WEED RESISTANCE

Weeds find a way!

Plants naturally evolve to decrease vulnerability to threats – this process has been occurring as long as crops have been grown.

Farmers must use all the tools at their disposal to fight weeds, and the crop protection industry continually adjusts to develop solutions. To manage weed resistance, farmers employ a varied system of technologies and practices[^1].

WEED RESISTANCE

Weeds find a way!

Plants naturally evolve to decrease vulnerability to threats – this process has been occurring as long as crops have been grown.

Farmers must use all the tools at their disposal to fight weeds, and the crop protection industry continually adjusts to develop solutions. To manage weed resistance, farmers employ a varied system of technologies and practices.¹