‘August Wilson’s Jitney” is presented by arrangement with Concord Theatricals on behalf of Samuel French, Inc. www.concordtheatricals.com
The Black Rep graciously acknowledges annual operating support for its mainstage and educational programs from:

SEASON 45 PARTNERS

Additional support from the Black Communities Investment Initiative of the St. Louis Community Foundation, Enterprise Holdings Foundation, and the St. Louis Regional Racial Healing and Justice Fund.
“August Wilson’s Century Cycle is considered one of the crowning achievements of the American theatre. From 1982 until 2005, August Wilson penned ten plays that captured the Black experience in Pittsburgh throughout the 20th century. With one play for each decade, these varied masterpieces earned Wilson two Pulitzer Prizes, multiple Tony Award nominations, a Peabody, and many other accolades. Jitney premiered in 1982, making it the first in Wilson’s cycle.” – Concord Theatricals.

“Let’s go back, let’s go back, let’s go way on to way back when…” Think, Aretha Franklin.

During the 1970’s, regular taxi cabs would not drive to the Hill District in Pittsburgh, so residents turned to unofficial and unlicensed taxi cabs called jitneys. Buses and public transportation underserved, or sometimes simply refused to service, Pittsburgh’s Black neighborhoods and communities. Even today Pittsburgh continues to lead the nation among cities of size having the largest percentage of people residing in food deserts. Jitneys provided more than simply a service; they were essential. Jitney drivers took Black people to grocery stores, to airports, home, wherever, at a time when race, race relations, and discrimination were in a complicated period in America.

The 1970s saw National Guardsmen kill and wound students at Kent State protesting the Vietnam War, television banned the advertisement of cigarettes, the voting age was lowered from 21 to 18, and Walt Disney World opened in Orlando, Florida. In 1973 the Supreme Court ruled in Roe versus Wade that a woman cannot be prevented from having an abortion in the first six months of pregnancy, and by 1974 we saw the impeachment and the first resignation of an American President. Wheel of Fortune (1975) premiered on television, as Sanford and Son (1972 – 1976), The Supremes broke up (1977), Richard Roundtree played the title role in Shaft (1971), Diana Ross and Billy Dee Williams starred in Lady Sings the Blues (1972) and Mahogany (1975). Good Times (1974) with Esther Rolle, John Amos, and Jimmy Walker ultimately fired Amos because he challenged the writing of his character as an abusive Black father who had issues with addiction. Who and what Black people could and would be was a complicated and complex negotiation and commodification of Black identity that was being writ large in movies, on television, and in the music of the 1970s.

August Wilson began his Century Cycle with Jitney in 1982. Wilson’s cycle, more often than not, tells the story of Black men and Black male existence in America. Certainly, the settings of his plays is Pittsburgh, however his stories, more generally, tell the story of Black working class men in America over the course of the century. Rather than slave narratives, or the servant, narratives, or the criminal narratives, or even the Black superhuman narratives of the Blaxploitation era that were hallmarks of the movies and television shows of the 1970s, Wilson’s plays create a narrative in which Black characters (and Black men) occupy a broad and diverse range of existence. His characters are loving and flawed. They invoke memories and images of Black fathers and sons and uncles and cousins. They remind you of the very human men that hung out on corners, who drank and laughed and played cards, who loved and wronged your sisters and mothers and aunts. Jitney (and all of the characters in Wilson’s cycle, really) remind me of my family. I know these characters because I grew up with these characters. Wilson’s project, and the subject of Jitney really, creates a space in which Black men can sit with each other, exist with each other, and tell stories. These characters express vulnerability and loss, and friendship and love. Are these characters perfect? Are they perfect human beings? I don’t think that was Wilson’s goal. Wilson created a context within which Black men exist in all of their complicated, complex, imperfect, beautiful and honest ways, even if only for the duration of a fiction.
AUGUST WILSON (April 27, 1945 - October 2, 2005) authored Gem of the Ocean, Joe Turner's Come and Gone, Ma Rainey's Black Bottom, The Piano Lesson, Seven Guitars, Fences, Two Trains Running, Jitney, King Hedley II, and Radio Golf. These works explore the heritage and experience of African-Americans, decade-by-decade, over the course of the twentieth century. His plays have been produced at regional theaters across the country and all over the world, as well as on Broadway. In 2003, Mr. Wilson made his professional stage debut in his one-man show, How I Learned What I Learned.

Mr. Wilson's works garnered many awards including Pulitzer Prizes for Fences (1987); and for The Piano Lesson (1990); a Tony Award for Fences; Great Britain's Olivier Award for Jitney; as well as eight New York Drama Critics Circle Awards for Ma Rainey's Black Bottom, Fences, Joe Turner's Come and Gone, The Piano Lesson, Two Trains Running, Seven Guitars, Jitney, and Radio Golf. Additionally, the cast recording of Ma Rainey's Black Bottom received a 1985 Grammy Award, and Mr. Wilson received a 1995 Emmy Award nomination for his screenplay adaptation of The Piano Lesson. Mr. Wilson's early works included the one-act plays The Janitor, Recycle, The Coldest Day of the Year, Malcolm X, The Homecoming and the musical satire Black Bart and the Sacred Hills.

