Jenny Oehler

Jenny Oehler is a Senior Specialist of Clinical Quality in the James M. Anderson Center at Cincinnati Children's Hospital. Jenny is currently the course Director for ImpactU. ImpactU is a six-month hands-on course designed to provide community leaders with an in-depth understanding of Improvement Science and build a broader community of improvement leaders. Jenny has a zest for teaching and a passion for coaching others.

Jenny has worked at Cincinnati Children’s Hospital for over 20 years. She began her career as a pediatric inpatient, medical-surgical/neurological nurse and then an Emergency Room nurse. Jenny’s various experiences in education and quality improvement include doing active improvement projects as a bedside nurse, educating, and coaching teams in quality improvement methodology.

Ndidi Unaka

As a pediatric hospitalist, Dr. Unaka cares for children with common general pediatric diagnoses who are admitted to the hospital and also care for medically complex patients. Dr. Unaka believes in providing family-centered, evidenced-based and compassionate care. She is committed to meeting the unique needs of patients and families in partnership with all members of the healthcare team.

Dr. Unaka is passionate about diversity and inclusion, and the benefits we can all enjoy when our healthcare workforce reflects the population it serves. Additionally, Dr. Unaka teaches and mentors students and pediatric trainees and work to foster their understanding of the importance of health equity and hopes trainees embrace their role as an advocate for children and families.

Hiawatha Francisco

Hiawatha Francisco has spent nearly 20 years in educational administration. He received his BA from the University of Notre Dame. Where he graduated in 3 1/2 years. Francisco got his MS In Technical Education form the University of Akron. Hiawatha started his Ph.D in Education Administration at The Ohio State University. Although he did not complete the program he did obtain the ABD (All But Dissertation) status.

Hiawatha Francisco is a product of Cincinnati Public Schools from Preschool to 8th Grade. Hiawatha truly believes that he got his educational foundation from CPS. He attended Cincinnati Archbishop Moeller High School from 79-83. Moeller is an all boys school, where he had to work all summer to pay for his tuition each year. Although he did not see any money, he did benefit from the decision when he received a full athletic scholarship to the University of Notre Dame for football.
Kate Hilton

Kate Hilton coaches people around the globe to build individual and organizational capability to address the adaptive, human-side of change. As Leadership Faculty at the Institute for Healthcare Improvement, Kate supports IHI's teams, collaboratives and large-scale change efforts in the use of leadership, organizing and change management methods to advance and sustain improvement, health equity, population health and joy in work. She authors peer-reviewed articles and white papers, including IHI's Psychology of Change Framework. Kate also serves as Leadership Director in the Atlantic Fellows for Health Equity program at the Fitzhugh Mullen Institute for Workforce Equity at the Milken Institute School of Public Health at the George Washington University.

Kristen Gasperetti

Kristen Gasperetti, a Project Management Specialist within the All Children Thrive (ACT) network, dedicates her efforts towards supporting the Well-being with Community team as part of Safe and Supported Families. She has a Bachelor of Science in Health Sciences from the University of Cincinnati and is currently working on her Master of Public Administration, with a concentration in Social Justice at the University of Cincinnati. Kristen has worked in a variety of non-profits prior to coming to Cincinnati Children’s. Her previous experience focused on several social determinants of health, including housing, economic mobility, and education. She earned a graduate non-profit management certification from Northern Kentucky University in 2013.

Katie Pendergraft

Katie Pendergraft is the Senior Communications Specialist for the All Children Thrive (ACT) network. She received her Bachelor of Science in Public Health and Health Promotion from Miami University of Ohio. Katie is passionate about reducing health inequities and disparities in the Greater Cincinnati area and working to ensure that every person has the opportunity to attain his or her full health potential.

His mother, who was an educator for Cincinnati Public Schools for 18 years, became a big influence on his decision to go into education. She was a great inspiration to his family. With her love and determination they were able to obtain college degrees and continue in their chosen professional fields. She told Hiawatha at a young age that she saw great potential in his ability to someday be a leader, both on and off the field. His Mom believed that he would make a great Administrator someday and he attempts to live up to her expectations everyday.

He is grateful for the opportunity to work with great teachers and young people and look forward to making a difference and helping to make Cincinnati Public Schools a better place to learn and grow.
Carley Riley

Carley L. Riley is the Safe and Supported Families Improvement Team Lead and Assistant Professor and Attending Physician with the Division of Critical Care at Cincinnati Children's. Carley is a lead investigator within the Well-being Research Team, an academic-industry research collaboration between Yale University Center on Outcomes Research and Evaluation and Healthways, Inc. Carley is also a member of the 100 MillionHealthier Lives Metrics Hub, as well as a 100 Million Healthier Lives Measurement Advisor.

Mary Reid

Mary Reid has over 30 years of experience in working with children and families impacted by poverty. Earning her Master's degree in Social Work from Howard University in Washington, DC and her law degree from UIC John Marshall Law School in Chicago, IL, she has worked as a social worker in the child welfare, mental health and school settings. She has practiced law as a GAL-Attorney with Hamilton County’s Public Defender’s office. Currently she is the Social Services Director at the Society of St. Vincent de Paul – Cincinnati District Council. She is on the boards of Strategies to End Homelessness and eXclusive Services – Integrated Healthcare Facility as well as the Advisory Board for the Social Work Department of Mt St. Joseph’s. Mary is the single mother of a 27 year old son who is a graduate of The Ohio State University and Xavier University and who is currently a School Counselor in Middletown. Her motto is “Be kind to everyone you meet, for everyone is fighting some kind of battle.”

