Obituaries

Robert George Bagnall, BA, BD, who was born in Tullamore on 3rd March 1924, the son of Edward and Frances Bagnall. He worked on the home farm and in business before hearing the call to ordained ministry. He served as a circuit evangelist and pre-collegiate probationer in Churchill, Fivemiletown and Belfast Central Mission before going to Edgehill Theological College. His service was marked by a deep pastoral concern, lasting friendships and a disciplined approach to academic study. After theological training and ordination in 1950, he was appointed to Sandy Row, (Primitive Street) and then Portadown, where pastoral care and colleagueship were central to his ministry. In 1955, he married Ann Alford who contributed immensely to his ministry. They had three children: Niall, Colin and Ruth. He was appointed as Chaplain of Methodist College, Belfast in 1959. He made a very significant contribution in the field of religious education, serving on the group which produced the Northern Ireland secondary schools’ curriculum and examinations in religious education which proved to be far sighted and inclusive. He contributed to many other areas of community life, including the Northern Ireland Interfaith Forum and the bereavement counselling service, Cruse. He retired in 1986 after 27 years in Methodist College and was very active in the Ballyholme church and local community. He was a gifted teacher who wore his scholarship with humility, writing regularly for the Irish Christian Advocate and articles for religious education journals. He taught a successful philosophy class in the University of the Third Age. He was Father of the Conference for many years. Cared for by Ann and his family, he died peacefully at home, on 30th July 2022 in the ninety-ninth year of his age and the seventy-third of his ministry. He donated his body to medical science.

William Winston Graham who was born on 17th June 1942 in Portadown, the son of the Rev Moore and Mrs Hyacinth Graham. Upon successfully candidating for ordained ministry, he was stationed as a pre-collegiate probationer in Fivemiletown. While a student, in 1966, he went to lead a Children’s Day Service in Lisburn where he met Blanche Gibson. Their marriage was a deep, mutual and supportive relationship in the service of God and the Church. They had three children Laurence, Christine and Kathryn. Despite the heavy demands of ministry, they had a happy positive home and family life. After serving in Bray, they went to Kingsmead College, Selly Oak, to prepare for an appointment in Sri Lanka, where he served in Jaffna and Nuwara Eliya. He was ordained in Colombo in 1969 by the Revs Dr DT Niles and George Good, President of the Methodist Church in Ireland. On his return to Ireland, his Circuit appointments included Birr, Dunkineely and Ardara, Portrush and Portstewart, Glengormley, Ballynahinch and Knock. His administrative ability came to the fore as Ministerial Treasurer of MMS(I) and during his nine years as team leader of the World Church Team at Mission House, London. He was appointed Secretary of Conference in 2004 and was elected President of the Methodist Church in Ireland in 2002. He was an excellent pastor and preacher, gifted in music and with people. He exercised a gracious ministry of prayer for healing, especially during his retirement years. He led many to faith and deeper commitment to our Lord and was loved and appreciated in all his appointments.
His spiritual life was a humble and intimate walk with the risen Christ. He died on 8th September, 2022 in the eighty-first year of his age and the fifty-seventh of his ministry. His body was laid to rest in Movilla Cemetery, Newtownards.

Norman Wilson Taggart, BA, BD, PhD, who was born in Belfast on 31st October 1935. He attended, first, Woodvale and later Donegall Square Methodist Church, where the Embury-Heck window behind the pulpit with its depiction of Christ’s calling to go and teach all nations, captured his young life. ‘Wherever you sat’, he said, ‘it felt as if Jesus’s eyes were on you as he gave the great commission’. This led to a consecrated commitment to the world Church and world mission, where he was a preacher, lecturer, historian, and statesman. He was educated at Royal Belfast Academical Institution and Queen’s University Belfast before attending Edgehill Theological College. His ministry was fully shared by his wife Margaret, whom he met when she was sixteen and he seventeen and were married eight years later in 1960. They had four children, Grace, Patrick, Sam and Sarah. Ordained a presbyter in the Church of South India in 1963, he and Margaret spent twenty-four years serving the world church, including five years at the World Church Office in London and seventeen years in Ireland. He served in the Medak Diocese of South India and later Kollupitiya, Sri Lanka, Sligo, Greenisland, Belfast Central Mission, Cavehill, and Coleraine. During his years in Ireland, he served as Chair of the Belfast District and Organising Secretary of the Irish Council of Churches. He was a founding sponsor of the Columbanus Community of Reconciliation, President of the Methodist Church in Ireland in 1997 and part-time lecturer at Edgehill and Union Theological Colleges. He was, in addition, a contributor to the Methodist Missionary Project and a prolific author with three major titles – a biography of William Arthur, and two volumes on the history of the Irish Methodist contribution to world mission. He died on 10th December 2022 in the eighty-eighth year of his age and the sixty-third of his ministry. His body was laid to rest in Middle Churchyard, Ballinderry.
Christopher Gilling Walpole, who was born in Skerries, Co Dublin on 18th August 1929. His parents were members of the Quaker community. Later, the family lived in Warrenpoint, where they joined the Methodist Church, and in the Ards peninsula. He attended Newry Model and Intermediate Schools and came to faith during a mission in Glastry Church. His father’s death necessitated a further family move to Belfast where he became active in Ballynafeigh Church and worked in office administration for several years. After a year as Circuit Evangelist in Portrush, he was accepted as a candidate in 1956 and sent to Fivemiletown as a pre-collegiate probationer. Following training in Edgehill Theological College, he served in the following circuits: Belfast Central Mission, Birr, Sandy Row (Primitive Street), Cavehill, Dublin South, Dublin Centenary and Upper Erne. He married Rosemary Ludlow in 1962 but sadly she died the year after their son, John, was born. In 1967 he married Betty Forsyth and they had one daughter, Dorothy. He served as Secretary of the Belfast Synod and as Chair of the Dublin and Enniskillen and Sligo Districts. For many years he was the Secretary/Treasurer of the Ministers’ Medical Fund and served on the Conference Secretarial team for 29 years as Letter Writer, Journal Secretary and Senior Assistant Secretary. He was elected President in 1995. He was quiet, gracious and humble, an efficient administrator, a caring pastor and faithful preacher. His lifelong interests included photography, model railways and cricket. Following retirement in 1997, he and Betty lived in Fermanagh and then in Moira. In each place he fulfilled preaching and pastoral work when required and formed Faith and Friendship interdenominational groups. In 2022 they moved to sheltered accommodation in Dublin. He died in Brabazon Nursing Home on 2nd July 2022 in the ninety-fourth year of his age and the sixty-fourth of his ministry. His body was laid to rest in Roselawn Cemetery, Belfast.

Ellen Whalley who was born on 7th January 1937, in Heywood, Bury, Greater Manchester and had an identical twin sister, Elizabeth and a younger sister Ann. Her grandparents were an active part of her upbringing, encouraging attendance at Sunday school and youth groups which became the catalyst for her faith journey. On leaving school, she worked as a GPO telephonist. However, following her call to ministry, she applied to train as a Wesley Deaconess. Her probation was in the North Belfast Mission, serving as Matron during the summer in the Mission’s Portrush Holiday Centre for Children. Following ordination as a deaconess in 1963, she returned to work at the North Belfast Mission before taking up a post as field officer with the Mental Health Association for Northern Ireland. In 1969, she resumed work as a deaconess, serving in Belfast Central Mission, London Mission (Hackney) and Portadown, from where she candidated for the Irish Methodist ordained ministry in 1976. She made history in 1978 on becoming the first woman to be ordained in the Methodist Church in Ireland. She served on the Charlemont (Cranagill), Enniskillen, Adare and Ballingrane, Lisbellaw, Maguiresbridge and Tempo and Armagh Circuits. She was elected Chair of the Midlands and Southern District in 1986 becoming the first female Chair of District in Ireland. Her ministry was characterised by faithful pastoral care, thoughtful preaching, with Christ exalted as Saviour and Lord. Following retirement in 2002, she settled in the Newtownabbey Mission Circuit, Rathcoole, and continued to be active in all aspects of its life. She died on 24th December 2022 in the eighty-sixth year of her age and the forty-sixth of her ministry. Her body was laid to rest in Carnmoney East Cemetery, Newtownabbey, Co Antrim.

John James Wilson who was born in Tedeehan, Ballinagh, Co. Cavan on 8th September 1924, where his father owned a twenty-acre farm. The family were members of the local Church of Ireland parish. He began his education at Ballintemple National School and at the age of eleven, he was sent to live with his aunt and uncle in Belfast to complete his education. They were members of the Belfast Central Mission where he gave his life to Christ at the age of thirteen, subsequently becoming a Local Preacher at the age of twenty. He worked as a clerk, first on a local newspaper and then on the Belfast County Down Railway before offering as a candidate for the ordained ministry. He served as a Circuit Evangelist in Newcastle and was appointed as a probationer to Maguiresbridge before training in Edgehill Theological College. He was subsequently appointed to Londonderry City Mission, Carlow, Pettigo, Sligo, Mountpottinger, Maryborough and Portarlington, Castlederg, Omagh and Fintona, Bailieborough and Ballybay, Donegal and Ballintra, Clonakilty and Skibbereen, Springfield and Churchhill. He was Father of the Conference for twenty-five days before his death. Although he never served on many Connexional committees, he had a lifelong interest in their work both at local and connexional level. He lived a simple personal life, not wishing to be a financial burden to his circuits. He was generous in his support of the Church and with his material possessions. He was a lifelong member of the Orange Order. He died on 23rd August 2022 in the ninety-ninth year of his age and the seventy-third year of his ministry. His body was buried in Ballintemple Parish Churchyard, Ballinagh, Co. Cavan.
Methodist Church in Ireland
Stations of Ministers and Probationers (2023/2024)

Introduction
What follows are the Stations for the Methodist Church in Ireland for the 2023-2024 Connexional year. As it is the List of Stations, only ordained ministers who are in Full Connexion and probationer ministers are named. The List is, in effect, one outworking of the fact that ordained ministers are Office Holders, part of an Order of Ministry. It is important to note therefore that many of the Circuits where there are 'lines' and therefore apparent vacancies, are in fact staffed by employees, retired ministers or ministers in training.

