Launch Your Sustainability Career in Council Fire's Future Leaders Program

Our award-winning global change agency serves at the forefront of the sustainability movement, helping organizations build positive and lasting social, economic, and environmental impacts to benefit themselves and the world.

Join our next cohort of FLP members supporting the ground-breaking efforts of our clients. We recognize the high barriers to entry in the sustainability field and created this program to open a critical career pathway for diverse candidates and those historically underrepresented in the sustainability arena.

"We are in a race against time to make dramatic shifts in environmental, social, and economic performance worldwide. It's all hands on deck – we need to bolster the number of qualified and passionate people working on these global challenges that simultaneously present historic opportunities. By exposing Future Leaders to the full breadth of opportunities and avenues in which they can develop expertise and build their networks, we can help develop our future rockstar leaders in sustainability. The FLP offers a critical early-career boost for diverse candidates."

Program Details:

This program is fully remote and selection is highly competitive. Candidates are chosen on a rolling basis and participation is limited to a maximum of two years. FLP Members are paid as independent contractors when selected for client projects and are provided other enrichment activities as members of our team. Given the episodic and part-time nature of the work, members retain the flexibility to have another job or pursue educational opportunities while simultaneously engaging in the FLP.
