

HUNGER FREE COMMUNITIES

Bastrop County, Texas

Who we are.

Hunger Free Communities (HFC) - Bastrop County Coalition is an alliance of community members working to educate, coordinate, and collaborate to make the most of resources for those impacted by hunger in Bastrop county. The vision is to end hunger in Bastrop County.

This is a collective owned by the community; anyone and everyone is invited. The coalition is guided and supported by the Texas Hunger Initiative - Austin regional office and their Hunger Free Communities model.

Why we are here.

The current project of this group is to complete a community needs assessment around hunger, food retail environment, and food resources in Bastrop County.

We are hosting "Listening Sessions" across the county to hear directly from people who have lived with poverty and hunger.

We are assessing food retail and neighborhood food environment to help show the real picture of food access on the ground, instead of just looking at facts and figures.

We are mapping relevant data and resources to frame the needs and assets that exist in the food environment.

If you have questions about our group, please contact Katie Nye, Regional Director for the Texas Hunger Initiative at Katie_Nye@baylor.edu or 512-628-0317