Retirement of Ministers

George Abbs, BTh, who has travelled twelve years. His career of over thirty years in the aerospace industry, included a significant involvement in trade union activity at local, national and international levels. Following his candidature, he served on two circuits in Northern Ireland where his quest for social justice has positively influenced his ministry. He was passionate in the challenge of wholeheartedly embracing the Gospel of Christ in all its facets. His colleagueship has been valued by those within the Church.

Harold M Agnew, BA, who has travelled thirty-two years and has served on five circuits. His ministry has centred on seeking to make disciples of Jesus Christ and enabling them to grow and be missional in daily life. He has emphasised the importance of band fellowship as the context for spiritual growth. His pastoral care has been appreciated by the circuits on which he has served and in hospital and prison chaplaincy work. He has faithfully served the connexion in a variety of roles including as District Superintendent, member of the Governance Board and Secretary and Treasurer of the Ministers’ Medical Fund.

Gary J Mason, MBE, BA, DPhil, DD, who has travelled for thirty-one years. In Springfield Road church he was responsible for setting up the Forthspring cross-community group on the peace line. As Superintendent of the East Belfast Mission, he developed Skainos as a new centre for the mission's work, including a new home for Hosford House, a hostel for people who are homeless. Receiving permission to serve without pastoral charge, he established a project, 'Rethinking Conflict' which focusses on conflict in Northern Ireland, racism in the USA, and Arab/Israeli relations. In addition, he has developed a training programme to equip young adults to lead in conflict resolution.

T H Samuel McGuffin, who has travelled forty years. He has served faithfully and effectively in both urban and rural settings throughout Ireland. His leadership and administrative skills have been recognised by his appointments to the roles of Stationer, District Superintendent and Editorial Secretary of the Conference. He was installed President of the Methodist Church in Ireland in 2019 and during his term he gave effective leadership at the start of the Covid Pandemic. None of these roles has taken anything from his primary calling to be a preacher and a pastor. His Biblical preaching and teaching has strengthened the faith of many and his compassionate and patient pastoral care has been deeply appreciated.
Gary D Millar, MPhil, MTh, who has travelled twenty-six years. He has served on five circuits on the North West, Down and North East Districts. His pastoral care found full expression in hospital and hospice chaplaincy, particularly in ecumenical settings, and he exercised his social gospel ministry through the Faith Workers' Branch of 'Unite', as well as sharing Christ through the Tribe of Judah Motorcycle Ministries. His love for the Lord has found expression in various aspects of ministry and has been greatly appreciated by those inside the church and also the wider community.

Robert E Thomas, BTh*, who has travelled for thirty-one years, twenty-eight years in Britain and three years in Ireland. Hearing God's call in his mid-teens, his call to ordained ministry was later recognised by the Methodist Church in Britain. Following his training in Lincoln Theological College, he served in a variety of rural and urban locations across England and Wales. In his attention to the text, preaching, and visiting whether in church or community settings, he has learned of God, earthed the Gospel and shared his faith. His congregations have appreciated his caring and sensitive leadership in times of celebration and challenge.

Their colleagues and friends pray God's blessing on these ministers for their retirement.

Thanks to the President of the Conference

Rev David Nixon

The Methodist Conference, on behalf of the people of the Methodist Church in Ireland, expresses its gratitude and appreciation to the Rev David Nixon for his dedicated and thoughtful leadership of the Church during the past year.

David came to the Presidency against the backdrop of the sad loss of his wife, Rhoda. His theme for the year, ‘God's Lavish Love’ and his exposition of the same on the night of his installation struck a deep chord with many. With deep and fresh insights of the story, he passionately sought to remind us of the heart of God and how the story of the Lost Son is our story – all of us.

Throughout the year, David's heart for the vulnerable and silenced has been laid bare through personal stories, sermons, and visits. His first-hand experience with the World Church and his involvement with vulnerable societies and peoples in the majority world has served him well in doing this.

David's desire for partnership and collaboration in mission was clearly demonstrated by his insistence on the President and Lay Leader working as closely together as possible. The Connexion has been very much blessed because of this collaboration during his Presidency. His qualities as a leader were brought to bear at meetings he chaired, and in the contributions he made. His humble, quiet, and unassuming personality were unmistakeable. With maturity and wisdom, David has served the Connexion very well.

The Conference and the Methodist people throughout Ireland wish David God's richest blessing as he returns to circuit in Dun Laoghaire and the South East Leinster Circuit.

The Conference owes her a debt of gratitude.

Thanks to the Press Officer, Rev Roy Cooper
Rev Roy Cooper has served the Connexion as Press Officer since 1996. Over those 27 years he has wisely guided the Church as we have sought to engage ‘in the public square’. Roy wisely discerned when the church should speak, in particular when we should take an initiative. He brought his significant gifts in relationship building to the role and built helpful relationships with many in the media. Over many years Presidents and Lay Leaders have appreciated Roy’s support and encouragement. We are grateful to God and to him that Roy will continue to use those gifts in his new role as Personal Assistant to the President.

10. The Conference adopts the ‘Methodist Church in Ireland Youth and Children’s Strategy’, below, and commits itself to its implementation.

   The Methodist Church in Ireland’s Youth and Children’s Strategy 2023-2028

   The Methodist Church in Ireland, through its youth and children’s team has been carrying out an 'Exploring the land' exercise in 2021/2022. As we emerged from the Pandemic, we recognised that it was a key time for us as a church to consider how and what we would do to continue to develop our work with the next generation. We asked questions like; What is God asking of us? What are the opportunities? The challenges? Why do we want children and young people to be part of our church communities?

   It was a time of ‘taking stock’ and ‘exploring the land,’ that involved surveys and focus groups both North and South. We were encouraged by the response to surveys and involvement in specific focus groups for parents, leaders/clergy, and young people, alongside group and individual conversations with clergy. Two reports were written to capture the findings that informed a strategic planning process. The process involved the Connexional Team, Connexional Youth and Children's advisory group and some key practitioners, including IMYC staff. The hope is that what we have observed and heard will inform and shape the churches work with and for young people and children over the next decade.
The task of reaching and walking with the ‘next’ generation is a whole church mission and task and so the below vision and strategic priorities are not solely the job of those who we consider experts with young people and children, but for the Methodist Church as a family young and not so young, across this Island.

Vision
We were grateful to Dr Helen Warnock for her leadership through the strategic planning process. The paragraphs below are the vision she heard articulated in the room on our strategic planning day, as we all reflected and responded to the ‘Exploring the land’ reports from the North and South of Ireland.

Children and young people matter. We love them, we have a heart for them, and we carry a mission imperative to engage them.

We carry a vision for a generation who will shine.
• Their passion for Jesus shines and is obvious to all around them and draws others to them and God.
• They will recognise that at times they need to be counter cultural.
• They will know their place in the intergenerational community of wholehearted followers of Jesus that is Methodism.

So, we stand before God and acknowledge we need His help. We acknowledge we carry some sense of lament as to our current state, the state of the church and the home or lack of home that we are for children and young people. We are open to new ways, as we seek to value relationship-building, provide places of safety and participation, as we engage with the tough aspects of life, and encourage discipleship. We want to pray with young people and link well with their families as we work intergenerationally.

We will seek to do this through a youth and children’s strategy and engagement that is owned and prioritised by the whole church.
• Where children and young people are heard and valued.
• And money and resources are released locally and nationally.

Strategic priorities 2023 - 2028
Where young people are mentioned, the age range we are focused on is 25 years of age and under.

By 2028 there will be a substantial increase in the numbers of young people who are wholehearted followers of Jesus for the transformation of the world.

What do we mean by ‘substantial’?
A substantial increase will mean the Methodist church in Ireland will look different due to the life and vitality young people and children bring as they live as disciples of Jesus, sharing their faith and heart.
Four key strategic priorities:

1. Every Circuit strategy – Accompanying every circuit as they develop a strategy to enable them to be intentionally discipling and actively reaching young people and their families.

2. New Faith communities – Pioneering new faith communities, whose primary goal it is to reach young people and their families.

3. Leaders who are young – Intentional passing on of leadership, engaging and releasing the under 25s into leadership that shapes the Methodist Church in Ireland.

4. Theological resourcing – We will be a church that is engaging and informing on cultural issues so that young people have safe spaces to process the issues and questions relevant to their world and stage of development.

Considering the ‘how?’

Every Circuit strategy

To develop a circuit strategy that focuses on intentionally discipling and is actively reaching young people, which has the aims of

- developing an understanding that discipling of young people is a crucial part of the mission of the whole Church
- building communities of transformation in which young people become wholehearted followers of Jesus and take their place in God's mission.
- recruitment, training and ongoing support of volunteers

This will be achieved through:

(i) Focusing in: Working with the DSs, through prayer and discernment, IMYC will identify a number of circuits which IMYC staff members will then accompany as they develop a circuit strategy.

(ii) Placing of youth workers, supported by Connexional funding as necessary. It is proposed that this is a key strand in Connexional mission strategy as resources are released.

(iii) Multiplication: by telling the stories of the difference made and training for ministers and key lay people by IMYC, circuits will develop and implement a strategy.

(iv) Connexional events: These have proven to be significant in young people coming to faith in Jesus and growing in that faith, they complement and provide resource for the work locally by their ability to catalyse and accelerate what God is up to, as they build community and provide opportunities to serve and encounter God.

