194.0 SSILA Business

* Call for papers: SSILA Annual Meeting (Boston, Jan. 8-11 2004)

SSILA's 2003-04 Annual Meeting will be held in conjunction with the 78th Annual Meeting of the Linguistic Society of America, from Thursday January 8 through Sunday January 11, 2004. In addition to SSILA, the LSA meeting will also host the annual meetings of the American Dialect Society, the North American Association for the History of the Language Sciences (NAAHoLS), and the Society for Pidgin and Creole Linguistics. SSILA registrants will be welcome to attend the sessions of any of these groups, and vice versa.

The meeting will be held at the Sheraton Boston Hotel (39 Dalton St.), where a block of rooms has been reserved for meeting participants. A Reservation Request Form will be mailed to members with the July Newsletter. Reservation information can also be found in the June 2003 LSA Bulletin and at the LSA website (www.lsadc.org).

Submission of papers

Proposals for papers are invited from all members of SSILA in good standing (i.e., whose dues are paid through 2003). Proposals from non-members or from members in arrears will be reviewed only if accompanied by a membership application and/or 2003 dues ($16). Papers may be co-authored with non-members, but the senior author (and the author delivering the paper, if different from the senior author) must be a member of SSILA.

Submissions must include an abstract of up to 250 words (150 or fewer will often suffice) for publication in the LSA Meeting Handbook. If the paper is to be delivered in Spanish, the abstract should be in Spanish but accompanied by an English translation. Submission by e-mail is encouraged, but if your abstract employs special fonts you should submit a hard copy of your abstract by mail.

In addition to the abstract, proposals must include:

* Names of author(s) (if joint authorship, list the senior author first and also indicate who will deliver the paper)
* Affiliation(s) (for the Meeting Handbook)
* Mailing address (in Fall 2003)
* Telephone/fax numbers
* E-mail address
* Exact title of paper
* Three key words (identifying the subject of the paper)

All proposals must reach SSILA no later than Friday September 5, 2003. Proposals for SSILA papers must not be sent to the LSA. SSILA organizes its sessions separately from LSA sessions. Mail (or e-mail) all materials to:

2003 Program Committee, SSILA
P.O. Box 555
Arcata, California 95518-0555, USA
ssila@ssila.org

Papers are normally scheduled in 20-minute time slots (15 minutes for presentation, 5 minutes for discussion). Papers may be delivered in either English or Spanish.

All meeting rooms will be equipped with microphones, an overhead projector, and a screen. Any additional equipment must be provided by the participant, in particular LCD projectors for PowerPoint presentations.

Preregistration

In order to be included on the SSILA program, participants must preregister for the meeting. This need not be done at the time the paper is submitted, but must be done before October 15, 2003. The SSILA preregistration fee is $80 for regular members, $65 for retired members, and $35 for student or unemployed members. This amount includes the LSA advance registration fee plus an SSILA registration fee of $10 ($5 for students and others with reduced rates) to cover costs that SSILA must pay separately. If you preregister through SSILA, no further meeting registration fee is required, even if you are giving a paper in an LSA session. If you choose to preregister through LSA, payment of the $10 (or $5) SSILA fee directly to SSILA will be required before October 15, or your paper may be dropped from the SSILA program.

Special sessions

Three special thematic sessions have been proposed:

1. Markedness and the Lexical Classification of Property Concepts in the Languages of Mesoamerica. Organizer: David Beck, University of Alberta. (This session already has a full panel of participants.)

2. Zapotec Languages. Organizer: George Aaron Broadwell, SUNY Albany (g.broadwell@albany.edu). -- "Zapotec languages are spoken by as many as 250,000 people in Oaxaca, Mexico, and by large numbers of immigrants to other parts of Mexico and to the United States. Estimates by the Summer Institute of Linguistics suggest that there may be as many as fifty-four distinct languages in this family, most of which are endangered and understudied. The papers in this session explore the phonological and syntactic properties of seven of these languages. -- We would certainly have no objection to including papers on other Otomanguean or Oaxacan languages in this session, if there are any additional volunteered papers (e.g. on Mixtec, Chatino, Chontal, Otomi, etc.)."

