

Michael Chadwick

Michael Chadwick is one of the nation's top sprinters. He is a fun, loving, and charismatic person who would be the first to tell you that his identity is much more than his athletic career as a swimmer. Michael loves the platform that swimming has given him in order to reach other people and make an impact on their lives.

Career Highlights:

- 2019 World Championships, Gold Medalist, 400 Free Relay
- 2019 Pan Am Championships, 2x Gold Medalist, 1x Silver Medalist, 2x Bronze Medalist
- Member of LA Current ISL Team

"How to Overcome the Fear of Failure"

Michael Chadwick grew up in Charlotte, North Carolina in a family of basketball players. His father played at UNC under legendary coach Dean Smith, and his brother played Division I at Valparaiso. Instead of following suite with basketball, Michael took up swimming, and began training with SwimMac.

Unlike many elite athletes, Chadwick was a late bloomer, not seeing much success in the sport until the end of his Junior year in high school. Michael attended the University of Mizzou, where he became the most decorated swimmer in the program's history. Chadwick led the team to its first two top-10 finishes, all while ending his collegiate career with 22 All-American honors.

He has established himself as one of the nation's top sprinters and has maintained a spot on the US National Team consecutively since 2016. Michael, and his wife, Cassi, are currently living in San Diego, CA. He is training with Team Elite Aquatics for the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games.