Some things to note:

- Accompaniment – IMYC members of staff will listen, ask, probe, challenge, inspire, identify, call out and resource as they accompany a circuit.
- Identifying the who, where and where not in the context, will involve sacrificial decision making, and enable the work to be contextually relevant.
• It will be necessary to identify clergy and other leaders who have heart and vision for this work. Leadership matters. Capacity will need to be created by releasing them from other responsibilities to focus on this and invest heavily with time and relationships.

• Training, support, accompanying and resourcing will have the aim of giving confidence to the local context to grow existing work or start something new, enable them to place it at the top of the agenda and create an action plan.

• Youth workers employed will focus on enabling others/building volunteer capacity in the local context.

• Sundays matter: A recognition that the Sunday gathering matters and needs to say to young people you belong, they need to be accessible.

New Faith communities
Pioneering new faith communities, whose primary goal it is to reach children, young people and their families will be achieved through:

(i) In year 0-2 - intentionally planting/resourcing two/three new faith communities. This will require prayer, discernment, identifying leaders and contexts, a release of people, resource and space.

(ii) In year 2-5 – Telling the stories and gathering the learning as these communities grow and develop.

(iii) In year 5-10 - multiply!!!!

(iv) Drawing on the experience within Methodism and the experiences of other churches, in partnership with Home Missions.

Leaders who are young
Intentional passing on of leadership, engaging and releasing the under 25s into leadership that shapes the Methodist Church in Ireland. This will be achieved through:

(i) Training in mentoring and coaching skills for those who walk with young people.

(ii) Identifying and giving opportunities for young people to use their gifts and skills both locally, nationally, and globally to develop them as spiritual leaders.

(iii) Giving opportunities and spaces to explore vocation and calling, as already happens at Autumn Soul and Soul Mates.

(iv) Allowing young people to shape worship for their generation and the next both locally and nationally.

(v) Creating opportunities for children and young people to truly participate in the life of the local, connexional and world church by training volunteer leaders/workers and clergy in participation and hearing the voice of young people and children.

(vi) Developing and investing resource in Internship opportunities – pioneer and youth and children’s work.

(vii) Developing and investing resource in service/mission opportunities in Ireland and beyond.

(viii) Overflow type events developed to train young leaders across the whole island.
(ix) Safe space leadership opportunities at MCI events – where it’s ok to fail, apprenticeships alongside older leaders.

Theological resourcing

We will be a church that is engaging and informing on cultural issues so that young people have safe spaces to process the issues and questions relevant to their world and stage of development.

(i) This will involve producing and sourcing resources and thinking/thinkers that/who can engage young people theologically and in a Methodist way. This may involve investing in theological training for existing/new staff.

(ii) Safe spaces – through events regionally and nationally we will model creating safe spaces that allow young people to process issues and questions that matter to them, with significant adults.

(iii) An intentional shift from transactional programmes to building communities in which transformation happens. Resources and training to enable local churches to create these communities.

11. Procedures

- Circuits are reminded that all applications relating to the purchase, sale or renovation of manses are to be processed through the Property Board following consultation and sign off by the District Superintendent.

- Meeting dates for the Property Board and the Property Board Executive will be circulated to all Superintendent ministers during the month of July and the Board asks for completed application forms to be with the Secretary of the Property Board one week before the meeting. Application for Property Board forms and the submission of Property Board forms are from/to propertyboard@irishmethodist.org

- Consultation with the MCI Estates Manager should take place as early as possible to ensure all Statutory approvals are in place.

- Circuits are reminded that before Final Permission to proceed with a scheme is given that the Board needs to be satisfied that two-thirds of the finance is in place and the Circuit has the facilities to cash-flow the project.

- Circuits are asked to ensure that the Superintendent and Property Stewards attend the training on Property Board processes.

- Circuits are reminded that responsibility for the processing of applications relating to the purchase, sale or repair of manse has now moved to the Property Board. All such applications must first be agreed by the District Superintendent.

- Circuits are reminded of the Governance Board direction that the Property Board may only in exceptional circumstances consider provision of ‘open-ended’ bridging facilities to Societies due to the high risk associated with these arrangements.

- Circuits are reminded of the Governance Board direction that the Property Board may extend the loan term available from 5 years to 7 years and in exceptional circumstances for an amount in excess of £100k to 10 years subject to repayment capacity being demonstrated.

- Circuits are reminded of the direction that in all cases where major repairs and/or improvements are contemplated in respect of Trust property, application be made for such grants as may be available from the Local Authority.

It is important to consider how these extra expenses will be met, and how the employee will have access to them. The payment of expenses can create tension, although it should be straightforward to set up a structure. Advice should be sought from Human Resources: hr@irishmethodist.org

Shaun was the architect of the RBS scheme and worked on it for many years before its inception on 1st July 1984. He worked at that time with Bob Kerr who was a partner in the firm Sumner and McMillan, later becoming Kerr Henderson. Shaun had the task of encouraging ministers to move away from the "pay as you go" scheme to the RBS-funded one. The scheme accepted all those ministers who were in ministry and at least one day short of their 60th birthday on 1st July 1984. This he achieved with great success, negotiating difficulties along the way. The church owes him a huge debt of gratitude for all that he did in this regard, and for his faithful work and wisdom as a Trustee for over 31 years.

Ministers' Absence Fund

1. The Governance Board received the report of the Ministers’ Absence Fund.

2. The Fund was set up in 1995 and enhanced in 1998 to provide defined financial support when a minister is unable, through sickness or disability, to perform the duties of the ministry. Details of benefits etc., are contained in the Minutes of Conference 1998, pages 43-44, paragraph 11. Additional changes noted below

3. In recognition of the different patterns of sickness and disability that have emerged in recent years, and to be more consistent with current practices in the workplace in general, the Conference agrees the following changes as to how we deal with Sickness and Disability:

a. In the event of disability or sickness, Ministers will be paid full stipend plus allowances by the Circuit to which they have been appointed for up to a total of thirteen weeks in any four-year period.

b. After this initial thirteen-week total has been reached, Ministers will be paid full stipend plus allowances from the Ministers’ Absence Fund for up to a total of an additional thirteen weeks in any four-year period.

c. After both of these thirteen-week totals have been reached, Ministers will be paid fifty percent of stipend and fifty percent of allowances from the Ministers’ Absence Fund for an additional twenty-six weeks in any four-year period.

d. Employee pension contributions are to be paid by the Minister.

e. All periods of disability or sickness are cumulative over a four-year period across any circuit or any jurisdiction.

f. Any additional periods of disability or sickness will be paid at Statutory Sick Pay rates, or equivalent.

g. All short term and long-term periods of sickness must be reported to the Operations Manager.

h. The Ministers’ Absence Fund will continue to consider applications for Ill Health Retirement benefits in the event of diagnosis of a critical or terminal illness.

i. Ministers appointed to Departments of the Church will be treated in the same manner, with the Department fulfilling the obligations of a Circuit.
Methodist Ministers' Retirement
Income Augmentation Fund

1. The Governance Board approved the levels of minimum income in relation to the Augmentation Fund.

<thead>
<tr>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Married couple</td>
<td>£21,598</td>
<td>€23,442</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Widow/Widower</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. Eligibility and other criteria are detailed in the Minutes of Conference 2011, page 71.

3. Potential applicants should make contact with either of the two independent administrators:
   - Ms Irene Dickson       Tel: (028) 3832 6997
   - Ms Marion Smith       Mobile: 087 419 1602

4. In cases of need, the independent administrators can use their discretion to increase the benefits (consulting with the Audit, Risk and Budget Committee if necessary). In particular, this applies where an applicant's accommodation costs are higher than the minimum rent charged by the Methodist Ministers' Housing Society (25% of the IMMRF allowance).

5. The Conference refers to the Finance and Budget Sub-committee the determining of any question relating to special allowances.

Relationship of Ministers to the State Pension Schemes

All ministers and probationers serving in Northern Ireland are members of the state pension scheme. The Conference directs that circuits and ministers/probationers pay the employer's and employee's contributions respectively.

APPENDIX 4A & 4B
brought by the Council on Social on Responsibility and received by Conference

APPENDIX 4A: Facing into Poverty

Section One: Introduction and Remit
Conference 2022 passed these two paragraphs as part of a wider Resolution on poverty as it called:
“Conference also commends the partnership arrangement between the Council of Social Responsibility, Christians Against Poverty and the Trussell Trust as it seeks to encourage Methodists on the island of Ireland to Pray, Learn and Act with regard to poverty.

Furthermore, Conference directs the Council of Social Responsibility to gather information and reflect prayerfully on the nature of poverty on the island of Ireland and to report to Conference next year on a series of evidenced-based recommendations to local administrations – north and south – and to the Methodist people with regard to reducing poverty as well as encouraging practical actions to support those most in need.”

The partnership between the Council of Social Responsibility, Christians Against Poverty and the Trussell Trust did seek to encourage Methodists on the island of Ireland to Pray, Learn and Act with regard to poverty by the following actions:

Articles and posts on MCI Facebook and website as well as the Methodist Newsletter:
- Larne Food Bank
- The effect of poverty on the 5 City Missions
- Mental Health and poverty
- Child Poverty
- Debt awareness
- Disability and poverty

The effect of the present cost-of-living crisis as it has impacted on people as well as volunteers and employees of our partner charities and the 5 City Missions is reported on in Section Three below.

Play it by Ear was commissioned to produce 3 impactful monologues as follows:
- The Crisis: Homelessness
- The Crisis: Poverty which deals with the heat / eat dilemma
- The Crisis: Help? which focuses on the help offered by the likes of CAP with budgeting.

A detailed resource bank of relevant material on poverty is available on the MCI website.

