Join in on the camaraderie for some non-competitive writing and friendly feedback on your work. Learn from yourself; from your own potential. Although the works produced in this workshop tend to focus on memoir, you may write in whatever genre you choose (i.e. poetry, short story, etc). All levels of writing are welcome. If you are interested, please come to the first session to enroll. We also ask that you attend each session, if possible.

4th Friday Health and Wellness Seminars are back!
Join us for a presentation on Advanced Directives for LGBTQ Older Adults

Friday, January 24, 3-4:30PM
Bob Ross LGBT Senior Center at 65 Laguna St. No RSVP required.

As difficult as it can be, most of us will get sick and all of us will die. The good news is that each of those events can be made more personal and less fearsome (and the planning of them can be fun and funny!!) if we make clear what we do and don’t want as we age in advance. There are many types of advance directives and it’s important to know which ones you need. Whether you are a solo ager or have a partner or close family, different issues arise in deciding who to pick as the person or people who will make medical decisions for you if you’re unable to do so for yourself. Join us for this interactive session where you may just learn some interesting things about yourself and your future!

This information will presented by Dr. Louise Aronson of UCSF’s Integrative Aging Clinic. She and her colleague will cover both the medical and legal aspects of this important topic.
