

Frank Ferrara spent 25 years in international trade, building a steel exporting company that centered on selling American product for the food service industry and building it to over $20M in annual sales. Operations included warehousing, processing, logistics and financing. In building that business he traveled extensively worldwide and has lived overseas.

After exiting that business Mr. Ferrara focused his attention on managing his own funds and dedicating his time to private charities and the Village of Port Chester. He served the Village for 6 years as an elected Trustee and 9 years (and currently) on the Port Chester Industrial Development Agency, of which he has been Chairman since 2014.

He has a BA from Boston College in Government.