Briefing material was provided to the President and Lay Leader in advance of their visit to Lisburn Food Bank and Seymour Street’s Damask project.

The partnership also resourced a Connexional Prayer meeting via Zoom.

CSR championed the Warm Space initiative and, with the willing support of the District Superintendents, an interactive data base of congregational and circuit outreach such as Warm Space, Food Bank, Uniform Bank or Baby Bank by way of illustration has been compiled as reported below in Section 5.

Finally, four podcasts on the theology of poverty and the Christian imperative to do all in the eradication of poverty has been commissioned. Section Four in this report refers to this Christian imperative.

In Section Two, the Council has gathered information and reflected prayerfully on the nature of poverty on the island of Ireland in order to report to Conference on a series of recommendations to local administrations – north and south – and to the Methodist people with regard to reducing poverty as well as encouraging practical action to support those most in need. These can be found in Section Six.

In all of this activity the three pillars of the partnership have been prevalent: to pray, to learn and to act. The two-fold purpose has to be to support with compassionate practical action those individuals and families who are most in need, and the Missions and charities working alongside them, as well as to act with passionate conviction to eliminate poverty in the first instance.

- Around 370,000 people (17%) are living below the poverty line in NI.
- Nearly one in every three is a child. Along with their parents/carers, they make up nearly 60% people living below the poverty line. More than two in every three children in poverty live in households where someone is working. The vast majority of the remainder (c. 40,000) are being looked after by the 23,000 lone parents living in poverty.
- Working age people without dependent children account for nearly one in every three people living below the poverty line.
- Around 43,000 working age people (without dependent children) living in poverty are people with disability.
- Almost one in every three pensioners in poverty (just under 10,000 of the 31,000) lives alone. Single pensioners make up about a quarter of all pensioners.
- The majority (60%) of people in poverty live outside the wider Belfast metropolitan area. Derry City and Strabane has the highest poverty rate of all council areas at 27%.

- Around 595,000 people (11.6%) are living below the poverty line in RoI.
- About 135,000 children up to the age of 18 or 13.6% are living in poverty.
- This rises for a single adult with a child(ren) to 22.8%
- For those over 65 years of age 11.9% are in poverty but this rises to 21.5% if a pensioner is living singly.
- The highest category, albeit combined, is for those who are either with long term illness or with a disability and stands at 39.1%
- Regarding location and proximity to Dublin, 8% for those living in Dublin and the Midlands are recorded as living in poverty (but there will be pockets of much higher poverty levels), whereas the northern and western counties are recorded at 18% in poverty.
- 9,825 people are homeless of which 2,811 were children.
- 5,143 single adults and 1,238 families are living in emergency accommodation.
15,768 presented to NIHE as homeless of which 6700 were children.
3481 families were accepted by the NIHE as being homeless

Some caveats to above table

- Statistics have been extracted separately from sources; there is no comparative information as such and next to no comparative academic research has been undertaken.
- The above does not compare like with like as there are considerable differences to tax, social security payments, what areas are particularly targeted and the time it takes to get payments into bank accounts, housing costs and availability.
- The housing crisis (ROI) is putting enormous pressure on many people. Many have to make severe choices about expenditure due to very high rents. While not necessarily showing up in these statistics, people's wellbeing is also greatly negatively affected by the unavailability of housing.
- Whilst both jurisdictions measure poverty at 60% of median income, indices of material deprivation are measured in the RoI, the nature and extent of which can vary annually.
- Whilst these are up-to-date figures (published 2022) at the time of submission, they are somewhat “skewed” due to the pandemic and they do not take account of the cost-of-living crisis / energy prices and food inflation as a result of the war in Ukraine.

Section Three: Lived experience of charities and Missions

We had originally considered seeking the views of those with lived experience of poverty but decided that it would be imposing too many demands on the already over-stretched staff and volunteers of the organisations we are partnering with as well as the City Missions. So we sought responses from our partners and Missions as to their experience as a charity over the last couple of years and what they thought would be their expectations and challenges over the next couple of years.

Christians Against Poverty

Times have been tough. Covid and then cost of living, really without a break, has been tough for us all. We thought we were seeing cost of living pressures during Covid, with people being at home more etc (and we were) but nothing like what came next without, really, any time for people to recover.

Our amazing frontline worked on through it all to help our clients, in so many practical ways, while times were and are tough for them also. Clients' cases are getting more complex - especially around mental health. One in five of our clients last year (2022 Client report based on 2021 client data) said poor mental health was a major reason for their debt. And debt is a big driver in mental health problems so there is a cycle that needs to be broken.

And then, unsurprisingly given the financial climate, you factor in falling incomes for charities like ours and the churches we partner with, just when we are needed the most, and this creates even more pressure on us all.

More complex cases, as has been happening. Deficit or broken budgets which is already a huge problem (about 50% of cases UK wide are now in the category) will continue to be a massive issue.
These cases are not proceeding and cannot proceed because client’s budgets do not add up and they can’t move on. There is no money to pay into a repayment plan and no money for court fees so they are “stuck”- placing pressure on themselves, on debt advisors/frontline, as they don’t see people progress, and on the sector as a whole, because people in this situation will have to keep coming back to us or others and there isn’t sufficient capacity for this.

Trussell Trust

Food banks in the Trussell Trust network provided 1.3 million emergency food parcels across between April to September this year - a record number for this six-month period. The cost-of-living emergency is impacting all of us. But for people on the lowest incomes, it’s simply impossible.

From April to September this year we have given out 32,000 emergency parcels to people in Northern Ireland. 13,400 of these were provided for children. This represents a 25% increase from last year and a 194% increase compared to five years ago. Almost 10,000 people in Northern Ireland were forced to turn to a food bank in the Trussell Trust network for the first time. It’s not right that people in our community are needing a charity’s help to put food on the table. Everyone in Northern Ireland should be able to afford the essentials.

But the rise in the cost of living is pushing more and more families through the doors of food banks.

According to new research by the Trussell Trust, one in five people referred to a food bank in the Trussell Trust network are in households where someone is working. This comes as food banks in our network are telling us, for the first time, that need for emergency food is outstripping donations as the cost of living emergency leads to a drastic increase in the number of people forced to turn to charity for support.

The current cost-of-living emergency is built on an existing crisis of destitution in our communities. The need for food banks has been steadily rising over the years as food banks and other frontline organisations plug the gaps in an insufficient social security system that is unable to protect people from the most severe forms of hardship. As our statistics show, the level of need for emergency food parcels seen in the mid-year period 2022/23 is more than we distributed in the entirety of the year five years ago.

The COVID-19 pandemic and the cost-of-living crisis have served to erode households’ financial resilience even further and have weakened the social security system. The increase in need for emergency food parcels that we have seen across the Trussell Trust network in the last 6 months, demonstrates how the cost of living crisis is forcing more people to the doors of food banks more frequently, because they simply do not have enough money to afford the essentials.

We also sought the response from the City Missions as to the impact the cost of living crisis was having on staff and on their organisation as a business / charity. The responses are generic.

Impact on staff from the 5 City Missions

Staff are facing increased concerns from Service Users. They encounter people not eating properly, nor tending to their medical needs due to the expense of travel, and not socialising. The concern of Covid has not entirely gone away for many older people.
Staff are aware that a lot of people whom they support do not have family members to help. The fear is for those people who do not have the Missions to support them will have no one to advocate for them.

The worries and concerns of Service Users impacts on staff wellbeing. It is, as has been described, a new strain of “compassion fatigue”. One respondent commented “You get into this line of work to do good. To help people. It’s getting harder and harder. The need of people is overwhelming and I am not sure how much more of watching people suffer I can take”. Added to this are the real fears that staff have annually or towards the end of the life-time of a funding stream in regard to their job retention.

Coupled with this, staff have their own personal concerns about affordability of travel and general living costs. Unsurprisingly, the cost of living crisis affects Mission staff just as much as anyone else.

Impact on Missions as businesses / charities

The 5 Missions vary considerably in location, outreach and resources but the mounting challenges being faced are common to all:

- Staff recruitment and retention: how can the charity sector compete with the supermarkets?
- Staff morale / wellbeing
- Increased waiting lists / demands matched by fears of reduced donations. The fear of reduced donations is considerable. More complex requests and cases are being referred to various services leading to a reduced throughput of Service Users, which in turn leads to people waiting longer for the service. This mirrors the issue of backlog in the health services.
- Energy and other costs
- Looking to expand social enterprise activities to generate additional funding streams, all in a very uncertain economic climate.

Section Four: Theological Reflection

Methodists in Ireland are encouraged to “live wholeheartedly as followers of Jesus for the transformation of the world.” What does that mean for the thousands living in poverty in Ireland and across the globe today? If the cost-of-living crisis is an urgent social need, what is the MCI missional response?

Christ did not only come to preach good news to the poor, but he also was a poor man. He was a Jewish man living under Roman rule under a system of exploitation.

When he said in Luke 6 “Blessed are you who are poor for yours is the kingdom of God”, two women read those words. One a single mum with a toddler in rented accommodation, her electric meter show 10 units left, no benefits expected for 4 days and little food in the fridge. The other, a single employed mum, who pays her electric bill by direct debit, can afford childcare, and the cupboards are well filled. To one the words will relate to her lived experience hoping for help, to the other it could be dreams of a spiritual home.

Old Testament writers spoke on the social injustices of their day but also demanded that the people of faith took up the cause to defend those in crisis (Isaiah 1v 17 Proverbs 3: 8-9). Carrying that into the New Testament, this section addresses the response of the early church to poverty and poses the question are there lessons to take forward? What are today’s churches missional imperatives from the early church stories?
Here are four early church lessons that brought new perspectives on society and the treatment of the poor.

