POSITION DESCRIPTION
PROGRAM OFFICER – EDUCATION
CHARLES & HELEN SCHWAB FOUNDATION
San Francisco, CA or Remote – September 20, 2023

ABOUT THE CHARLES AND HELEN SCHWAB FOUNDATION

The Charles and Helen Schwab Foundation (CHSF) envisions a world in which all people lead fulfilling and choice-filled lives. CHSF funds solutions in education, housing, and employment that increase economic power and wellbeing in historically marginalized communities. We prioritize innovative approaches that advance racial equity and remove systemic barriers that perpetuate generational cycles of poverty. In March 2023, the Foundation’s board of trustees approved a new strategic plan that focuses on public education nationally, and housing and homelessness in the Bay Area. We are eager to add to our team at this exciting juncture in the Foundation’s history as we begin to implement our new strategy.

Public Education
Our education work is anchored in the belief that all families, especially those from historically marginalized communities, should have the power to choose from a diverse set of schools that meet their children’s academic and emotional needs. We focus on the creation and growth of public charter schools that are driving significant learning gains for low-income children of color. To complement our schools work, we fund human capital programs, advocacy efforts of parent-led and community-based organizations, and innovations in school design and the future of learning. We also focus on ensuring students have the preparation and agency to pursue pathways of their choosing to post-secondary success by supporting better, faster, cheaper, and more equitable routes to a degree and/or professional credentials and certifications.

Housing and Homelessness
Our housing and homelessness work is anchored in the belief that housing is a fundamental human right. All Bay Area residents, especially those from historically marginalized communities, should have the opportunity and agency to choose safe, affordable, and secure housing. We focus on increasing the supply of high-quality temporary housing options, and support complementary efforts targeting job training, case manager support, and improved flow into and out of temporary housing. We also focus on prevention efforts and expanded pathways to employment and stable careers for extremely low-income populations.
Our Grantmaking Approach
We center our grantmaking on two core principles.

Racial equity: While we organize our work around two distinct program areas, we view racial inequities in our public schools and in our housing policies as inextricably intertwined. We prioritize racial equity in our grantmaking to address historically rooted and ongoing disparities in educational access and outcomes, economic mobility, and stable and affordable housing. We intentionally invest in solutions that seek to redress these disparities and in organizations led and informed by people of color who are most proximate to the work and have the most at stake in change and progress.

Doubling down and breaking new ground: We are committed to investing in what we know works. We support proven models that aspire to grow and increase their impact. At the same time, we know that without new approaches we will continue to see the same results. So we also seek opportunities to be founding or early supporters of innovative efforts to reimagine existing solutions and seed or scale new ones.

Who We Are and What We Believe
We are a small, dynamic team with diverse experiences and perspectives. We are former public school teachers, school leaders, school systems administrators, public health researchers, policy and advocacy practitioners, environmental advocates, and long-time philanthropy leaders. We are motivated by working to break the correlation between zip codes and positive life outcomes.

We believe that:
- The problems we are trying to address are complex but fundamentally solvable.
- Our work first and foremost is in service of and in partnership with our grantees and the individuals, families, and communities they serve.
- Doing good is great but making lasting change is better.

How we operate:
- We are professional but non-hierarchical and informal. We take the work but not ourselves seriously.
- We approach our work with the passion, urgency, and resilience it demands.
- We work to be self-reflective and embrace a continuous improvement mindset as grantmakers and team members.
- We work to be empathetic, transparent, responsive, and humble as grantmakers and team members.
- Everyone’s voice and experience matters. We work to build trust that enables us to know each other and our grantees as people and be vulnerable and authentic with one another.
- We work to ensure all members of the team have a fulfilling work experience and opportunities for personal and professional growth.
- We actively seek to collaborate with our funder peers to learn from their experiences and better leverage our collective impact.
