

Ulla Foehr

I've lived in the Central neighborhood of Belmont for 18 years with my husband and 3 daughters who are now ages 18, 16 and 14, the younger two are in Belmont public schools. I'm a Parks and Recreation commissioner, former soccer and volleyball coach, public school art educator, walker, hiker, swimmer and dog-owner.

Craig Michaels

Has served on the Belmont Parks and Recreation Commission since 2013, including the Twin Pines Master Plan and Off-Leash at Barrett Pilot Committees. He is also on the board of the Belmont Boosters, Emerald Lake Country Club, and Playworks. He's a graduate of the University of Virginia and Northwestern University and works in technology marketing. Craig has lived in Belmont since 2011 with his wife, two kids, a "water dog" named Molly, and Bella the cat.

Austin Lee

42 years old and a Belmont resident for 9 years. We have two children ages 9 and 7 who both attend Fox Elementary right near our Plateau Skymont neighborhood. Most of our activities center around visits to parks and open spaces with our friends and neighbors. I've been a Park and Rec Commissioner for one year and have also volunteered as an AYSO and Little League coach.

Caroline Pyrz

I have lived in the Homeview neighborhood for approximately six years. I have two young children who enjoy playing sports and visiting local playgrounds. I currently serve as the chair of the City of Belmont's Planning Commission.

Karen Haas-Foletta

30 year resident of Belmont in the Cipriani Neighborhood. I am the Executive Director of Footsteps Child Care with 4 locations in Belmont serving infants through middle school.

Lynn Bell

My husband and I moved to the Belmont Heights neighborhood in 2003 when our sons were ages one and three. We were thrilled to be adjacent to the Waterdog open space where we had mountain biked since the mid-1990s. Over the years Waterdog has offered us a safe and convenient space to bike, hike, jog, walk the dog, push the stroller, and look for critters. Our youngest son's opportunity to hone his bike skills so close to home has lead him to pursue professional cycling, albeit on the road versus the trails. While we have played in Belmont's parks, participated in various recreation programs and competed on the athletic fields, it is Waterdog we love the most due to its myriad options for exercise, recreation and enjoyment of the outdoors.

Susan Wright

I'm a former Parks & Recreation Commissioner who has lived in the Central neighborhood for 18 years. I have a son who goes to Ralston Middle School. I work in the sustainability field.

Bob Stahl

David Braunstein

David has lived in Belmont for 26 years. He first volunteered to serve on the Library Task Force that ultimately brought the city a state of the art library and library services. He later served on the Belmont City Council from 2007-2015, twice serving as mayor.

While on city council, he visited and learned about all of the parks in the city. He served on two city committees that are relevant to his service to the PROS Committee - 1) the 2x2x2 Educational Committee (made up of the Belmont Redwood Shores School District, the City of Redwood City, and the City of Belmont, as well as 2) a joint committee with Notre Dame de Namur University. Both committees addressed a variety of institutional/district issues as well as field use. During this time, David supported new traffic configurations to support bikers, walkers, and joggers; the turfing project at the Belmont Sports Complex; and purchasing land to convert to open space. Prior to joining the PROS Committee, David served on the Barrett Community Task Force to help recommend a new Community Center.

Professionally, David has taught social studies at Carlmont High School for the last 19 years. During that time he coached and assisted the freshman football team for two years.

David and his wife Patricia have three children and he and his family have used many of the Park and Recreation Services and the open space that Belmont has to offer. Between them, David and Patricia have coached multiple seasons of soccer, baseball, and softball at most sporting venues in Belmont, including the Barrett Community Center, Ralston Middle School, Fox, Sandpiper, McDougal, and the Belmont Sports Complex. His daughter currently plays baseball at multiple fields in Belmont and dances at the Barrett Community Center. David supported his sons while they competed in track and field at Carlmont. His entire family enjoy the Waterdog trails and actively enjoy a wealth of Belmont's Park and Recreation programs.

Scott Sisemore

I'm Scott Sisemore. My wife and I have lived in the Sterling Downs neighborhood since 2006. One of our biggest influences in moving to Belmont was the open space at Waterdog and Hidden Canyon. We like to walk our dog, hike, trail run, bird watch and mountain bike along the trails. We have two sons. One at Carlmont and the other in middle school. The older boy now rides mountain bikes at Waterdog with the local high school team, the Beasts. I spent 7 years managing little league baseball teams for BRSLL. I own and operate one of Belmont's only wineries, Waxwing Wine Cellars, in the Harbor Business Center at the corner of Harbor and Industrial in Belmont.

Eli Latimerlo

My work centers on cultivating relationships between the Social Sector and Industry that solve today's challenges and shape tomorrow's outcomes. My professional experience is diverse - reflecting acumen gained while holding leadership positions in the nonprofit, corporate, academic, and global business development sectors. As a Development professional I have identified and negotiated relationships between corporations, foundations, and the social sector that strengthen their value propositions, while effectively measuring and evaluating impact.

I have lead initiatives in many social enterprises, including Rape Trauma Services, North Peninsula Family Alternatives, LifeMoves (a homeless services agency), LMS Productions (a theatrical nonprofit and production company), the Dorothy Stang Center for Social Justice and Community Engagement, Silicon Valley Community Foundation, and (at present) Santa Clara University where I serve as Sr. Director of Development at Miller Center for Social Entrepreneurship.

I am an NLP Practitioner, a Certified Career Coach, and I hold a Master's Degree in Counseling Psychology and a Bachelor's in Communications (Photojournalism and Advertising Design).

My passions include photography, cycling, tennis, and traveling with my family.
