Public meeting featuring presenters from UW’s Burke Museum about its renewal and the T-Rex  Wed., Jan. 25, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School. See article on this page

Washington’s oldest museum is becoming Washington’s newest museum…with a Tyrannosaurus Rex! Burke Museum paleontology staff will share how the new T. rex specimen connects to the vision for the New Burke: a flagship facility that will turn the idea of a museum inside-out, inviting visitors to be part of the daily discoveries generated at the Burke.

The Eastlake Community Council is proud to host a free presentation by UW’s Burke Museum staff who will talk about the museum’s deep Seattle roots and plans for the future on Wed, Jan. 25, 7 p.m. at TOPS Seward School, 2500 Franklin Ave. E.

Tyrannosaurus rex was a fearsome carnivorous dinosaur that lived about 66 million years ago. The UW’s “Tufts-Love Rex” is named after researchers Jason Love and Luke Tufts, who found the gigantic fossil jaw protruding from a hillside in Montana. The Burke’s Tufts-Love Rex was about 15 years old at its death (middle age for a T-Rex) and is one of the largest known fossilized T-Rex.

Public meeting with open mike to dream about and discuss neighborhood projects, needs, and priorities  Tues., Feb. 7, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School. See article on p. 10

Public meeting featuring King County Assessor John Wilson  Tuesday, March 7, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School, 2500 Franklin Ave. E. See article, p. 4

Public meeting and slide talk featuring historian Paul Dorpat about Eastlake’s and Seattle’s past  Tuesday, March 22, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School, 2500 Franklin Ave. E. See article, p. 14
Donations Needed To Install Eastlake Welcome Signs

Those who speed through Eastlake might slow down if they thought of us as a community. If sufficient funds can be raised, that reminder will soon come from welcome signs at major streets entering the neighborhood. Many other neighborhoods already have them.

After combing through hundreds of public suggestions (one was “welcome through Eastlake!”), the Eastlake Community Council board engaged designer Sean Donovan and, with some inspired input from the late Susan Kaufman of Serafina, chose the beautiful blue and green design seen here.

The Seattle Department of Transportation charges a little over $1000 per sign for fabrication, placement, and long-term maintenance. Checks made out to ECC can be sent to 117 E. Louisa St. #1, Seattle, WA 98102, or use your credit or debit card at http://eastlakeseattle.org. And please contact us at 206-322-5463 or info@eastlakeseattle.org if you’d first like to discuss the possibility of a donation.

FIRST TIME HOMEBUYER

Buying your first home is a significant milestone and can be both exciting and complex at the same time. It’s difficult to know exactly what to expect because each loan experience is unique. However, if you are well prepared and do your homework upfront, with the help of a seasoned mortgage professional, you can avoid some headaches down the road.

HOW MUCH CAN YOU AFFORD?
The best way to determine a reasonable price range for your home is during the pre-approval process. Doing this as early as possible can identify potential hurdles and help you focus on homes that are realistic for you.

HOW DOES THE PROCESS WORK?
The process can vary for many reasons, including property choice and loan product. Generally, purchases include: pre-approval, home search, formal loan application and product selection, appraisal and home inspection, underwriter’s review, final loan approval, loan document signing, funding and escrow closing, confirmation of recording, and finally moving into your new home!

The Eastlake Community council welcomes you and featured speaker King County Assessor John Wilson to a public meeting Tuesday, March 7, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School, 2500 Franklin Ave. E.

Eastlake properties were hit hard this year by assessed value increases of as high as 60 percent. If you have experienced such an increase (or if you didn’t) please tell your story in an e-mail to the Eastlake Community Council, info@eastlakeseattle.org. Suggestions are also welcome for expansion of the ECC web page on property taxes, http://eastlakeseattle.org/?page=taxes.

JOIN US in Celebrating 24 Years in YOUR Neighborhood!
The Eastlake Community Council is again sponsoring a holiday drive for the University District Food Bank. Collection barrels will be available Dec. 1-22 at Lake Union Mail (117 E. Louisa St.) and Pete’s Super (58 E. Lynn St.). Donations are also being collected on board the Dec. 23 Eastlake Holiday Cruise.

Food items needed include canned fruit; canned chicken, tuna, and salmon; soups and stews; peanut or other nut butters; shelf stable milk and milk alternatives; cereal; and cooking oil; and baby formula. Also needed are toiletries (bar soap, deodorant, toothbrushes, toothpaste, shampoo, toilet paper, safety razors, shaving cream, etc.), diapers (especially for older babies), reusable shopping bags, and pet food.

For 30 years, the Food Bank has provided free and nutritious food to anyone who is hungry and resides in Eastlake’s zip code, 98102, or in the other northeast Seattle zip codes. Its recently opened new facility near the corner of NE Roosevelt Way and 50th St. NE was made possible in part by funds donated from the Eastlake neighborhood.

Funds are still needed. For on-line donations: www.udistrictfoodbank.org. Checks made out to the University District Food Bank may be mailed or dropped off to ECC c/o Lake Union Mail, 117 E. Louisa St. #1, Seattle, WA 98102-3278. For questions: info@eastlakeseattle.org. Thanks for helping the less fortunate!
Where was this tiny mansion?