3. The Expression of Path. Organizer: Colette Grinevald, ISH, U-Lyon, France (cgrineva@univ-lyon2.fr). -- "This is a session on the typological diversity of the expression of path in Amerindian languages, considering specifically the expression of the origin and the end point of a trajectory, and the grammatical means to express them (adpositions, relational nouns, preverbs and other verbal affixes, directionals, etc.) in relation to the lexical meaning of verbs. Included is a discussion of the elements of the path/trajectory categorized by the language, beyond those two points, like directionality and view point (or perspective). And following Slobin's work, there may also be a comparison of the expression of path of motion and path of vision if the language does both."

Members who wish their papers considered for inclusion in session 2 or 3 (session 1 has a full panel of participants) should contact the organizer, in addition to submitting a proposal to the SSILA Program Committee.

Participation guidelines

SSILA generally follows LSA guidelines regarding participation in the meeting: Any member may submit one paper proposal as sole author and a second as co-author, or two as co-author of each. In addition, he or she may also be the organizer of a symposium or workshop.

Presentation of a paper (or other participation) in an SSILA session has no effect on an individual's eligibility to present a paper in an LSA session, or in a session of another organization meeting jointly with the LSA. Submissions will be separately reviewed by the various program committees. However, to minimize overlap with the SSILA sessions, the LSA program committee usually recommends that Field Reports/Endangered Languages papers on American Indian languages be submitted to SSILA rather than the LSA.

Program Committee
-----------------
All submissions will be reviewed, and other decisions made regarding the structure of the meeting, by the 2003 SSILA Program Committee, a subcommittee of the 2003 Executive Committee, chaired by the President, Pamela Munro.

* Nominations solicited for the 2003 Ken Hale Prize

From Akira Yamamoto (akira@ku.edu) 14 Jun 2003:

Readers of the SSILA Bulletin are reminded that nominations for the 2003 Ken Hale Prize are being accepted by the Prize Committee.

The Ken Hale Prize is presented annually by SSILA in recognition of outstanding community language work and a deep commitment to the documentation, maintenance, promotion, and revitalization of indigenous languages in the Americas. The Prize (which carries a small monetary stipend and is not to be confused with the LSA's Kenneth Hale Book Award) honors those who strive to link the academic and community spheres in the spirit of Ken Hale. Recipients can range from native speakers and community-based linguists to academic specialists, and may include groups or organizations. No academic affiliation is necessary.

A nomination for the Prize may be made by anyone. It should include a letter of nomination stating the current position and affiliation, if appropriate, of the nominee or nominated group (tribal, organizational, or academic), and a summary of the nominee's background and contributions to specific language communities. The nominator should also submit a brief portfolio of supporting materials, such as the nominee's curriculum vitae, a description of completed or ongoing activities of the nominee, letters from those who are most familiar with the work of the nominee (e.g. language program staff, community people, academic associates), and any other material that would support the nomination. Submission of manuscript-length work is discouraged.

The 2003 Ken Hale Prize will be announced at the next annual meeting of SSILA, in Boston, January 2004. The members of this year's selection committee are Akira Yamamoto, Sara Trechter and Colette Grinevald.

The deadline for receipt of nominations is September 30, 2003.

The nomination packet should be sent to:

Akira Y. Yamamoto
Department of Anthropology
Nominations will be kept active for two subsequent years for prize consideration, and nominators are invited to update their nomination packets if so desired. Inquiries can be e-mailed to Akira Yamamoto at <akira@ku.edu>.

* Transmission problems solved (we hope)

We think we have corrected the technical problem that has been causing some subscribers to receive the Bulletin in truncated form, or with strange character substitutions. We would appreciate hearing from subscribers who continue to have these problems, or who experience new difficulties in receiving the Bulletin.