Nora Buzek

Nora Buzek is a Quality Improvement Specialist within All Children Thrive and supports the Excellent and Equitable Health Outcomes community and population health work.

Vivian Sevilla

Vivian Sevilla, Quality Improvement Specialist within All Children Thrive (ACT), has extensive experience in continuous improvement and affecting change in health and social outcomes. Before coming to Cincinnati, she led population health and criminal justice improvement efforts in Asheville, NC. She holds a Master's Degree in Business Administration with a concentration in healthcare. When she is not working, she enjoys the outdoors, spending time with her spouse, and making floral arrangements!
Melody Siska

Melody Siska is the Vice President of Quality and Advanced Analytics at Cincinnati Children’s Hospital Medical Center. She leads a team of Quality Improvement Consultants, Quality Outcome Managers, Data Analysts, Project Managers and other health care and quality experts to change the outcome for pediatric health initiatives. She and her colleagues work to improve clinical outcomes and process improvements with a patient centered focus. The work happens within the walls of the hospital, in the community, and across the country through learning networks designed to learn and spread. She and her team are responsible for establishing quality programs, training, and obtaining results on strategic projects. Her background includes multiple industries mainly through her work with IBM’s global business consulting. Melody was responsible for implementing quality improvement systems for the Department of Defense, Barclays Bank in London, Bank of America, American Airlines, Transportation Security Administration and numerous other clients.

Tony Spitznagel

Tony Spitznagel, Quality Improvement Specialist within the All Children Thrive (ACT) network, dedicates his efforts towards supporting Cincinnati Public Schools and their adoption of quality improvement as the “CPS Way”. He has a Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering from the University of Cincinnati. Tony holds multiple certifications in quality improvement methodologies and change management. Tony managed a team as a process improvement engineer in the manufacturing industry for seven years before pursuing a new career direction with Cincinnati Children’s in 2018.

Dwayne Spencer

Dwayne Spencer is a Senior Quality Improvement Specialist within the Leadership Academy at the James M. Anderson Center for Health Systems Excellence. Dwayne is also the co-director of the Lean Collaborative and has been teaching Lean and employee engagement techniques for nearly 30 years. Dwayne has an MS in Human Resource Training and Development from Villanova University and joined Cincinnati Children’s six years ago to to apply his Lean skills in the healthcare setting.

Dwayne lives on a small farm in the country with his wife of 43 years, has two daughters (which thankfully live in the area), nine grandchildren who keep him very busy, a rescue border Collie, and two donkeys who keep his fields trimmed!

Chris Alexander

Chris Alexander has a Master of Science degree in Quality Systems Management. He has been a quality improvement specialist with Children’s since June 2014. For the last 3.5 years he has supported quality improvement efforts within Cincinnati Public Schools. His interest with reliability science is based upon his experience as a retired pilot and aviation safety officer in the Coast Guard.
Christina Harding

Christina Harding, MS, is a Senior Quality Improvement Specialist within the All Children Thrive (ACT) network dedicated to supporting teams to achieve transformational and sustainable change using improvement science principles. Christina has been with Cincinnati Children's since 2012, and prior to joining Cincinnati Children's, Christina directed quality and patient safety initiatives at the Ohio Hospital Association leading both national and statewide initiatives to reduce adverse events and improve the culture of safety in Ohio hospitals. Leading policy work at the Ohio Business Roundtable, she successfully brought together over 25 public and private organizations and partnered with the state legislature to co-author the “Healthy Choices for Healthy Children Act” (HB 373/SB 210) that passed in 2010 helping schools to improve the health of their students with stricter requirements for vending machines, physical activity, and BMI measurement. Christina attended Stanford University for undergraduate and graduate school, completing her graduate research in India. She holds various certifications in leadership and quality improvement methodologies.

Geneita Singletary

Geneita Singletary is a Community Engagement Specialist within the All Children Thrive (ACT) network and has extensive involvements in community service, engagement, and partnership development. She has a Bachelor of Science degree in Human Resource Development with a concentration in Labor and Employment Studies from the Oakland University of Michigan. Three years ago, before coming to Cincinnati Children's from Michigan, she managed a healthcare clinic and led development and implementation of community outreach strategy and programs to impact health outcomes for chronic disease for the Hispanic and African American communities. She enjoys the outdoors, traveling, and spending time with her two grandchildren.

Rob Kahn

Robert (Rob) Kahn, MD, MPH, is the executive leader of the All Children Thrive network. Rob is a general pediatrician and health researcher. His main interest lies at the intersection of poverty and child health, trying to understand what leads to worse health among poor children, and where we might intervene most effectively. Rob attended Princeton University and Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, he completed his residency in pediatrics and a fellowship in primary care research at Children's Hospital in Boston. He is the director of the Community Health initiative and of the Cincinnati Child-Health Law Partnership.
