* "Eskimo" word list

From Bruce Nevin (bnevin@cisco.com) 10 Oct 2002:

I am sure someone here can easily identify this language.

My grandfather, Capt. Ellsworth Luce West, after the end of his career as a whaling captain, was skipper of the Corwin (sister ship to the Bear) in 1900 and from 1902 to 1910, taking passengers, mail, and freight between Seattle and Nome, Alaska via Unalaska and wayports. Among the many stories he told, he taught my mother and her younger siblings how to count "in Eskimo." Below are the numbers as my mother remembers them, a quinary system with number names for ten and twenty, plus one phrase useful for trading.

* Anthropologist familiar with Trique sought

From Lois Feuerle (Lois.M.FEUERLE@ojd.state.or.us) 15 Oct 2002:

I manage the Court Interpreter Program for the Oregon Judicial Department. We have had a request from Oregon's Indigent Defense Unit. They are seeking a cultural anthropologist who specializes in Trique culture. The dialect of interest is San Juan Copala.

They specifically requested a cultural anthropologist rather than an interpreter, but would like this cultural anthropologist to be familiar with the Trique spoken in San Juan Copala.

The trial is supposed to begin November 12, and the anthropologist would be (and get paid as) an expert witness. How much that would be would have to be worked out between the anthropologist and Indigent Defense. (They are in a different branch of the Judicial Department than I am, and have their own budget. My unit deals only with locating, training, testing and scheduling interpreters, not with expert witnesses.)

If readers of the SSILA Bulletin know anyone who has these qualifications, or could guide me to other pertinent listserves, professional groups etc., who could be helpful, I would be very grateful to hear from them.

* Translation of a name

From charlotte benway (guffus2469@yahoo.com) 1 Oct 2002:

I have been referred to your organization regarding the translation of a name, "Pawakai." I found it in my family tree and have been unable to find out what language it is or where it originated from. My family seems to think the woman who had this name was Native American. Any help you could give me would be greatly appreciated.

* Phonologist at U of Kansas

From R. Rankin (rankin@ku.edu) 8 Oct 2002:

The Department of Linguistics at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, anticipates making a tenure-track faculty appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 18, 2003. The position is contingent upon budgetary approval.

A Ph.D. in Linguistics with a specialization in phonology is required, with a strong record of research in phonology. Evidence of teaching experience is preferred.

The teaching load is two courses per semester, including LING 312/712 ("Phonology I"), LING 714 ("Phonology II"), seminar in phonology, and additional courses as appropriate to the candidate's qualifications. The candidate will be expected to develop syllabi; prepare lectures; develop, administer, and grade exams; and hold regular office hours.

Other duties include: Carrying out research within area of specialization; working with graduate and undergraduate student committees (thesis and dissertation) as appropriate; advising graduate and undergraduate students as appropriate; participating in Department, College and University committees; and participating in Linguistics Department functions, such as the Linguistics Colloquy.

A complete Application will include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, sample publications, and three letters of reference. Please include phone number and e-mail address. Send to:

Linguistics Search Committee
Department of Linguistics
University of Kansas
1541 Lilac Lane
Lawrence, KS 66044-3177

First priority will be given to applications received by December 1, 2002.

The University of Kansas is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University encourages applications from underrepresented group members. Federal and state legislation prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, sex, age, disability, and veteran status. 179.3 Upcoming Meetings

* Stabilizing Indigenous Languages (Ho-Chunk Nation, June 24-28, 2003)

From HoCak Language Division (hocak@mwt.net) 26 Sep 2002:

Tentative plans are to have the 10th Annual Stabilizing Indigenous Languages Conference at the Ho-Chunk Nation's Convention Center in Baraboo, Wisconsin, on June 24 thru 28, 2003. The conference will be sponsored by the Ho-Chunk Nation Education Department and its HoCak Wazija Haci Language Division. To be put on an e-mail list to receive information updates on this conference send your e-mail address to <jon.Reyhner@nau.edu>.
From Sydney Lamb (lamb@RICE.EDU) 1 Oct 2002:

The Linguistic Association of Canada and the United States (Association de Linguistique du Canada et des États-Unis) announces the 30th LACUS Forum, to be held at the University of Victoria, Victoria, BC, from July 29 to August 2, 2003. The conference theme is "Language, Thought, and Reality." The featured speakers will be:

Penny Lee, University of Western Australia
Gary Libben, University of Alberta
Karen Rice, University of Toronto
Angela Della Volpe, CSU Fullerton, Presidential Address

While papers relating to the conference theme are especially invited, abstracts are welcomed on all subjects in linguistics and interdisciplinary areas involving language. The following list of topics relating to the theme is intended as suggestive rather than comprehensive:

1. Linguistic relativity, including responses to recent work on linguistic relativity -- for example, Penny Lee, The Whorf Theory Complex (Benjamins 1996); Gumperz and Levinson, Rethinking Linguistic Relativity (Cambridge, 1996); Puetz and Verspoor, Explorations in Linguistic Relativity (Benjamins, 2000)

2. Language and thought in indigenous societies

3. Neurocognitive perspectives on thought

4. Metaphor

5. Language and Culture

6. Translation

7. Semantic change

8. The real-world use of language

9. Real-world evidence in linguistics, including experimental phonetics, psychoacoustics, and psycholinguistics

The due date for abstracts is 15 January 2003. Proposals for panels or special sessions or workshops or tutorials are also welcome. For further information contact David Bennett <db@soas.ac.uk> or Syd Lamb (lamb@rice.edu) right away.
