Open Studios: Bryanna Bradley, Jordan Deal, BriFreí and Nazareth Hassan with Sierra D. Leverett
Curated by Malcolm-x Betts

CPR – Center for Performance Research
361 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn, NY 11211

Open Studios is a series of work-in-progress showings held regularly throughout the year, organized by guest curators. The program serves as an incubator for new work, and often includes an opportunity for dialogue or feedback in an informal setting, inviting the public into the artistic process. For this evening, curator Malcolm-x Betts assembles artists that are reaching through and toward something very specific in their practice, and which inspire his own work. With interest in archiving and distribution, Betts frames this Open Studios as a portal into process, and a decentralized presentation of the undone.

PROGRAM

Jordan Deal
MOMMA I RODE THE BEAST! through the sun of fawnings / dust devil/waterspout

This work-in-progress piece is a transportation into the indulgences of undercurrents, dark matter, and worlds that bubbles through the cracks of streets, swamps, and seas that shapes our social and political landscapes and stores itself in BODY. rupture happenings, dispersed flights, & echoed seas reveal secret passageways to the whispers that erupt through floorboards [in tongue], duties of (deo)construction, mournings to the undead dead, flights to crystallized mothers, and the fugitivity to come thereafter–after it’s rode good.

BriFreí

Innertainment Purposes Only

Ongoing work-in-progress featuring experimental original sounds, in collaboration with Jeremy Slater.

Bryanna Bradley

Tracts

This performance may take shape as the continuation of her somatic research of G.E.S.T., a new unexplored off-shoot of G.E.S.T, or a concept they’ve been thinking of parsing through for some time called Brackish Room: Draining the Swamps of My Childhood Bedroom or something completely different, new, unrelated. Either way they want to get rigorous and conjure something.

Sound Collaborator: Kit Reimer.

Nazareth Hassan with Sierra D. Leverett

2 eleven 2

This work brings together choreography, music-making, and text together through children’s hand games and song.

BIOGRAPHIES

Bryanna Bradley is a conceptual artist whose medium is the body in rigorous live performance. Devised theater, improvisational dance, and intentional ritual are used in their practice to explore tons of thoughts, theories, and intellectual hunches. Bryanna is the Creatrix of Gastrointestinal Epigenetic Somatic Theory (G.E.S.T - pronounced like gesture), a field of study concerning ways ancestral information trauma, healing modalities, and physical dis-ease can travel through one’s genetic code and be expressed through that individual’s digestive system, more specifically, the gastrointestinal (GI) tract. G.E.S.T unpacks/articulates the intersection of digestion, ancestry, and travel. Bryanna is no stranger to cross-disciplinary collaborations; they were a lead performer of MacArthur Genius Award winner Tavares Strachan’s exhibition The Awakening at Marian Goodman Gallery in NYC, performed their own work back: an exploration of black masculinity and images history as the accumulation of urban mythbuilding, mapping, memory, and the use of vocal and movement based improvisation as a generative and investigative tool that harnesses and disperses CHAOS as a subversive material. Through the use of collected sound field recordings, video/film documenta, and real-time autobiographical myth fabrication, Deal explores dialectics, borders and territories; blackness as creative destruction; historical artifacts; the tropes of superhero/villain; undead knowledge; and counter-active channels of potentiality that exists against global colonialism and imperialism’s frameworks and mappings. Deal has shown work with Protocinema & Protodispatch (2022 & 2023), Fisher–Ollman gallery (PHL), Brick Theater (NYC), Vox Populi (PHL), Fisher Art Memorial (PHL), Grizzly Grizzly (PHL), Bartram’s Gardens (PHL), and No Tomorrow Underground (ATL), amongst others. Last year, Deal was selected as a Fall 2022 Research Fellow at Amant Foundation in Brooklyn, where they continued their investigations of chaos force. They have been included in press such as the ARTNews, ArtBlog, Titled House Review: Spring 2021 issue and Grizzly Grizzly: In Dialogue.
