nectar.

Spearmint has tiny flowers.

Banana flowers are very large.

Heath is a low growing shrub that has bright flowers.