1) To be Christlike in adopting an attitude of poverty. To one Jesus said “go and sell what you have and give it to the poor” to another “How hard it is for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God”. Paul speaks of Jesus “Though he was rich yet for our sake he became poor, so that by his poverty we became rich”. In following Jesus, a generous attitude to poverty is a faithful way to go. The imbalance of power that exists between the haves and have-nots could be addressed by the church adopting a simpler attitude to the accumulation of wealth by living a life of simplicity and service.

2) A sharing of resources so that no one need be poor. Acts 2; 44-45 gives one the earliest descriptions of the church. A community built on sharing their resources for mutual wellbeing is model for the church which has application beyond. When Jesus said “the poor, you will always have”, implies that the church will always be with the poor. The task of getting to know the poor and seeking to share life with all remains a challenge.

3) Finding Jesus in strange places. The parable of the Sheep and the Goats (Matt: 25 31-46) tells of faithful people being given opportunity to be Jesus to the naked, the stranger and to miss the opportunity leads to judgement. If you look hard enough you may find Jesus in the lives of the prisoner, the poor and the hungry. If there is no desire for mutual friendship, then there is no commitment to true love because mutual love only exists among equals.

4) A NEW SOCAL ORDER. When in the temple Jesus lifted the scroll and quoted “The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to bring good news to the poor, ... Release for the captives.... Sight of the blind... oppressed go free... and proclaim the year of the Lord favour.” (Luke 4: 18) Was Christ calling for a new world order that the church should be in the place of challenging injustice and demand social action? The fact we live in a country reliant on Food Banks shouts of a failed system that the church should be speaking out on.

As Gustavo Gutierrez writes “but the poor person does not exist as an inescapable fact of destiny. His or her existence is not politically neutral, and it is not ethically innocent. The poor are a by-product of the system in which we live and for which we are responsible. They are marginalized by our social and cultural world.... Hence the poverty of the poor is not a call to generous relief action, but a demand that we go and build a different social order.”

There can be no doubt of the rise of concern among Christians to address the issues of poverty with the giving of money, time, skill to help, but care is needed we don't create a “doing to” rather than “a being with” missional attitude.

Section Five: What is being done around Methodism?

Methodist people have always recognised that caring for those who find themselves in difficult circumstances is an important strand of Christian ministry. This is clearly demonstrated through the breadth and depth of work carried out by our five mission churches over many years.

In 2023 all three of our Districts participated in a survey to identify how many circuits were responding to needs they identified in their communities by developing a local ministry or supporting a ministry established by others. Of particular interest for this paper is the number of these initiatives which were commenced in response to the current economic crisis. Forty circuits across all districts responded to the on-line survey. Twenty-two circuits had commenced at least one new ministry between 2020 and 2023 giving a total of thirty-seven new ministries across the circuits. The most commonly reported ministries were warm welcome space type initiatives (14) and foodbanks (12) community meals (4), baby banks (4) and warm coats/clothing (3). Twenty of these ministries were delivered or supported in partnership with other churches in the community or with external voluntary organisations. It is important to note the commitment to long-established ministries reported from 20 circuits, (NB some of these reported new additional initiatives since 2020) which responded to local need in earlier years but who undoubtedly will have experienced greater demand with the recent cost-of-living crisis.

APPENDIX 4B:
CSR Statement on Racism and Homelessness

The Methodist Church in Ireland is deeply concerned about the current escalation of attempts to increase racial tension in Ireland. We have spoken about this concern in statements over recent years, but this present context is especially concerning.

We recognise our responsibility within our wider world. Earthed within our own historical consciousness is a recognition that people often have to flee dire circumstances and hope to receive a welcome elsewhere. As a country we have sought to respond to our international responsibilities in this regard. Probably due to our geography, we have not received as many refugees as other countries have. However, we must act upon our responsibility to be a place of refuge for those needing it and to listen compassionately and wisely to those seeking asylum.

We remember this sad first anniversary of the present invasion by Russia of Ukraine. We note that tens, maybe hundreds, of thousands have died as a result of this cruel war. Living conditions for many Ukrainians have been dire amid heart-breaking loss, upheaval, the threat of bombs and limited power and infrastructure this winter. It has been very right that Ireland has welcomed tens of thousands of Ukrainian people seeking refuge. This is alongside our welcome to those from other countries, such as Syria and Afghanistan, who have sought refuge here.

While always seeking to engage positively with government, and appreciating progress made, over the years we have been critical of the slow response by successive governments to the housing crisis in Ireland. It has both been a symptom of, but also resulted in, deepening divisions within society between rich and poor, and between those with a loud voice and the disenfranchised and those with power and those who feel at the mercy of others. There have been many factors at play in this ongoing social injustice. However, it is our view that there has simply been a lack of urgency to deal with it as a crisis. Practically, for many ordinary people, it is worse than a crisis. It has disastrous outcomes for people as they are consumed with worry about how to simply manage their normal lives given crippling rents when facing other life responsibilities and challenges.

The housing crisis both causes further division in society and intensifies the pressure on accommodation in terms of us helping others. Our frustration should lead towards a fairer society where all can live well, given the wealth of our country as a whole. It should lead us to action where it is within our opportunity. It should most definitely not be turned on those who are vulnerable or marginalised.

Political rhetoric and division can stagnate progress. We call on all politicians to use language that reflects the value and dignity of every person rather than being a reaction to the current debate. All the political parties come with experience of various input to government and opposition. We call on all political parties in Dáil Éireann to work together for the common good. We ask that all party leaders meet together to address these crucial challenges facing our country. Our country is not well-served by constant blame, excuses, calls for other parties to not exist or selfish vested interests. We are writing to each of the political party leaders with this request. We are also writing to the appropriate ministers to ask that information be disseminated by public representatives about Ireland’s legal responsibilities, and other information, including information on those who fall under International Protection.

Communities across Ireland have received Asylum Seekers over many years. In many settings there has been good communication between government departments and local representatives and communities. In many others the communication has been very poor, something which can lead to ignorance or misunderstanding. In any demographic change there will always be genuine concern about the welfare, safety, cohesion, available services and opportunities of all involved. These concerns must always be aired in safe settings, acknowledged and addressed where possible. The evidence in this country over past years and decades has been that when this happens, local communities not only live in peace but also thrive.

False information or a lack of truth is also a real concern when it comes to social media. There is a sinister deception associated with much of what has been and may be said during these times. There are many currently using various platforms to peddle disinformation around Ireland. They are using well-honed methods from around the world to intensify concerns, twist truth and create crises. This often happens through various pages named with individual towns or areas expressing ‘concern.’

Racism is nothing new in our country. It has existed in various forms and settings over the decades. And we are all prone to allowing our preferences to become prejudices. However, this is a moment when we need to recognise that racism has a particularly dangerous opportunity to take hold. We need to speak out and act against it.

As Methodists, and primarily as followers of Jesus, we are concerned to ask ourselves, ‘What is our responsibility at this time?’.

Our primary view of the dignity of all in society is more than equality, it is a recognition that all are children of God and reflect the image of God. Our interpersonal actions are orientated by a deep appreciation that each person is a beautiful creation of and loved by God.

- We commit to examining our own hearts. We come with our own preferences and limited knowledge and so we consider the potential dangers of ourselves being wrong or prejudiced.
- We both pray for and engage with our government and the various groups that are concerned for the welfare of the marginalised in society.
- We will use our speech compassionately and courageously. Where there are neighbourhood or workplace conversations about these topics, we will speak up with compassion, positivity and truth.
- We will be obstacles in the spread of fear, ignorance or misinformation.
- We will come alongside those who are hurting and the marginalised. We recognise that people from ethnic minority backgrounds throughout Ireland today suffer a wide range of racial attacks. These can be overt or subtle, but they are life-denying. We combat this by our words and actions in terms of how we can be life-giving to all.

- We will enhance cohesion in our communities. We are to be sources of healing, reconciliation, hope and joy in our society.
- We use our resources, even those most precious to us, to the benefit of others. Last year we committed to ‘open up our homes’ for those from Ukraine seeking refuge. We do so again.

Dedication
This report is dedicated to all survivors or victims of abuse that has occurred within the life of the Methodist Church in Ireland with the hope, prayer and intention that this work, findings and our response will contribute to making the Church a safer place for all.

1.0 Introduction
As a Christian Church, the Methodist people in Ireland are called to be a community of love, care, support and safety. We are to be the friends of all and the enemies of none. We recognise that while this has always been our intention, it has not been the experience and reality for all. We must be better. Consequently, the Methodist Church in Ireland chose to investigate its past actions. This was not caused by any specific issue or awareness of problems. Rather it was in response to the widespread awareness that various institutions, organisations, Christian denominations and others had failed to keep all as safe as possible in days gone by. This is a situation of great distress. Society has failed to adequately support those who are vulnerable. The Methodist Church chose to recognise this and to relook at its past experiences, actions and failings. Our intention has been to learn from the past in order to make the present and future as safe as possible for all who are in any way in the life of our Church.

This review was agreed by the Methodist Conference in 2020. The remit was to:
  a) identify and consider sample past cases since 1950 that have safeguarding concerns, review the response at the time, implement any remedial action and consider any lessons to be learnt to develop stronger practices, processes and culture;
  b) seek to establish whether there are any currently unreported cases, and where any are highlighted to investigate, implement any necessary action and consider any lessons to be learnt to develop stronger practices, processes and culture.
The only significant change made was to decide to review 100% of cases rather than a sample of cases. This was to ensure as full an understanding as possible, and in response to the recognition that there were fewer past cases than had been anticipated. It is our hope that any publicity around this report may encourage and enable one or more people to come forward and report to us their experience where this has not already happened. It is our intention that this report does not signal the end of something, but rather clearly articulates our desire to continue to learn from our past, no matter how painful this may be for us as a Church. Whatever pain we feel is merely a fraction of that experienced by those for whom their experience of our Church has been of abuse, neglect, cruelty, violence and harm. Even to write this is distressing, knowing the harm caused to others.

