While this play is ultimately fiction, many of the details are real. J. Marion Sims was a doctor in Alabama who, in the 1840s, used enslaved black women to aid in his work to fix fistulas.

J. Marion Sims experimented on at least eleven enslaved black women in his quest. We know three of their names: Anarcha, Betsey, and Lucy.

Anarcha was operated on thirty times before a cure was found.

According to Sin1s' autobiography, Betsey and Lucy were cured shortly after Anarcha, but other books have put this in question.

As far as we know, he did not have a relationship with one of the women.

In the later years of his experimentation, ether anesthesia was available and used, but he did not use it on the black women he worked on. They were given opium after procedures but were not given anesthesia during.

The women aided in the surgeries by holding each other down, deanng dressings, and more. 'They did this and the usual work in the house and in the fields while they ailed.

Sims went on to found the first women's hospital in the United States, in New York City, and later became the president of the American Medical Association.

Until April 2018, there was a statue of Sims located along the perimeter of Central Park. It has since been moved to Green-Wood Cemetery in Brooklyn, where he is buried.

Additionally, Jeff is a caretaker, a movie-lover, a Shakespeare monologue coach, and an election judge.

ALISON KERTZ (Josephine) is a St. Louis native. She received her BA in Theatre (Performance) from the University of Missouri in 2017. She went on to become an Actor Apprentice at the Great River Shakespeare Festival in Winona, MN. Two weeks after closing at Great River, Alison moved to Glasgow, Scotland, where she achieved her MA in Acting (Classic and Contemporary Text) at the Royal Conservatoire of Scotland, which was recently named 3rd in the world for performing arts education. While at the RCS, Alison completed an intensive month of training at Shakespeare’s Globe in London, culminating in a performance of scenes on the Globe stage. Upon returning to Glasgow, Alison played the titular role in Titus Andronicus at the Royal Conservatoire. During her time in Glasgow, Alison was also cast in Antony and Cleopatra... with Bard in the Botanics, Scotland’s premier Shakespeare Festival. Alison misses Scotland very much, but is very excited to be making more art stateside. She is incredibly excited to be joining The Black Rep for the first time. She feels blessed and humbled to be a part of this incredible story, which has been overlooked for far too long. Thank you, Mom, for always being my biggest supporter and fan. I love you!”

PATIENCE DAVIS (Dinah) is extremely humbled and honored to perform with The Black Rep and this amazing cast for the first time. When not acting, Patience is developing her financial services business as an entrepreneur and volunteers at church. She graduated from Lindenwood University with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Acting and is ecstatic to pay homage to the courageous, in telling their stories of the forgotten, overlooked, abused, and unsung heroic ones of her ancestry. She dedicates her performances to her family, friends, and all those before her: the ones who sacrificed selflessly, giving her their shoulders to stand on and leap from, so she could have a better life, better stories, bigger dreams, and then do the same for the generations to come after her. “I am indebted to you all.”

CHRISTINA YANCY (Sally), is a stage actress originally from Alabama. She received her B.F.A. Acting Degree from the University of Montevallo. While studying at university, Christina performed in several plays including Much Ado About Nothing, The Last Days of Judas Iscariot, and HAIR. WAITING FOR MARTIN
by Joseph Henderson
Grades: 6-12; Community

Waiting for Martin follows Solomon, a hard-working young man, Rose and her brother Pete, as they wait to see if Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will pass through their area. Come along and learn what it was like to live in that time period through the stories of people that pass by this small group of youngsters waiting to see a man that changed history.

STAMPING, SHOUTING, AND SINGING HOME
by Lisa Evans
Grades 4-12

Stamping, Shouting and Singing Home follows the journey of Lizzie on her quest for Truth, Justice, and Freedom. Set in the Deep South during the 1950s Civil Rights Era, Lizzie is set to dig deep into herself, her family, and her family history in order to understand the injustices present in her life and lives of those she loves.

TURN-UP
by Naima Carter Russell & Eugene H. Russell IV
Grades Pre K - 4

Coach Carver is determined to save a failing community garden but he just can’t seem to keep people interested. He fears that this growing season may be the garden’s last. A mail delivery mixup somehow leads to one of his turnips growing bigger than any he’s ever seen! How will he even get it out of the ground? What will he do with it when he does? A lively bunch of characters “Turn Up” to help but will it be enough? Written by Atlanta husband and wife team Naima Carter Russell and Eugene H. Russell IV and set to music, Turn-Up is a fun, humorous story about perseverance and the power of community.
