

2026 CONFERENCE SUMMARY

The Shift Your Career Needs.

SUMMARY

The 2026 Women Of Project Management® Conference will take place in Charleston, South Carolina, bringing together women in project management from around the world.

This annually sold-out experience is more than a conference — it's a movement, and the only event of its kind created exclusively for women in project management who are ready to lead at the next level.

Over three transformative days, attendees will engage in keynotes, workshops, and leadership sessions that drive real career growth, business impact, and personal transformation.

It's a space to grow in leadership, expand your professional network, and return with actionable strategies that create measurable results for your organization.
