Concurrent Session #1 Descriptions

How the ADA Applies to Job Seekers with Additional and Recovery

Barry Whaley

In this session, we'll explore how the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) applies to jobseekers throughout the employment process, starting with the application and continuing on the job. The session will cover the rights of both jobseekers and their eventual employers.

Using Discovery to Ensure Person – Centered Services

Katie Wolf Whaley

We all want to provide person-centered services but how do this in the real world? This session will engage us to think about what “discovery” means in practical ways. We will actively strategize ways to get to know people and to connect who they are with potential types of work.

Winning Employment Strategies: Phone a Friend for Technical Assistance

Virginia Chiaccira, Joe Land, and Kristy Russell

LIFE as employment specialists and program managers is challenging. Every day we are dealt new CARDS that can present unique TROUBLEs in our OPERATIONs. Policy changes, paperwork, and CARF monitoring can cause AGGRAVATION. Sometimes we don't have a CLUE which strategies will be most effective. As part of Level-Up Indiana's Coaching Network, our panel of MASTERMINDs will share the top 20 QUESTIONs they are asked during peer training. We will share WINNING strategies from billing, hiring, staff training, to discovery, job development, accommodations and job retention. Take a RISK and join us!

Concurrent Session #2 Descriptions

Trauma Informed Support and Employment

Karen Harvey

This session will explore the aspects of trauma that directly affect many individuals with disabilities. It will talk about the effects of that trauma and key ingredients for healing. Finally, there will be an emphasis on post traumatic recovery and growth through employment and employment supports.

Discovery Debunked: Making the Discovery Process Work for You

Kara Critchlow

This session will focus on several unique and multi-faceted approaches to Discovery service delivery with an emphasis on “Informal Discovery” – activities not formally arranged with an employer and how they can often be more informative and much easier to access - and how to maximize results achieved through the Discovery process overall.

ABLE Accounts: Overcoming the Benefits Cliff

Concurrent Session #3 Descriptions

In Our Own Voices

NAMI Indiana: Steve and Linh

This presentation will change attitudes, assumptions, and ideas about people with mental health conditions. We will share a personal perspective of mental health conditions, as leaders with lived experience talk openly about what it's like to have a mental health condition. Attendees will hear open and honest perspectives on a highly misunderstood topic. You will also have a chance to ask leaders questions, allowing for a deeper understanding of mental health conditions and dispelling stereotypes and misconceptions.

Building a Collaborative Relationship With VRC

Denise Smith, Steve Upchurch, Martina Tovar, Denise Loaring

This panel presentation will provide session participants with practical strategies for building strong, collaborative relationships with VR through regular, effective communication. Through active partnership, VR and Employment Services providers can provide coordinated services and supports to help our mutual customers achieve their employment goals. This session will be interactive and allow for questions and feedback from participants.

Assistive Technology: The Missing Link to Success in the Workplace

Josh Anderson

This presentation will begin with an overview of assistive technology and how it can be implemented to accommodate individuals on the job with a myriad of needs. The evaluation process will be discussed with important considerations necessary for successful assistive technology interventions. Attendees will then be shown free apps, programs and resources that they can utilize with their individuals. Different accommodation scenarios will be presented and discussed with the audience so that they can brainstorm different accommodations in varied work settings. All attendees will be challenged to work together to solve the complex needs of individuals with disabilities on their jobs.

Concurrent Session #4 Descriptions

Transportation and Mobility Management Network PART 1

Judy Shanley

This session will focus on strategies to build the capacity of interdisciplinary teams, including vocational rehabilitation professionals, to identify and implement mobility services for youth. The session will include a focus on a pilot program, funded by the National Science Foundation, that educates youth about sidewalk accessibility, teaches youth advocacy skills to communicate this information to community planners, and use this knowledge to identify career opportunities. Attendees will acquire tangible Concurrent content that can be replicated within their own programs.

Acquired Brain Injury 101

Wendy Waldman

Acquired Brain injury (ABI) is a lifelong chronic condition that is frequently unrecognized and total incidence is unknown. The epidemiology of brain injury and common issues that happen after brain injury including cognitive, physical and emotional/behavioral effects will be discussed. We will also focus on strategies, accommodations and interventions specific to the most common challenges individuals with brain injury face, especially in the community and in the workforce. Participants will learn about appropriate access to supports, services and professionals that can minimize and treat complications and optimize function in these individuals. We will explore strategies for supporting individuals to assisting them to return to school, work and reintegrate back into their community.

Creative Business Development

Natalie Weisenbach, Kristy Russell, and Matt Edwards

Business development is often a challenge for many providers but crucial for job placement success. Finding creative ways to reach businesses can make the difference in building lasting relationships in your local community. Bosma Employment Services will present ways that we have been successful in reaching a larger audience and building stronger community partners through bimonthly virtual sessions, monthly podcasts, and an annual Reverse Job Fair.