Paul Dorpat and Jean Sherrard, fiddlers with the weekly Seattle Now and Then feature in the Sunday Times Pacific NW Magazine, will spend an hour or so navigating with us on March 22 along the shores of Lake Union - not by boat but by ephemera (look it up). Please come with questions to stump them. They love that. See page 14
ECC hosts public forum on homelessness Jan. 10

Please join us Tuesday, Jan. 10, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School, 2500 Franklin Ave. E. for a public forum on homelessness. Among the speakers is law professor Sara Rankin, who is director of the Seattle University’s Homeless Rights Advocacy Project.

People who are homeless in Eastlake are as much a part of our community as anyone with a home. In recent years, more homeless people are noticeable in or near the Eastlake neighborhood -- in part because of the economic downturn and in part because of efforts to discourage them downtown and in the South Lake Union area.

According to the City, about half of the families served by Seattle shelters had permanent addresses outside Seattle. Yet other cities and the county have not stepped up to offer their share of shelter beds and social services. The City is working to convince cities, King County, and the state to pay their fair share for the homeless who, because of Seattle’s generosity, come to us from other jurisdictions.

What can the Eastlake community do to help those who are homeless and to discourage illegal or disruptive behavior engaged in by a fraction of the homeless population? What other issues and opportunities are posed by homelessness in Eastlake? Please join us at the Jan. 10 forum to discuss these and other questions. And whether or not you can come, please send ECC your ideas and questions, to info@eastlakeseattle.org.

Feb. 7 public meeting with open mike to dream about and discuss Eastlake priorities

In this popular format, all comers can have some time at the “open mike” to discuss their preferred neighborhood needs/issues/questions, or react to others. Please speak out, or hear your neighbors out, on [your topic, or theirs, here]. The meeting is Tues., Feb. 7, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School, 2500 Franklin Ave. E. Can’t come? Please send your questions and thoughts to ECC at info@eastlakeseattle.org.

How to contact the Mayor and City Council

Whatever your views on the various issues addressed in this newsletter, it is important to exercise your rights as a citizen by communicating with our elected Mayor and City Councilmembers. And please send a copy to the Eastlake Community Council at info@eastlakeseattle.org. Doing so alerts ECC to your concerns so we can keep you informed and involved about follow-up.

Mayor Ed Murray does not accept comments from the public by e-mail, requiring electronic communication via a web site, http://www.seattle.gov/mayor/get-involved/contact-the-mayor; the system will reject any message of more than about 500 words.

You can also reach Mayor Murray by letter at 600 Fourth Avenue, 7th floor, P.O. Box 94749, Seattle, WA 98124-4749, or by fax at 206-684-5360.

Be sure to communicate with the nine City Councilmembers individually, rather than by a group e-mail or letter (which is far less likely to be heeded). The City Council e-mail addresses are as follows:

sally.bagshaw@seattle.gov
tim.burgess@seattle.gov
rob.johnson@seattle.gov
bruce.harrell@seattle.gov
lisa.herbold@seattle.gov
mike.obrien@seattle.gov
lorena.gonzalez@seattle.gov
debora.juarez@seattle.gov
kshama.sawant@seattle.gov

You can also reach the City Councilmembers by letter at 600 Fourth Avenue, 2nd floor, P.O. Box 34025, Seattle, WA 98124-4025, or by fax at 206-684-8587.

Dec. 23 Eastlake Cruise amid grand finale of “Christmas ships”

The Eastlake Community Council and Champagne Cruises welcome those who live or work in Eastlake (and their invited guests) to the Friday, Dec. 23 holiday cruise on the historic icebreaker the Islander.

Boarding begins at 5:30 p.m. at 1611 Fairview Ave. E. We depart at 6:30 p.m. to join the “Christmas ships” as they gather for a 7:45 concert in Portage Bay and the 8:45 grand finale in Lake Union by Gas Works Park; return is about 9:30 p.m.

Price is $40 and includes a buffet dinner with main course, salad and dessert (vegetarian options available). No-host cash bar accepts credit/debit cards. Because the cruise would otherwise sell out quickly, tickets are limited to those who live or work in Eastlake, and their guests.

Kids up to 6 years old are free, but only if pre-registered by an e-mail with their names and ages to info@eastlakeseattle.org (so that the cruise company and Coast Guard have an accurate pre-count of all passengers, even those not needing tickets).

Purchase tickets on the Brown Paper Tickets web site, by phone at 1-800-838-3006 or over the counter at 220 Nickerson Street. Questions to info@eastlakeseattle.org or (206) 322-5463.

Secure Food Sources to Discourage Rats

If you’ve spent much time walking around Eastlake, there’s a good chance you’ve come across a rat. According to KUOW, rat sightings in Seattle are double the national average.

There are a number of reasons for the growth of Seattle’s rat population. First, a growing population has meant more trash and waste that serves as food for rats. Second, longer summers and milder winters have allowed more rats to survive through the cold and to start rapidly breeding in the spring. Third, there is ample room for nests in our parks, green spaces, and in older buildings or in abandoned lots slated for demolition. All of these factors are relevant for the rat population in Eastlake and contribute to why you may have seen rats in our neighborhood.