194.1 Correspondence

* Bear, elk, deer = Ursa major, other stars?

From Alla Lushnikova (allaruta@mtu-net.ru) 21 Jun 2003:

I am a research linguist at the Russian Academy of Sciences in Moscow, where I specialize in Uralic and Iranian languages. My present interest is calendar systems and the designations of stars and constellations (Ursa Major in particular). I recently published a paper on "Ursa Major: from Elk to Bear" (Studies in the History of Astronomy 28, Institute for the History of Natural Sciences and Technology, Moscow, 2003 [in Russian]) on the basis of Uralic, Slavic, Indo-Iranian, Tungus, and Paleo-Siberian ethnolinguistic material. Some further points, however, remain unclear.

In particular, I would very much like to know if there are bear and elk/deer (or other horned animal) designations for Ursa Major or other stars and constellations, or for seasons or months, in any North American Indian language. And if so, have any papers been written on this? I would be very grateful if readers of the SSILA Bulletin could help me locate this information.

194.2 Positions Open
From Dan Everett (dan.everett@MAN.AC.UK) 27 Jun 2003:

(I am forwarding to you an announcement recently posted to the LinguistList, concerning a position at the University of Manchester. The position described below is a permanent appointment. There is also a one-year sabbatical-replacement position advertised. For further information on either of these positions, please contact either Martin Barry or Nigel Vincent. --DE)

The University of Manchester invites applications for the post of Lecturer in Linguistics, which is tenable from 1 September 2003. Applications will be considered from those specializing in any branch of linguistics; preference may be given to candidates whose research relates to one or more of the following: language endangerment, field linguistics, language change. Salary will be on the Lecturer A scale, £22,191 to £25,451 p.a.

Candidates should have:

A. (Essential)
   1. outstanding research potential and the proven capacity to contribute to a department of international research excellence.
   2. a robust research plan up to and beyond the next RAE (Research Assessment Exercise).
   3. a completed (or about to be completed) PhD in any area of linguistics.
   4. a strong commitment to high-quality, research-led teaching.

B. (Desirable)
   1. a research record and plans which relate to one or more of the following: language endangerment, field linguistics or language change.
   2. excellent presentational skills necessary for lectures, seminars and small group teaching.
   3. good organizational skills appropriate to departmental teaching and administration.
   4. good IT skills.

The appointed candidate will be expected to contribute to research and teaching (both undergraduate and postgraduate) in the Department of Linguistics, and to undertake such administrative, pastoral, and other duties as may be assigned.

Applications should be returned by Monday 14th July 2003.

Applications should quote reference number 506/03 and contain the names of three referees. Those invited for interview will be asked to give a presentation of their work to members of the Department.

Interested applicants are invited to make informal contact with either Prof Nigel Vincent (nigel.vincent@man.ac.uk, +44-(0)161-275-3194/ 3187) or the Chair of the Department, Martin Barry (martin.barry@man.ac.uk, +44 (0)61-275-3250/ 3187).

* Chumash and Coast Miwok sites move
The sites maintained by Richard Applegate for the Chumash and Coast Miwok languages have moved to new addresses:

The Chumash site has moved to: http://www.chumashlanguage.com

The Coast Miwok site has moved to: http://www.jamatra.com/cm

Both sites show best in Internet Explorer. Older versions of Netscape may have trouble displaying them properly.

The Chumash site -- an Inezeño Chumash Language Tutorial -- is now being maintained by Applegate in collaboration with the Santa Ynez Band of Chumash Indians. Pages include: Information on the Chumash Languages (including some details on comparative Chumash linguistics), Pronunciation Guide (with soundclips), Lessons, Illustrated Vocabulary, Inezeño-English Dictionary (a sample -- entries in M -- from a complete dictionary), and a Glossary of Technical Terms. New lessons and other pages are being added.
The Coast Miwok site is similar in structure to the Chumash site, but is still largely under construction. It focuses on the Bodega dialect.
