

2024 Duthoy Doctor of Education Scholarship

The “Scholarship” Tuition Waiver Award

There are three available scholarships to be awarded. Each scholarship offered is a tuition waiver; recipients will not receive any monetary funds. This tuition waiver will cover up to 7 years of the EdD program. As the program duration could extend up to 7 years, awardees will receive an annual tuition waiver, detailed below. If recipients complete the program before the 7-year period, the scholarship will conclude upon graduation, and no additional funds will be provided.

Academic Expectations

Awardees of the scholarship must maintain good academic standing throughout their program and remain continuously enrolled. Failure to maintain continuous enrollment will result in forfeiture of the scholarship, although students facing extreme extenuating circumstances may petition the Chief Academic Officer for reconsideration.

Social Media and Announcements

The University retains the right to announce scholarship recipients on social media platforms. Recipients may also be asked to contribute to the University's promotional efforts by providing a photo or video for social media and announcements, as well as potentially speaking at graduation ceremonies.

Upon being awarded the prestigious scholarship, recipients will receive messaging templates enabling them to announce their achievement. They are permitted to include this accomplishment on their resume, LinkedIn profile, and other social media platforms, subject to approval from the marketing team.

Steps to Apply – Prospective Applicants

Prospective students seeking scholarship consideration must first apply and gain acceptance into William Howard Taft University's Doctor of Education program. Upon acceptance into the program, applicants will receive a link to submit their scholarship application. The deadline for scholarship application is April 10, 2024. Successful applicants chosen to receive one of the three scholarship awards will be notified by April 20, 2024. To secure the scholarship, awardees must enroll in the program by April 26th and commence their studies on either the April 30th or June 25th start date.

Steps to Apply – Current Students

Incoming and first-year students who have commenced and are still within their first year of study are eligible to apply for the scholarship. Current students seeking eligibility must maintain a GPA of 3.0 or higher and remain in good standing with the university. The university will provide all eligible students with a link to the scholarship application.
