When I read about J D Vance's various rants about childless women, I was angry. Not just because of the mean-spiritedness of his statements, but also because of his short-sightedness. As he sees it, people without children "don't have a direct stake in this country." How ridiculous.

Then Vance smeared the military service of Tim Walz even as he sits on a ticket with a man who did all he could to avoid serving in the military and who has an ugly pattern of maligning others for their service. How disgusting.

I don't know what makes Vance so angry at so many Americans who have done nothing wrong. I just know that there are two radical candidates who want to shred the fabric of our American democracy, and they are not Harris and Walz. VP Harris and Gov Tim Walz will bring this country together.
