When we think about the food system, a few of the more common jobs come to mind such as farmers and chefs. But there are actually hundreds of careers that are connected to food. As you explore the possibilities of working in the world of food, we invite you to record your notes, ideas, and inspirations!

CAREER: __________________________________________________________________________

- What about this career makes you excited?
- What skills are needed to be successful in this career?

- What type of learning experiences will help you become successful on this pathway?
- How can someone in this career make healthy, real food a part of everyone’s lives?

---

Other important ideas to remember!

1.______________________________________________________________________________________________
2.______________________________________________________________________________________________
3.______________________________________________________________________________________________
4.______________________________________________________________________________________________