WHAT IS AN URGENT REFERRAL?

Your GP has arranged for you to see a hospital doctor (specialist) within two weeks – a process also known as the two-week referral. This is to investigate your symptoms further. You may have some tests to find out what is wrong and if it could be cancer.

9 OUT OF 10 PEOPLE

REFERRED IN THIS WAY ARE NOT DIAGNOSED WITH CANCER.

1 RECEIVING AN URGENT REFERRAL

- Your GP might make the appointment, or the hospital might contact you in the next few days.
- It's very important that you attend your appointment. If you can't make it, call the hospital as soon as you can to rearrange.
- If your symptoms get worse, tell your GP.

Handy Hints

- Check your GP has your current contact details.
- If you don't get your appointment details within a week, call your GP surgery and tell them it's an urgent referral.
- You have a legal right to see a specialist within two weeks of being referred. If this isn't possible, the NHS must try to offer you an alternative – but you will need to ask the hospital to do this.

2 GOING TO YOUR APPOINTMENT

- Your appointment letter will include: the time, where to go, who you're seeing and anything you need to do to prepare.
- You may be sent straight for tests, or you might see a specialist first.
- You may need to describe your symptoms again. It could help to write things down in advance.

Handy Hints

- Think about arranging transport, time off work or childcare for the day of your appointment.
- Make sure you know where you're going.
- Try to bring a family member or friend with you.
- Allow extra time in case it takes longer than you expect.
- Make sure your mobile phone is charged.

3 HAVING TESTS

- The appointment letter will include details of any tests you will have and any preparations you need to make.
- You may need to have more than one test.
- Call the number on your letter if you have any questions.

Handy Hints

- Ask how long it will take to get your results and make a note of it.
- The person testing you will not usually be able to tell you your results. You may have to wait to speak to your specialist.

4 GETTING RESULTS

- Your specialist will usually tell you your results.
- Sometimes you may need to have further tests.
- The time it takes to receive your results varies – you may have to wait several weeks.

Don't be afraid to ask questions

Handy Hints

- If you have another appointment, try to bring a family member or friend with you.
- Bring a pen and paper to make notes.
- Call the hospital if you have been waiting for your results for longer than expected.

WHAT QUESTIONS COULD I ASK?

Sometimes it's difficult to know what to ask your specialist. Here are a few ideas that might make it easier:

- If my symptoms get worse, who should I contact?
 - Should I make any changes to the medicines I'm taking?
 - What tests will I need to have?
 - How long will the tests take?

- What will the tests feel like?
 - Do the tests have any after effects?
 - How long will it take to get my test results?
 - Who will give me the test results?
 - If I have questions after the appointment, who should I ask?

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT?

If you are diagnosed with cancer you will be given lots of information by the hospital. You can also call a Cancer Research UK nurse for information and support on freephone 0808 800 4040.

If you aren't diagnosed with cancer, it's still important that you pay attention to your body. Tell your GP if you notice any unusual and persistent changes.

A health scare makes some people think about improving their general health, for example by keeping a healthy weight or stopping smoking. These things can help reduce the risk of cancer – although it's not a guarantee.
