The community can continue the conversation about public health and racial justice in an upcoming meeting.

More than 100 people participated in the first of a series of town halls on “Public Health & Racial Justice,” facilitated by The Momentum Center and in collaboration with Grand Haven’s Human Relations Commission and Loutit District Library.

The second meeting in the series, “Initiating a Response,” will be held on Zoom at 6:30 p.m. Monday, July 13.

Presentations will be given during the first hour by Robyn Afrik of Ottawa County Diversity and Inclusion, Denise Grier of Maple Avenue Ministries, a resident involved in grassroots efforts, and Gloria Lara of the Ethnic Diversity Alliance. The second hour will provide an opportunity for questions and answers and a community conversation.

Registration is required for the event. To register, visit www.MomentumCenterGH.org/Town-Hall-Justice.

This series of town hall meetings is intended to provide information, and a safe place for people with different perspectives and life experiences to share their honest thoughts and observations. Other meetings in this series will include historical context, personal stories, business and economics, local governments, and education.
Mosaic Counseling will provide QPR Training (suicide prevention) from 5-6 p.m. Monday. You may reregister for the training by calling 616-842-9160.
