REDLINING HERITAGE TRAIL TOURS
Saturdays, 11:30AM - 1PM
The history of redlining and the Civil Rights movement in Seattle is necessary as we continue to explore themes of gentrification and displacement. Take a walk with us to hear the stories of home, and to celebrate BIPOC communities that are currently and were historically marginalized in Seattle. These tours run in conjunction with our newest exhibit, Nobody Lives Here. Learn more at wingluke.org/redlining

RESISTANCE AT HOME EXHIBIT
ON VIEW SATURDAY, APRIL 8
Along with artist collective Flower Flower, YouthCAN interrogates notions of home in a historic neighborhood.

GUMA’ GELA’ EXHIBIT OPENING
ON VIEW FRIDAY, JUNE 9
Witness the work of the Guma’ Gela’, a queer Chamoru art collective from the Marianas and in the diaspora. Explore their motto “part land, part sea, all ancestry” through original art, adornments, and design.

REORIENT EXHIBIT CLOSING EVENT
SUNDAY, MAY 7, 11AM - 12:30
Last week to view the exhibit, Reorient: Journeys Through Art & Healing. This closing event will raise awareness on the importance of our emotional and mental health and how art and expression can be used as tools for nurturing our sense of identity and overall well-being.
