DBT Program Fidelity Checklist (DBT PFC)

(Harned & Schmidt, 2022)

Instructions: This checklist has been developed as a clinical tool to evaluate the extent to which a DBT program is structured to include the critical elements of comprehensive DBT. This checklist should be used with the corresponding training manual that provides detailed information about how to rate each item. Please complete the following items as they pertain to the program's general structure and approach to delivering DBT.

V.	GENERAL TREATMENT STRUCTURE AND APPROACH
	*10. There are contingencies in place that make it clear when a client is no longer in treatment (e.g., 4-miss rule) and to avoid reinforcing suicidal behavior (e.g., 24-hour rule).
0	Program does not have contingencies in place that make it clear when a client is no longer in treatment $\underline{and/or}$ to not reinforce suicidal behavior.
1	Program has contingencies in place to make it clear when a client is no longer in treatment and to not reinforce suicidal behavior, but these contingencies are not consistently enforced.

	*11. DBT program continuously monitors client progress.
0	Program does not monitor outcomes, assesses irrelevant outcomes, and/or relies solely on data not provided by clients (e.g., parent report).
1	Program inconsistently monitors outcomes (e.g., does not routinely collect diary cards or other relevant outcome measures).
2	Program routinely monitors client outcomes, including tracking of targeted behaviors daily/weekly (e.g., via a diary card) and other relevant outcome measures if indicated.
	Optional comments:
	*12. DBT program adheres to an agreed to length of treatment and extensions depend on evidence of client progress and recommitment.
0	There is no length of treatment agreed to at the beginning of therapy.
1	There is an agreed to length of treatment, but extensions are allowed without evidence of client progress, a solid rationale for continuation that is discussed in team, and/or recommitment.

1	Program meets with caregivers to exchange information, but caregivers are not systematically included in treatment when indicated (e.g., parents of minors do not receive skills training).