Mr. Wilson received many fellowships and awards, including Rockefeller and Guggenheim Fellowships in Playwrighting, the Whiting Writers Award, 2003 Heinz Award, was awarded a 1999 National Humanities Medal by the President of the United States, and received numerous honorary degrees from colleges and universities, as well as the only high school diploma ever issued by the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh. He was an alumnus of New Dramatists, a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a 1995 inductee into the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and on October 16, 2005, Broadway renamed the theater located at 245 West 52nd Street - The August Wilson Theatre.

Additionally, Mr. Wilson was posthumously induct ed into the Theater Hall of Fame in 2007.

Mr. Wilson was born and raised in the Hill District of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and lived in Seattle, Washington at the time of his death. He is immediately survived by his two daughters, Sakina Ansari and Azilla Carmen Wilson, and his wife, costume designer Constanza Romero.

KEVIN BROWN (Becker), is thrilled and honored to be making his St Louis Black Repertory Company debut with this amazing August Wilson play. A native of August Wilson’s Pittsburgh (Hill District) through the casting of the Pittsburgh Playwrights Theater company he has successfully completed seven of the August Wilson 10 play century cycle. Piano lesson, Jitney, Fences, Seven guitars, King Hadley II, Radio Golf and Gem of the Ocean directed by Andrea Frye and Mark Clayton Southers. He was last seen in Freda Peoples (New Horizon Theater), Miss Julie Clarissa and John (Pittsburgh Playwrights Theater), East Texas Hot Links (Pittsburgh Playwrights Theater). Film credits include: The Kid (You Tube Series), Unrelated (B.D Allen film), House of Stone (Redwood Productions) Rehabilitation of the Hill (Steel Town Productions). Brown has also enjoyed background film work on, Fences, Ma Rainey’s Black Bottom, Concussion, A League of their Own (Netflix) and Rustin (a Michelle and Barack Obama production). Currently Brown is working as a teaching artist at the Community Empowerment.

J. SAMUEL DAVIS (Fielding) is excited to be a part of Jitney at The Black Repertory Theater. He last worked with The Black Rep as West in last season’s award winning Two Trains Running. He was last seen this past summer in the much acclaimed production of King Lear with St. Louis Shakespeare as Earl of Kent. He also appeared in The Repertory Theater of St Louis’ production of A Christmas Carol this past holiday. Davis has played roles from Shakespeare to August Wilson in a career that spans over 20 years. He has worked in major theaters, regionally and nationally, as well as appearing in video projects, industry films, and has headlined his own concerts. Starting out as a company member for The St. Louis Black Repertory Company, Davis continues to expand his career to include many diverse and challenging roles. Some of his credits include the following: Simon in The Whipping Man, Walter Lee in A Raisin in the Sun, Oedipus in Oedipus the King, Tom Wingfield in The Glass Menagerie, and Bashir in Bashir Lazhar a one man show for which he won a Kevin Kline award for Best actor in a Play. He also garnered an award in 2019 from The St. Louis Theater Circle critics for his role as Antoine DuPre in District Merchants produced by the New Jewish Theater.

OLAJUWON DAVIS (Youngblood), is honored and excited to be back home at The Black Rep where he began his acting career many years ago in the stage-production of Sarafina! as Crocodile. After humble beginnings he performed street theatre, and starred in his first on screen production, Palacios, where he won the Special Award for Outstanding Performance at St. Louis International Film Festival in 2017. He is grateful for the love and support of his friends and family. And sends a special thanks to Ron Himes for continuing to believe in his talent and gifts.
PHILLIP DIXON (Booster), is happy to perform again at The Black Rep. He was last seen in Seven Guitars as Canewell. He would like to thank The Black Rep staff for all of their support.

RICHARD HARRIS (Philmore), is a professional SAG-AFTRA actor who has recently transplanted from Los Angeles. He is presently a local based out of Kansas City and St. Louis, performing in Commercial, Television, and Film. Richard attended Howard University, studying Music Education. He also has a degree in Recording Engineering from Cedar Valley College, Dallas, TX. He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity, Zeta Phi Chapter. Before becoming an actor, Richard worked 30 years in the music industry: Touring musician for Columbia Records Artist, Johnny Taylor, and Atlantic Records Artist Levert, Signed as a Recording Artist with Chrysalis Records, Producer and Programmer for songwriter Diane Warren at Realsongs Publishing, Co-producer and Mix Engineer Vaz Ent/Motown, A Staff Recording Engineer at Universal Music Publishing. Richard now lives in Columbia, where his focus is Theatre and the forming of an African American Repertory Troupe with an emphasis on August Wilson's Century Cycle.