This report is presented with the full awareness that it speaks of our failures as a Church and our failures as individual followers of Jesus. We have failed to keep all in the life of our Church as safe as possible, and we have failed in our calling to be disciples of Jesus Christ. We are sorry and resolve to do whatever it takes to make the Church a place of complete safety for all from today onwards. We also note that we uncovered a number of examples where the Church was considered a safe place for a young person or adult to reveal abuse that had occurred to them unconnected to the Church. Such cases were also part of our investigation. We may have been found to be a safe space and acted well, but there is still much for us to learn so that this becomes the experience of everyone.

1:1 We Apologise
We apologise. The Methodist Church in Ireland apologises without reserve to all those who have been victims of abuse in the life of our Church. We have failed you, failed society and failed our Saviour. Our processes that were designed to protect all have not done that. We have caused pain that goes beyond measure. We apologise that we have not been the beacon of light that we are called to be. It has taken us too long to recognise our failings and face up to the truth. We have failed to listen carefully to what we were being told in the past. We apologise.

1:2 Our Way Ahead
Now that we know what we know, there is no longer any possible defence for failure in the present or future. We do not offer a defence for the past but we resolve that the present and future will be different because of what we have learnt. We accept again, as a Church and as individuals, the Covenant prayer we renew each year. We renew this in light of our failings and sin, and seek in God's strength to be different.

’Sisters and brothers in Christ, let us again accept our place within this covenant which God has made with us and with all who are called to be Christ’s disciples. This means that, by the help of the Holy Spirit, we accept God's purpose for us, and the call to love and serve God in all our life and work.
Christ has many services to be done: some are easy, others are difficult; some bring honour, others bring reproach; some are suitable to our natural inclinations and material interests, others are contrary to both; in some we may please Christ and please ourselves; in others we cannot please Christ except by denying ourselves. Yet the power to do all these things is given to us in Christ, who strengthens us.
Therefore let us make this covenant of God our own. Let us give ourselves to him, trusting in his promises and relying on his grace.
Eternal God, in your faithful and enduring love you call us to share in your gracious covenant in Jesus Christ. In obedience we hear and accept your commands; in love we seek to do your perfect will; with joy we offer ourselves anew to you. We are no longer our own but yours. I am no longer my own but yours. Your will, not mine, be done in all things, wherever you may place me, in all that I do and in all that I may endure; when there is work for me and when there is none; when I am troubled and when I am at peace.

Your will be done when I am valued and when I am disregarded; when I find fulfilment and when it is lacking; when I have all things, and when I have nothing. I willingly offer all I have and am to serve you, as and where you choose. Glorious and blessèd God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, you are mine and I am yours. May it be so for ever. Let this covenant now made on earth be fulfilled in heaven. Amen.’

2.0 The Methodist Church in Ireland (www.irishmethodist.org)
The Methodist Church is a worldwide communion of over 70 million people which originated from the time of the Wesley brothers, John and Charles, in the mid-eighteenth century. John and his hymn writer brother Charles were members of a group of young men who met daily to pray and study the Bible whilst at Oxford University. Nicknamed ‘the Holy Club’, they were so methodical in their lifestyle that they were called Methodists, a name which eventually became that of the religious movement and denomination which followed.

2.1 Early History
John Wesley made the first of his twenty-one visits to Ireland in 1747, finding 280 Methodists who had been gathered together in Dublin by pioneer lay preachers. The first chapel was opened at Dublin in 1752 and the first conference was held at Limerick in the same year. Emigrants from Ireland during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries were of immense importance in spreading Methodism to other parts of the world. They included Barbara Heck, Philip Embury, Robert Strawbridge, and Robert Williams, pioneers in the United States of America, and Laurence Coughlan, the founder of Methodism in Newfoundland.

2.2 Basis of Belief
The Constitution of the Methodist Church in Ireland sets out the basis of belief as follows:
‘The Methodist Church claims and cherishes its place in the Holy Catholic Church, which is the Body of Christ. It rejoices in the inheritance of the Apostolic faith, and loyally accepts the fundamental principles of the historic creeds and of the Protestant Reformation. It ever remembers that, in the Providence of God, Methodism was raised up to spread scriptural holiness through the land by the proclamation of the evangelical faith, and declares its unfaltering resolve to be true to its divinely appointed mission.’

‘The doctrines of the evangelical faith, which Methodism has held from the beginning, and still holds, are based upon the divine revelation recorded in the Holy Scriptures. The Methodist Church acknowledges this revelation as the supreme rule of faith and practice. These evangelical doctrines to which the preachers of the Methodist Church, ministerial and lay, are pledged are contained in Wesley's Notes on the New Testament and the first four volumes of his sermons.

‘The Notes on the New Testament and the forty-four Sermons are not intended to impose a system of formal or speculative theology on Methodist preachers, but to set up standards of preaching and belief which should secure loyalty to the fundamental truths of the Gospel of Redemption and ensure the continued witness of the Church to the realities of the Christian experience of salvation.’

A more detailed understanding of Irish Methodist belief is found at on the Connexional website, see: MethodistBeliefs_web.pdf (squarespace.com)

2.3 The Ethos of Methodism
The Methodist Church seeks to be a Christian community which is open and welcoming to all. At its heart is the conviction that everyone can know and experience the love of God for herself or himself. God's love changes us to be more Christ-like. It is also to be shared with the whole community, in particular with the most vulnerable. Thus, City Missions are an important part of Methodism. Methodists stress that God's love affects the whole person, body and mind as well as spirit. Consequently education and wholeness are high values for the church.

2.4 Membership
The Methodist Church in Ireland has about 200 churches or 'societies' with a total community membership of around 50,000. There are more Methodist Churches and people in Northern Ireland than in the Republic of Ireland, but in each jurisdiction the Methodist people seek to play a full part in national and community life.

2.5 Governance and Organisation
The Methodist Church in Ireland extends throughout the island, and refers to itself as 'the Connexion', to remind individual members and local churches of their interconnected and interdependent nature. Methodism's structures are shaped by its origins. A local congregation, also known as a society, is administered by a Church Council. A large society or a group of societies form a circuit, which may have one or more ministers, is in the care of a Superintendent minister and administered by a Circuit Executive. A group of circuits forms a District, overseen by a District Superintendent and currently there are three Districts: North Eastern, North Western and Southern.

The supreme court of the church is the Conference, which is the final authority in the Church in all matters of doctrine, worship, discipline and order. Each year the Church elects a President, who serves for that year. The Church also elects a Lay Leader, who has a two year term of office. The Secretary of Conference acts as General Secretary of the Church. Lay and ordained people, both men and women are involved in decision making at all levels. The Methodist Church in Ireland has ordained women since 1978, and women may serve in all positions in the Church. A system of committees deals with a variety of issues within the Church.

Methodism has made an important contribution to Irish education, including the establishment of Wesley College in Dublin, Methodist College in Belfast, and Gurteen College in Co Tipperary-this last a college of agriculture. It has developed a wide-ranging social work service, largely through its five city missions in Dublin, Belfast, Newtownabbey and Londonderry, which control several homes for the elderly, hostel accommodation for needy men and woman, and day care centres for the elderly. An increasing number of churches in other towns provide a range of services on their premises, including luncheon clubs, community advice centres, pre-school play groups, practical help and work with the elderly.

3.0 Safeguarding in the Methodist Church in Ireland
The Methodist Church in Ireland (MCI) is committed to the safety and wellbeing of all who are part of the life of our Church in any way. We are particularly conscious of our responsibilities towards children and adults at risk of harm.

3.1 Recent past
MCI received its first Child Protection report, ‘Keep them safe’ in 1995, which was also the year that training commenced. The Child Care Act (RoI) 1991 and the Children Order (NI) 1995 were the legislative frameworks which underpinned this. Since 2004, MCI's Child Protection Policy has been called 'Taking Care', written in conjunction with our colleagues from the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. This has been updated twice now to ensure that the Church has the most current policies and procedures in place. Through 'Taking Care', MCI obligated all churches to appoint a Designated Person to work closely with the minister and be responsible for overseeing Child Protection at society and circuit level.

In 2005 it became a requirement in MCI that all leaders (paid and voluntary) should attend MCI safeguarding training at least once every three years. In 2006, MCI made vetting checks compulsory across Ireland within MCI. This reflected legislative changes in Northern Ireland (Protection of Children (NI) Order, 2005) and Republic of Ireland (Criminal Justice Act 2006). In 2016, it became a requirement that all leaders should attend training regardless of other/ external training. In 2020, MCI introduced compulsory re-vetting for all leaders (lay and clergy) through MCI every three years.

3.2 Today
In 2019 the church moved from having a part-time to a full-time Connexional Safeguarding Officer who is responsible for the provision of a comprehensive Child Protection training programme for leaders, volunteers and ministers across the island of Ireland. The MCI processes vetting forms through the National Vetting Bureau and AccessNI. Vetting checks must be completed through MCI at least once every three years for all working with under 18s, whether paid or voluntary. All who work with children, young people or adults at risk of harm under the auspices of MCI must attend training provided by MCI at least once every three years.

This work is overseen by the Connexional Safeguarding Board which meets at least 4 times per year, and which reports annually to the Governance Board of the Methodist Conference.