Rats are extremely well adapted to human environments. Rats can jump three feet high or four feet sideways, and roof rats, common in this area, can climb trees and vines or rough siding and walk along electric or phone lines. Rats can chew through many building materials and can even enter homes through sewer pipes (through which they can enter homes through the toilet, so keep the lid down when not in use!). Rats can damage homes, carry fleas and ticks, and harbor the deadly hantavirus.

For anyone concerned about rats, a first step is to inspect your home or business to make sure that it is secure against easy entry by rats or mice. In addition, it is extremely important to eliminate as many food sources as possible. Pet food shouldn’t be left outside. Garbage containers need tight-fitting lids, and should never be allowed to overflow onto the pavement (food establishments need to be especially vigilant on both scores). Bird seed should not be allowed to accumulate on the ground, and pet waste (yes, rats eat that too) must be properly disposed of.

A number of suggestions about how to help safeguard your home from rats in available from King County at http://www.kingcounty.gov/healthservices/health/ehs/rats.aspx. If you’re a renter, the Seattle housing code requires rental housing to be free of rodent infestation. More information for renters is available from the City of Seattle at http://www.seattle.gov/dpd/codesrules/commonquestions/pests/default.htm. If you find a rat in your toilet, contact King County’s Sewer Baiting program at 206-263-9566 or through their website at http://www.kingcounty.gov/healthservices/health/ehs/rats/SewerBaiting.aspx. If you notice a rat nest in the neighborhood, especially one related to illegal or improper dumping of garbage or waste, you can contact the Seattle Department of Construction & Inspections at 206-615-0808 or online at http://www.seattle.gov/dpd/codesrules/makeacomplaint/default.htm.

To read KUOW’s recent reporting about the rat problem in Seattle, you can go to their website at http://kuow.org/post/why-are-there-so-many-rats-seattle.

Lake Un-Union & Uncertainty: Anguish & Envy on Every Shore

History slide talk on Eastlake, Lake Union, and Seattle is March 22

The Eastlake Community Council welcomes historian/documentarian Paul Dorpat for an illustrated talk, “Lake Un-Union & Uncertainty: anguish and envy on every shore,” a guided tour of the past and changes in Eastlake, Lake Union, and Seattle - Wed., March 22, 7 p.m. at TOPS-Seward School, 2500 Franklin Ave. E.

Lake Union Watershed

Art, History, Sustainability
www.lakeunionwatershed.com
Dorpat’s slide talks, presented with empathy, passion, and humor, offer unforgettable insights, and are simply not be missed.

The author of many books, Dorpat also partners with Jean Sherrard on the long-running Seattle Times Pacific NW Magazine column with photos and commentary on the same place Seattle Now and Then. ECC welcomes your donation or loan of slides, photos and other mementoes—info@eastlakeseattle.org, 206-322-5463, c/o 117 E. Louisa St. #1, Seattle 98102-3278. Or just bring some to share that night. For example, we are looking for information about three early 20th century local organizations: Eastlake Improvement Club, Fairview Improvement Club, and North Broadway - Eastlake Improvement Club. If you know or can find anything about them, please contact ECC.

Also, ECC is seeking a volunteer to help edit into a book the wonderful article series on Lake Union aviation written by historian and Eastlake resident Paul Spitzer, who has offered to donate the proceeds to the neighborhood. If you are interested, please write to info@eastlakeseattle.org or call 206-322-5463.

The Eastlake Community Council thanks Champagne Cruises (1611 Fairview Ave. E., www.champagnecruise.com) for use of its historic icebreaker the Islander in the upcoming Dec. 23 Eastlake holiday cruise amidst the lighted ships finale cruise (see separate article and front-page calendar). Tickets are still available, and help raise funds for ECC projects; food bank donations will also be collected. … Landside, ECC also thanks Lake Union Mail and Pete’s Super for hosting donation barrels Dec. 1-22 for ECC’s annual drive for the University District Food Bank (see separate article).

And ECC thanks Eastlake Bar and Grill ((2947 Eastlake Avenue East, http://eastlakebarandgrill.com) for co-sponsoring our Oct. 20 celebration (which even included a free drink for each arrival!), and Pecado Bueno, Mammoth, Pomodoro, Sebi’s Bistro, 14 Carrot Café, Siam on Eastlake, Louisa’s, and Pazzo’s for previously hosting the event. At the popular twice-annual celebration, ECC purchases “small bites” for the public, the restaurant offers extended “happy hour” prices, and dining continues off the regular menu. ECC welcomes inquiries from other restaurants to host its upcoming celebrations.

Please help the Eastlake Community Council make and keep this neighborhood a wonderful place to live, work, or play. See our web site at http://eastlakeseattle.org for background and for opportunities to volunteer, to purchase a membership, or to donate needed cash or in-kind items.

Mention here does not imply endorsement by the ECC, writer (Chris Leman), or editor. To submit news items, for questions or to volunteer: info@eastlakeseattle.org or c/o ECC, 117 E. Louisa St. #1, Seattle 98102, or (206) 322-5463.
