

The yellow rose was worn by Suffragists and by legislators favoring the 19th Amendment. It became law when Tennessee, the last hope for its passage, ratified the amendment by one vote.
Art by Mary Gramins & Graphics by Matt Weiss

The yellow rose was worn by Suffragists and by legislators favoring the 19th Amendment. It became law when Tennessee, the last hope for its passage, ratified the amendment by one vote.
Art by Mary Gramins & Graphics by Matt Weiss

The yellow rose was worn by Suffragists and by legislators favoring the 19th Amendment. It became law when Tennessee, the last hope for its passage, ratified the amendment by one vote.
Art by Mary Gramins & Graphics by Matt Weiss

The yellow rose was worn by Suffragists and by legislators favoring the 19th Amendment. It became law when Tennessee, the last hope for its passage, ratified the amendment by one vote.
Art by Mary Gramins & Graphics by Matt Weiss