INSTITUTIONAL VIDEOS

ANTI-HARASSMENT 101 & TRAIN-THE-TRAINER PACKAGES VIA ZOOM

Institutional Videos
Justice for My Sister offers the service of creating video content to highlight the work your organization does. We can create a recap of your event, show the impact of a program, develop educational videos for your curriculum, or help you to tell your organization’s birth story. We provide custom quotes and tailored packages to meet your needs, upon request.

Anti-Harassment Training 101 & Train-the Trainer Modules
Justice for My Sister provides a wide spectrum of professional development trainings for your staff. Are you interested in a holistic approach to educating your staff about cultivating a work environment based on the principles of gender equality, inclusion, diversity, and healthy communication? Our Anti-Harassment Training and Train-the-Trainer options include education around LGBTQIA+ rights, immigrant rights, social justice, anti-racist practices, and gender equality from the perspective of women, femmes, and nonbinary folks of color who are survivors of gender-based violence and harassment. We’ve been doing this work for over a decade in an inviting and participatory way, and have lent our services to Friends of the Family, PBS SoCal, the City of Los Angeles, East Los Angeles Women’s Center, Netflix, and others.

We believe that we all have insights and blindspots. We create a safe space for learning, so that all trainees may feel ownership of the material and a personal commitment to being advocates for their team members and clients. Even when we’re from different walks of life or have different roles in an organization, we can create trusting teams where those whose voices have been diminished in other contexts can advocate for themselves, and be heard.

We offer a variety of training packages. We can design a comprehensive training series for your organization, or a one-off workshop, depending on your needs.
Anti-Harassment Training Topics:

1. Establishing Anti-Harassment Policies and Practices
2. Trauma-Informed Facilitation
3. LGBTQAI+ Sensitivity & Allyship
4. Addressing White Privilege, Colorism and Racial Justice
5. Gender Equality for Women and Gender-Nonconforming People
6. Engaging Migrant and Undocumented Communities with Cultural Relevance
7. Cultivating Black and Brown Unity
8. Grappling with Power Dynamics to Lead with Ethics
9. Transformative Justice: Towards a New Model of Community Accountability and an End to Punitive Reform
10. Ending Victim-Blaming: Best Practices in Supporting Survivors of Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence

Our Train-the-Trainer Modules are designed so that trainees may replicate the training with other staff or clients.

Train-the-Trainer Modules:

- MODULE 1: Patriarchy as a Source of Violence against Women
- MODULE 2: Redefining Masculinity: Men’s Role in Gender Equality
- MODULE 3: Community Education and Organizing Techniques

We look forward to learning about your organization’s needs, and how we can best serve you.

Justice for My Sister Collective (JFMS) was founded in 2011 as part of an international campaign throughout Latin America to break the silence about sexual assault and domestic violence. Led by women of color who are survivors of gender-based violence with 57+ cumulative years of education, curriculum-building and organizing, JFMS is a nonprofit that promotes gender equity and racial justice through a trauma-informed curriculum. JFMS provides training in professional development, filmmaking, and the arts as a means to heal.
