The Senior Advisor AAP/CCE would also provide support, if they are deployed.

Responsibilities

Advisory and technical support:

1 This field of work has many different titles, e.g. ‘accountability to affected populations’, ‘communication and community engagement’, etc. However, regardless of the terminology, it refers to a set of activities that help put communities at the centre of humanitarian response, by integrating communication and participation throughout the programme cycle.
2 The term ‘working group’ refers to any multi-stakeholder platform for the coordination of AAP/CCE - in some contexts these platforms have different names, however, for the purposes of this document the term ‘working group’ is used throughout.
→ Conduct a desk review of AAP/CCE documentation relating to the response, if one is not currently available.

→ Facilitate a rapid self-assessment of current cluster/sector AAP/CCE practices throughout the programme cycle to measure current performance against global commitments. This process could use the IASC Commitments on Accountability to Affected Populations, or the Core Humanitarian Standard as benchmarks.

→ Identify, document and share context-specific best practices on mainstreaming AAP/CCE approaches.

→ Disseminate tools, guidance and promote practice that ensures integration/implementation of AAP/CCE standards and principles in the humanitarian programme cycle.

→ Provide on-call services to clusters/sectors and partners on enhancing AAP/CCE in their programmes. Including advising and providing expertise to UN and partner organisation managers, senior officers and other public information staff on a range of AAP/CCE issues.

→ Provide advice on the tools and approaches needed to ensure that each stage of the HPC is integrating global good practice to deliver on the global commitments on AAP. For example, supporting the Joint Needs Assessment/Multi-Sector Needs Assessments to ensure questions are suitable to provide actionable information to guide decision-making, and that the findings of these assessments are reflected in the Humanitarian Needs Overview and Humanitarian Response Plans, or equivalent planning documents, and the cluster/sector operational plans that are developed from these.

Coordination:

→ Initiate, convene, facilitate and coordinate an AAP/CCE working group (WG). Working with government partners (where feasible), local civil society, CDAC Network members and other relevant humanitarian and non-humanitarian actors (e.g. mobile network operators, media, etc.), ensuring discussions are participatory, results oriented and well-documented.

→ Actively promote national actors’ membership in the WG – where possible helping broker partnerships with international actors.

→ Maintain the profile of the AAP/CCE WG and ensure strong representation of community engagement needs and priorities in inter-sector fora (e.g. ICCG, HCT or equivalents, etc.).

→ Develop a 4Ws (who does what, where and when) matrix on AAP/CCE activities with input from each of the clusters/sectors. Focus on activities which have an impact beyond a specific project/programme, are of concern to other organisations and that need to be coordinated.

→ Coordinate the implementation of a community engagement needs assessment (if one has not been conducted), in order to understand community information needs, communications preferences, languages spoken and understood, community dynamics, social norms, cultural beliefs, superstitions and other anthropological

Annex 1

Background:

It is necessary to include the people affected by humanitarian crises and their communities in decision-making to be certain that the humanitarian response is relevant, timely, effective and efficient. Engaging the communities and facilitating their participation enables people, vulnerable to and affected by crises, to lead and shape positive, sustainable change in their own lives, communities and society. To do so, it is important to provide accessible information, ensure that an effective process for participation and feedback is in place and that design and management decisions are responsive to the views of affected communities and people. Donors and aid organisations should work to ensure that the voices of the most vulnerable groups considering gender, age, ethnicity, language and special needs are heard and acted upon. This will create an environment of greater trust, transparency and accountability (IASC).

The Grand Bargain is an agreement between more than 30 of the biggest donors and aid providers, including a participation revolution: to properly include people receiving aid in the decisions that affect their lives. The Core Humanitarian Standard on Quality and Accountability sets out nine commitments, including that communities and people affected by crisis know their rights and entitlements, have access to information and participate in decisions that affect them, and can raise complaints that will be addressed.
The IASC Commitments on Accountability to Affected People and Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse similarly commit responders to inform, as well as solicit, hear and act upon the voices, priorities and feedback of affected people (including sexual exploitation and abuse-related complaints) and ensure people can play an active role in decision-making.
