Founded in May 2021, Cocotree Kids serves families experiencing homelessness, extreme financial hardship, domestic violence, and/or are children in hospitals who have faced crisis situations, refugee children who have recently relocated to our communities, and students facing poverty. Cocotree Kids has distributed over 45,000 pairs of underwear to underserved youth in Massachusetts since it started and is consistently getting requests for more underwear.

"I am so proud to be partnering with this wonderful organization that is helping so many children in Massachusetts to have the dignity they deserve. I invite families who attend any future performances to bring new pairs of children's underwear to my shows. Financial donations are also welcome! This is a great opportunity for children to be involved in charitable giving with their grown up, as well," said Stacey Peasley.

She has five award-winning albums out for kids and families and is releasing her sixth album "Play in My Band!" this year.
