Sketch It

Oide Creativity and Oide Technology Subjects, in collaboration with retired Technologies teacher and artist Jim O'Farrell, present a one-day elective workshop, open to post-primary teachers from all subject disciplines.

This workshop offers participants an opportunity to:

- explore techniques to enhance visual communication and observational skills
- investigate and experiment with shape and form using a range of sketching techniques
- reflect and collaborate to develop personal sketching efficacy.

Jim O'Farrell, a Limerick native and former Technologies teacher, is renowned for his art capturing the essence of the city and Irish landscapes. His work ranges from local commissions like 'Glimpses of Old Limerick' a series of pen and ink drawings of significant Limerick buildings to international projects in India. He has also designed a stained-glass window in St. Nicholas's Church, Limerick, and his work has been featured in the Sunday Independent.