As a recognition of the importance of Safeguarding and an example of increasing commitment, the MCI has increased its expenditure as follows:

4.0 Background to this Report
The Past Cases Review (PCR) process of the Methodist Church in Ireland was established by Conference 2020. An Interim Report was presented to the Governance Board in March 2022 with this Final Report presented to Conference 2023 as agreed in the original timeline. The purpose of this review has been to ascertain if there are any Safeguarding issues that have previously occurred within the life of the Methodist Church in Ireland which, were they subject to today’s standards, would be considered unacceptable, inappropriate, unethical or in some cases illegal. The two specific tasks have been to:

A) identify and consider sample past cases since 1950 that have safeguarding concerns, review the response at the time, implement any remedial action and consider any lessons to be learnt to develop stronger practices, processes and culture;

B) seek to establish whether there are any currently unreported cases, and where any are highlighted to investigate, implement any necessary action and consider any lessons to be learnt to develop stronger practices, processes and culture.

4.1 Membership
Chair: Dr Deborah Webster
Vice Chair: Rev Dr Stephen Skuce
Members: Ms Cathy Bell, Rev Ruth Craig, Ms Gillian Kingston, Rev Paul Maxwell, Ms Kathryn Minnis, Ms Sinead Whiting
All the PCR team are members of the MCI with the exception of Dr Deborah Webster who is a member of the Presbyterian Church. Dr Webster’s appointment was in light of her expertise in the area and to give a further level of external objectivity to the process and help assure all that this review has been rigorous throughout.
The process has been supported by many colleagues within the MCI including the Secretary of Conference, the Safeguarding Officer and administrative team members.

4.2 Contact
The main way used to contact the PCR was by pastcasesreview@irishmethodist.org and details of the process have been publicly accessible at Safeguarding — The Methodist Church in Ireland (irishmethodist.org). We continue to invite anyone with safeguarding concerns to contact the Methodist Church via safeguarding@irishmethodist.org. The MCI’s safeguarding policies and further details are found at Safeguarding — The Methodist Church in Ireland (irishmethodist.org).

4.3 Scope
The life and work of the MCI has been considered. This included but was not limited to our ministers, lay employees and local church members; the various departments and teams of the Church and the range of activities including our work with children and young people, residential events, overseas trips and ministers in training at Edgehill College. It includes some semi-independent events eg Castlewellan Holiday Week and its predecessors, and On Fire for France. Such activities may not formally be or have been under the control of MCI but are MCI through and through and so it is appropriate that they have been considered.
This Review has not considered the work of our three existing Methodist schools, nor the work of Gurteen College. While these are clearly Methodist, they have a level of independence that means ongoing review is better carried out through their governing bodies. Each was contacted and in responses they each assured the process of their good wishes and interest in learning anything that might emerge from the review. We have not considered the work of our mission partners when in training in Britain or in their overseas appointments. During such periods of time, up to and including the present, our mission partners serve under the structures of the MCB and come under their support and accountability.

We have considered issues from 1950 onwards. That said, any disclosure prior to 1950 would be considered actively and if already known to some extent by the Church it would be included in the review. If it was a very historic but new disclosure it would be dealt with like any other new disclosure and referred to the MCI Safeguarding Officer who would consult with the relevant authorities irrespective of the age of a potential perpetrator or indeed whether they were already deceased. Consequently events prior to 1950 are not excluded from the scope of this review, but 1950 is taken as a realistic starting point. For the purposes of the review, a ‘safeguarding concern’ is defined as any concern that a child or adult may have been at risk, been suffering or had suffered abuse, or that someone represented a risk of abuse to others.

4.4 Timeline
Nov 2020: process begins and all ministers asked for a response
Jan 2021: all current lay employees asked for a response
Feb 2021: all circuits asked for a response, and process publicly launched
Feb 2021: past cases selected through anonymous process for consideration
June 2022: interim report to Conference
June 2023: final report to Conference and findings publicly available

5.0 Number of Cases
The initial number of recorded cases under consideration within the period being considered was 61. The overwhelming majority of recorded cases date from 1998 onwards. When this was clarified the review quickly decided to consider 100% of cases rather than a sample. However the relatively poor recording means that 61 is an inflated number. Within that number there is one duplication, there are two unsigned ‘Agreement between Offender and Church/Circuit’ forms reducing the number to 58 but in one record there are two distinct cases bringing the number back to 59. Twenty nine recorded cases are not cases at all but rather records of advice given, or updates ‘Agreement between Offender and Church/Circuit’ covenants. In all cases a record was needed, but they were not cases in themselves. In particular this highlighted the lack of a systematic approach to recording and then monitoring ‘Agreement between Offender and Church/Circuit’ processes.

5.1 Final Number
The accurate number of past cases is 30. While this is a relatively small number and not on the scale recorded in a number of other denominations or institutions even allowing for the size of Methodism, there is no comfort taken in this small number of cases. Like all other denominations we assume that there are unrecorded cases, and part of the purpose of this review is to seek to uncover anything that is currently unknown. A number of these cases resulted in no action being taken due to no inappropriate actions having occurred. But even with this small number of cases, there is still more than enough issues to consider. We sadly have plenty of cases to learn from.

This demonstrates a recurring issue of relatively poor administrative structures that need to be addressed. In recent years cases have been held by the Secretary of Conference, Director of Ministry and Safeguarding Officer, due to their various responsibilities. Some issues that were brought to the President’s Advisory Committee are relevant to the PCR process. All the cases held by the Safeguarding Officer have been considered. The Secretary of Conference and former Director of Ministry have considered the potentially relevant cases they hold and drawn a number to the attention of the PCR. The Chair and Vice Chair have had access to 100% of these cases and have randomly sampled cases not drawn to their attention to ensure their confidence that the appropriate cases have been highlighted. An example of a case that is held by the Secretary of Conference but not relevant to this review is where the marriage of a minister has broken down and there are no safeguarding issues involved.

5.2 Type of Case
Within the 30 recorded cases there are a range type which includes the following:

1. inappropriate physical violence that did not result in any police action
2. peer to peer physical, sexual or emotional abuse that did not result in any police action
3. inappropriate relationships between young adult leaders and teenage participants
4. inappropriate use of social media
5. no issue to address, after investigation
6. abuse that resulted in police action

The cases normally involved an accusation against a lay volunteer leader. There were 6 cases that involved ordained ministers and 3 that involved lay employees.

A number of recorded cases were when a young person or adult in the life of the Church made their first disclosure of abuse that happened to them but unconnected to the Church or to a leader. These are recorded as cases but are examples of where the Church was considered to be a safe place to disclose this abuse and where the Church was able to assist in supporting the young person or adult and engaging with the appropriate statutory authorities.

6.0 Work Undertaken
The PCR process began in July 2020 and in Oct 2020 the Chair, Dr Deborah Webster, was confirmed. The Chair and Vice Chair have met approximately every two months. Considerable work was necessary to confirm the range of potential cases held. The case files were standardised, assigned a case number, held online in a secure site and individual cases made accessible to specific members of the PCR when allocated.

6.1 Methodology
All Methodist ministers were contacted in November 2020 to request a response to the process and there has been a 100% response by stationed ministers and a significant response by retired colleagues. All current and many previous lay employees were contacted in January 2021 to request a response to the process and there has been a good uptake. An actual response rate cannot be determined given the range of lay employees contacted, the very part-time nature of many of the roles and that contact details are not necessarily available for other than current employees. All circuits were contacted in February 2021 to request a response to the process and there has been an adequate uptake.

The requests for responses to ministers and lay workers, circuits and anyone was to help achieve our 2nd requirement which was to discover any unreported cases. It is hoped that the submission of this final report will be a further point when some may feel now is the right time to disclose something previously not disclosed. Any publicity around the report may further assist individuals to contact the MCI with new information, and again this is welcomed. That should be done via safeguarding@irishmethodist.org or to the President, Secretary of Conference or a District Superintendent. All contact details are readily available on the connexional website www.irishmethodist.org. The Methodist Church will always want to hear from anyone with concerns to raise, assures all that we are a safe space for such disclosures, that we will follow our published guidelines and processes and will never seek to silence any voice contacting us. We need to hear.

The PCR invited submissions from anyone who considers that they had something relevant to share. Where information has been received about a circumstance that was to that point unknown to the Church, this has been treated as a new disclosure and immediately passed to the Safeguarding Officer to follow up and is not considered to be a part of the PCR.

Wider publicity on the review was created by a public launch on 1 February 2021 with information circulated and material available online. Ecumenical partners have been advised of this MCI process and advice has been received from the Methodist Church in Britain who conducted their own past cases review process with a final report published in May 2015.

Later than originally anticipated, past cases began to be reviewed by the group in October 2021. The process for doing this has been that the Chair randomly chose case numbers and then initially also randomly assigned which team members would consider which case. Each case was accessed through a secure site online by the two or in some cases three team members reading that particular case. It was read separately and then the sub team met online to agree their findings using a proforma which was then passed to the Vice Chair.

The proforma itself was confirmed by the Chair and Vice Chair who considered several draft proformas and used it in a pilot case to finally confirm the document to use. The Chair, and Vice Chair, have had access to 100% of material while the team members have had access to those cases assigned to them.

In November 2021 the Secretary of Conference drew one case to the attention of the PCR requesting it be considered and this has been done. This was because the ongoing work of the review process has raised awareness regarding safeguarding issues and the Secretary of Conference was aware that in at least one specific historic case the MCI may not have acted as comprehensively as it would do so today. This case is reflected upon in this final report.

The Vice Chair reported regularly to the MCI Safeguarding Board, to the General Committee and since July 2021 its successor the Governance Board.
The PCR process has been noted by the Independent Chair of the Inter-Departmental Working Group on Mother and Baby Homes, Magdalene Laundries and Historical Clerical Child Abuse. In November 2020 Judith Gillespie met with the Secretary of Conference and the Vice Chair of the PCR to discuss some general questions, consider the ongoing work of the PCR process and concluded that no further questions needed to be asked of the MCI at that time. As part of this the PCR process invited the Inter-Departmental Working Group to consider appointing someone to our PCR group. This offer was made to further demonstrate and ensure full objectivity and rigour in this MCI process. The Inter-Departmental Working Group thanked us for the invitation but were content that we continue as we are.

