love grows and develops over time.”*

The Wedding House

Getting engaged is a really exciting time for you, your family and friends and everyone will be full of ideas and advice. However, remember it is your special day and always be true to yourself.

Start thinking about colours and themes. We have worked on lots of amazing, unique themes over the years.

When looking at colours, there are lots to think about! Think about what colour would suit your venue. Look at your wedding party, what colour would suit them? My biggest tip here is don't always think you have to stick to one colour throughout. Working with a palette of colours can work really well across venue decor, floral arrangements, favours and wedding outfits.

Remember to be realistic about what your venue needs. There are so many lovely venues in Worcester and the West Midlands and we love being a recommended supplier for so many of them.

Some venues provide decorations, which may be part of your package. Some venues need more decoration than others. Weddings can be expensive, try to make the most of the items you have booked.

You could reuse any flowers or decorations from your ceremony table and use these on your top table. If you have booked aisle decoration for your ceremony, such as lanterns and bay trees, these can be used around your venue.

Make an appointment at The Wedding House, where we can guide you on some fabulous ideas.