EDWARD L. HILL (Doub), is excited and honored to make his St. Louis debut in this production of Jitney with The Black Rep. Prior to relocating to the St Louis area Edward's portrayal with the Dayton Theater Guild, as Paul Robeson, in Mr. Rickey Calls a Meeting was recorded as riveting and earned him the credit of Breakthrough Male Performance in a Play for the 2020 Dayton Theater Season. Edward has theater and musical theater credits as an actor, director, and performance coach. Roles include Troy, in August Wilson's Fences, Mr. West, in August Wilson's Two Trains Running, and the Warden in Kiss of the Spider Woman. Television and film credits include: The Contingent, Survivor's Remorse, and Six. Edward received the key to the city in Charlotte North Carolina for his performance of an original monologue entitled “And Then We Came to Memphis” in honor of the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Edward has been a company member of Trustus Theater, Columbia South, and VLA Theatre, Killeen Texas. Edward is a Board Member of the Dayton Theatre Guild. Edward currently serves as Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs at Harris-Stowe State University.

RON HIMES (Turnbo), is the Founder and Producing Director of The Black Rep. His acting credits include The Black Rep's production of Two Trains Running (Holliway), Fences (Troy), for which he won The St. Louis Theater Circle Award in 2019 for Outstanding Achievement as an Actor in a Drama, Seven Guitars, Sunset Baby, The Whipping Man, On Golden Pond, Romeo and Juliet, Death and the King's Horseman, Boesman and Lena and Gem of the Ocean, which was featured at the 2007 National Black Theatre Festival in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Additional credits include King in King Hedley II, Banquo in Macbeth, Herald Loomis in Joe Turner's Come And ALEX JAY (Rena), was born and raised in St. Louis, MO. She is an alumna of the University of Missouri-St. Louis. There, she received her Bachelor's Degree in Theater and Communications. She has acted in a host of plays and musicals throughout the region. Notably; Behind the Sheet and Nina Simone: Four Women with The Black Rep, Something Like Godspell with TLT Productions, Fleshtones with First Run Theatre, and The Ville: Avengance with St. Louis Shakespeare Festival. She is elated at any opportunity to grow in her craft.

ROBERT A. MITCHELL (Shealy), is happy to be back home at The Black Rep, after a long stint in New Orleans, where he also ran his own company, The NonProphet Theatre-South. This is his 3rd August Wilson show here, and he hopes to get more under his belt before he retires. Recent roles in NOLA include: Sheldon Forrester in Trouble in Mind, Wining Boy/(US) in The Piano Lesson, Don Quixote in Camino Real, and Sir Julius Winfield in Pulp Shakespeare. Big love out to Ron and The Black Rep Fam, my STL friends and family, and, of course, my Bunny.

The Black Rep offers three 50-minute touring productions performed by members of the Professional Intern Program. These shows are designed to be presented in most open spaces such as multipurpose rooms, gymnasiums and theatre auditoriums. No special lighting or sound equipment is required. Touring productions are accompanied by educational study guides with pre and post-performance activities designed to enlighten educators and students.

Touring Productions

WAITING FOR MARTIN
by Joseph Henderson
Grades: 6-12; Community

Waiting for Martin follows Solomon, a hard-working young man, Rose and her brother Pete, as they wait to see if Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will pass through their area. Come along and learn what it was like to live in that time period through the stories of people that pass by this small group of youngsters waiting to see a man that changed history.

STAMPING, SHOUTING, AND SINGING HOME
by Lisa Evans
Grades 4-12

Stamping, Shouting and Singing Home follows the journey of Lizzie on her quest for Truth, Justice, and Freedom. Set in the Deep South during the 1950s Civil Rights Era, Lizzie is set to dig deep into herself, her family, and her family history in order to understand the injustices present in her life and lives of those she loves.

TURN-UP
by Naima Carter Russell & Eugene H. Russell IV
Grades Pre K - 4

Coach Carver is determined to save a failing community garden but he just can’t seem to keep people interested. He fears that this growing season may be the garden’s last. A mail delivery mixup somehow leads to one of his turnips growing bigger than any he’s ever seen! How will he even get it out of the ground? What will he do with it when he does? A lively bunch of characters “Turn Up” to help but will it be enough? Written by Atlanta husband and wife team Naima Carter Russell and Eugene H. Russell IV and set to music, Turn-Up is a fun, humorous story about perseverance and the power of community.
Workshops and Residences

Members of the Professional Touring Company conduct drama workshops in residence in schools and community centers throughout the year. Classes vary in length from 90-min. workshops to masterclasses taught for several weeks. Subject matter may be customized to fit curriculum or other requirements.

*$225 per 90 Min.
(Minimum 90-min. sessions)

Teen Tech

The Teen Tech Program allows interested teens to gain experience understand what it takes to develop a production behind the scenes.

Sophisticated Ladies

A women's Giving Initiative committed to underwriting a main stage production each year highlighting the talents of Black female artists.

This year's production: Behind The Sheet by Charly Evon Simpson.

A distinguished writer best known for her plays Jump and Behind the Sheet, Simpson was named the 2019-20 recipient of the Paula Vogel Playwriting Award from the Vineyard Theatre, co-recipient of the Dramatists Guild’s Lanford Wilson Award, was nominated for the Outer Critics Circle’s John Gassner Award, and two of her plays were named on The 2019 Kilroys’ List.