7.0 Reports
The PCR has read various relevant reports from recent years and those that have been published during the ongoing work of our PCR. The British Methodist Church 2015 report Courage, Cost and Hope is particularly relevant, and a number of Irish focused reports are also of significant importance to us.

In 2020 and 2021 reports covering both jurisdictions in Ireland considered the historic Mother and Baby homes. As Methodists we note the following:

1. the MCI never had Mother and Baby Homes or anything equivalent to Mother and Baby Homes
2. we were happy to be associated with such homes at the time such as individual Methodists serving on the Bethany Home Dublin committee and in an official way through our annually appointed President being vice president of Hopedene, Belfast
3. there were Methodists as mothers with babies in one or more homes
4. there were very likely Methodists employed in such homes
5. our ministers pastorally visited such homes
6. our ministers almost certainly were involved in arranging admittance to such homes
7. our ministers may have been involved in arranging adoptions
8. we do not appear to have been critical of such institutions in their day
9. we do not have much evidence to think that our MCI orphanages were much more than very well meaning institutions that reflected all the attitudes and approaches of their day.

While Methodism has not been criticised in any way in these reports, we do not consider that we are without blame. We were part of the culture in that era that enabled the violence, abuse and mistreatment in such homes to happen. A biblical analogy may well be found in the story of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:25-37). At the time the MCI may well have considered that we were part of helping the needs of the vulnerable, and indeed we did that to a high level. We were the Samaritan assisting the person who had been attacked. However, like the Priest and the Levite we also passed by on the other side of the road to where abuse and harm was happening, either not noticing, or choosing not to notice. Like almost all others, we have no record of taking actions at the time to challenge the abuse in such institutions, or to challenge the wider culture that allowed such actions to continue. Like the rest of society at the time, we were part of the problem.
8.0 Past Cases Review Findings
Through the systematic investigation into the past cases related to safeguarding held by the Methodist Church in Ireland, a number of issues and themes emerged. These point to practices and procedures which may have been normal in a particular era but are considered below the level required today. These are detailed below and are followed with a number of recommendations. What also became clear is that such a past cases review may be a one off process, but the need to constantly review policies and processes will remain. The Methodist Church needs to be constantly self-critical, to very quickly change as we continue to learn, and to maintain safeguarding as a highest priority.

8.1 Findings

1 The historic record keeping of the Methodist Church in Ireland has been weak with missing documentation and imprecise records. In case files there is reference to letters or emails received but in a number of cases these have not been retained. In a small number of cases links to other Irish Methodist records that may have some bearing on a case or its outcome have not been made. This is to such an extent that in certain situations we do not have clear evidence that the correct processes were followed. It became clear during this review that current practices have also been weak. These have been addressed but point to the need for the Church to be constantly self-critical.

2 In our records, there are examples where it is not clear when an actual allegation has been made, who has made it, how is it addressed and resolved and what is the precise outcome.

3 Historically we have not considered the needs of victims and survivors as well as we should have.

4 Historically we have treated one or more ministers who have confessed to wrongdoing with a degree of financial generosity.

5 Historic activities that were associated with the MCI and have now ceased have not retained records. In such cases no incidents have been recorded or emerged in this process, but the absence of records makes it hard to be certain that good practice at the time was consistently followed. That said, data protection legislation requires the deletion of files that are of no current relevance and there is no question of wrongdoing being raised. But, the absence of any centrally held records is still an issue, albeit a minor one.

6 MCI has had several office holders responsible for safeguarding related cases. Currently the Safeguarding Officer, Secretary of Conference and up to June 2021 the Director of Ministry, have all been responsible for cases. Historically it is not clear who was aware of a situation.

7 Historically there were too many committees looking at related areas. This may be largely resolved with the reduction in the number of Connexional committees and the appointment of District Superintendents, who are full time regional leaders and involved across the full life of the MCI.

8 There have been occasions when an individual has met with representatives of MCI who are seeking to understand and resolve a situation. At times such a meeting has been held with MCI ministers when it would be helpful to have an MCI lay person as well as a minister present and involved.
9 Historically individuals have been able to take up chaplaincy roles with little or no training or preparation.

These findings result in the need to address a numbers of areas in the life of the Methodist Church. Whilst ensuring a piecemeal approach was avoided, there were still two areas that were considered so weak that an immediate remedy was necessary and these are detailed below. This indicates both the urgency of the work of this review, and the desire that the Church should be as safe a place as possible for all, as quickly as is possible. There are no circumstances where delaying important developments is acceptable.

8.2 Developments
In Dec 2021 the MCI process for recording safeguarding cases was strengthened. It was considered that this should not wait until an interim or final report, but on the advice of the Chair was acted upon with immediate effect and now MCI has a much more robust system in place to record and retain safeguarding relevant information.

In Dec 2021 the Secretary of Conference initiated wider consideration on the implications of a particular historic case and reported this to the PCR. The Secretary of Conference, in consultation with the connexional HR Manager is in the process of putting into place a system for the holding of personnel files on all ministers and lay employees. This is not directly as a consequence of this this review but it emerged as a likely recommendation and so it is noted that this is being addressed.

9.0 Recommendations
In order to protect all within the life of the MCI, to be as safe a space as possible, and better reflect our calling as Christian disciples and witnesses to the love of Jesus Christ, the following are recommended to be accepted by the MCI at Conference 2023 and then to be implemented with immediate effect.

Record Keeping
1 Significant further revision to administrative processes including but not limited to record keeping to ensure that full documentation from any cases is retained, to ensure that where necessary and remaining confidential that such case notes are made available to others within the life of the Church as required and that senior Church leadership is aware of any concerns or circumstances when making decisions. This will include our stationing of ministers to appointments.

2 Where the Safeguarding Officer gives advice to be followed, or where another senior leader in the life of the Church gives advice to be followed, that this is given via email in addition of any other communication. This is to ensure advice is clear, that a record can be maintained and that follow up is easier to maintain.

Training
3 The MCI needs to develop and deliver further training to assist ministers, lay employees, leaders and others in the life of the MCI to understand how to better help survivors in the life of local congregations.

4 MCI further reviews its training and safeguarding processes for events that are directly run by the Church or indirectly run by the Church, and that have a residential aspect.
5 The MCI Safeguarding training programme and processes are reviewed annually and this is reported to our annual Conference.

6 Greater attention is given to safeguarding in the area of social media, use of smartphones and other technological advances. The MCI needs to be at the forefront of societal developments to ensure there is no lag in the training offered and processes followed.

Offender contracts

7 An immediate review of all 'offender contracts' in the life of the MCI. This includes developing a centrally held comprehensive list, revisiting each contact, ascertaining whether it is still active, how successful it has been and developing a process to provide regular, systematic review of such contracts.

Church Organisation

8 The Connexional Safeguarding Board is required to ensure the full implementation of these recommendations within the year that lies ahead and report to Conference 2024 as regards this. This Board is responsible for ongoing learning from our past. This will include a formal audit of Safeguarding practice in 2028, reported to the Governance Board.

Theology

9 The Faith and Order Committee of the Methodist Church in Ireland is requested to develop a Theology of Safeguarding, to further underpin Safeguarding in the life, witness and ministry of the church. This to be reported to Conference in 2025.

Personnel

10 The important role of Safeguarding Officer for MCI is reviewed annually in terms of appropriate support being offered such as ongoing training and development of practices via an enhanced annual review process.

Pastoral Care

11 The Ministries Policies and Procedures Committee is to review the Methodist Church Disciplinary Process in light of this report and with particular regard to ensuring pastoral care and support for all involved in such circumstances.

Disciplinary Process

12 If there is a disciplinary process involving a minister, and they offer their resignation during this process, that their resignation is not accepted until the completion of the disciplinary process. For lay employees the appropriate processes will be completed.

Methodist institutions and Organisations

13 The MCI invites the four educational institutions of which we are the patron body and where there are Boards of Governors acting on behalf of the Church, to undertake their own Reviews in a timely manner and report to their governing bodies. These are Wesley College Dublin, Methodist College Belfast, Gurteen College Tipperary and Rathgar National School Dublin. No issues have emerged during this review process that raise any concerns and each institution has in place appropriate and robust safeguarding process. However, as part of our focus on ensuring that all aspects of the life of the MCI, including our educational institutions, are as safe as can be, and to ensure we learn as much as is possible from the past, we recommend this review process in these institutions.

14 The MCI invites related organisations including the five Methodist City Missions to undertake their own reviews of safeguarding issues in the life of their institution both in the past and in the present. Again, no issues have emerged during this review process that raise any concerns and each organisation has in place appropriate and robust safeguarding process. However, as part of our focus on ensuring that all aspects of the life of the MCI are as safe as can be, and to ensure we learn as much as is possible from the past, we recommend this review process for these organisations.

10.0 Conclusion
It is the intention of this report to shine such a light on our past that we can clearly see what has happened, learn from this and be a better and safer place because of this. We seek to continue to do this by implementation of the recommendations and to commit ourselves to continuing to learn.

To the best of our abilities we have:

A) Identified and considered all past cases since 1950 that have safeguarding concerns, reviewed the response at the time, implemented any remedial action and considered any lessons to be learnt to develop stronger practices, processes and culture;

B) Given opportunities to hear and so learn from any previously unreported cases, and investigated any such cases, implemented any necessary action and considered any lessons to be learnt to develop stronger practices, processes and culture.

We will continue to do so. We offer this report to the Methodist people in Ireland, and to wider society. As a result of this work and the implementation of the recommendations that will follow, current safeguarding policies and practices will improve. Consequently, this will ensure that everyone involved in or in any way associated with the life and ministry of the Methodist Church will be better protected both today and in the future.
