Please note that there are many, many more articles in 2022 and many more articles in 2023. I am not commenting on these for the most part.

Note: The name calling by Hanna is frequent. “COVID gump, Bob, sherpa, horsey, Bobby, etc” are all names he uses for me. So, the name calling in the post below refer to me.

BTW- I never received any payment from the crypto community, with the exception of booking airfare to Porto Rico and a hotel room.

<RWM This substack starts with a direct video of Paul Alexander and Jane Ruby, discussing my links to pedophilia and corruption (all made up) as well as casting shade on whether I invented mRNA vaccines>.

(LifeSiteNews) — A newly formed group of physicians, the Pandemic Health Alliance insists on alternative ways of treating COVID-19. Instead of pointing to the vaccine as the most effective way to prevent death and disease, these medical doctors stress the importance of treating the virus early on, using effective medications such as ivermectin and hydroxychloroquine.

Speaking with Steve Bannon, host of “War Room: Pandemic,” Dr. Robert Malone, Dr. Heather Gessling, and Dr. Ryan Cole explained that some 15 physicians met a few days ago in San Juan, Puerto Rico, to discuss their experiences with early treatment and with different early treatment protocols, as well as writing a manifesto. Malone is the president of this new Pandemic Health Alliance. Gessling successfully treated about 1,500 patients with COVID-19, none of whom died. She is the group’s medical director. Cole is the director of research.

“We are here not to discuss the vaccine,” explained Malone, the original inventor of the mRNA technology. Instead they came together to defend “the freedom of physicians to practice.” Doctors are “being prevented from providing early treatments,” he said, referring to pharmacies blocking certain prescriptions. “We are in a situation where the government has seized control of the medical profession and this is causing death,” Malone continued.

June 16, 2021: Digital Media and Bitcoin Pioneers Launch Roundtable

Digital media and Bitcoin pioneers partner to launch Roundtable, a decentralized media network focused on News, Politics and Crypto/Blockchain, leveraging strategic media assets, capital, distribution and technical infrastructure. Long-term platform partnership with Maven gives Roundtable considerable boost at launch.

San Juan, Puerto Rico. Visionary technology founders Brock Pierce, James Heckman and David Bailey have been the architects behind some of the world's most important digital innovations and ecosystems, including global currency, digital media and ad-tech, reaching and changing the lives of millions, while creating billions in lasting value for investors and consumers. The trio now plan to combine their experience, relationships and innovative technical talent to empower, finance, distribute and monetize hundreds of the world's top political and crypto/blockchain journalists, activists and passionate news producers. The tie to cryptocurrency will eventually be technical and structural, as the founders assert it as not just technology but a political movement towards privacy, self-sustainability and true liberty.

Bitcoin evangelist and Crypto/Blockchain legend Brock Pierce explained the intersection of Crypto and Politics: “Blockchain followers see the world differently, uninterested in old ideas. We believe we can reverse what has become a divisive tone that dominates American politics and media. That alone is worth our time and resources. We will launch with a foundational audience of revolutionary consumers, open-minded, positive people, who are not tied to any party or fixed point of view,” said Pierce. “We believe in a brighter future, created in an open, fair, free media marketplace, where the value of ideas are determined by the people – rather than centralized newsrooms, which today are using censorship and personal attacks to drive their narrative. We’re all-in on saving the world from this polarization.”

What’s not to like?

You go down to Puerto Rico and Miami. You have new benefactors.

Dr. Paul says $10-G a month. Nice.

Probably some good business opportunities along the way.

And plus you are helping people with early treatment protocols.

Saving lives!

Win-win.

Credentialism and Thought Leaders

While Jill and I were in Maui, we were approached by some amazing thought leaders on the island, by the names of Andrew Aken, Edward Dowd, Thomas Lewis and Barry O'Keefe. These men came to us with a document they had written entitled "The Malone Doctrine". This doctrine, regarding integrity in organizations is fundamentally important.

We believe that "The Malone Doctrine" should become a central component of the core values and guiding principles for any ethical organization involved in health and wellness oversight, delivery, policy and/or medical research. Every physician that I have asked to review this document has agreed - this gets right to the heart of the problem which has resulted in this amazingly dysfunctional global public health response to the SARS-CoV-2 outbreak. A pervasive lack of integrity.

The Roundtable Team

Brock Pierce, Chairman & Co-Founder

Brock Pierce is an independent political thought leader, a cryptocurrency and blockchain technology pioneer, a venture capitalist, philanthropist, and a critically-acclaimed Disney childhood actor, whose global influence has expanded opportunity for millions. Pierce is the Chairman of the Bitcoin Foundation and the co-founder of Block.one, Blockchain Capital, Tether, and Mastercoin. Pierce has been accredited with establishing marketplaces for digital currency which have brought opportunity and wealth to millions across the globe. Pierce has lectured at some of the nation's most prestigious institutions, the Milken Institute Global Conference, International World Congress, and has been featured by the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Fortune. Pierce was on the first-ever Forbes List for the "Richest People in Cryptocurrency" and was a Independent Party candidate for President of the United States. Pierce starred in feature films such as "The Mighty Ducks," and "First Kid."

It became clear to me very early on that The Science is composed of ethically dubious people who are conscripted into the One Company Monster Town.

(Of course I was a Sweet Summer Child and was fixated on Tier One Baddies like that MEAN ANTHONY FAUCI who is bad and needs to be tossed in jail. GET 'EM RAND PAUL.)

This is going to be the hard part.

Because logically all you need when you control all the nodes is quarter turns all the way down.

At each node.

And you just need to put them in enough of a Double Bind that they choose the least worse option.

Can you really blame Tier Two?

They just want to feel special inside. They can't hear the laughter when the mean Monster Media comes down hard on them. Can you blame them for being seduced by the powerful interests who arrive to save the day?

I suspect that some decent people were brought in as Sweet Summer Children, sans one in particular individual, and then along the way went to the party and felt pretty.

SKY Covion™

Suspension and emulsion for emulsion for injection

COVID-19 vaccine (recombinant, adjuvanted)

▼ This medicinal product is subject to additional monitoring. This will allow quick identification of new safety information. You can help by reporting any side effects you may get. See the end of section 4 for how to report side effects.

Read all of this leaflet carefully before you receive this vaccine because it contains important information for you.

- Keep this leaflet. You may need to read it again.
- If you have any further questions, ask your doctor, pharmacist or nurse.
- If you get any side effects, talk to your doctor, pharmacist or nurse. This includes any possible side effects not listed in this leaflet. See section 4.

What is in this leaflet

1. What SKY Covion is and what it is used for
2. What you need to know before you receive SKY Covion
3. How SKY Covion is given
4. Possible side effects
5. How to store SKY Covion
6. Contents of the pack and other information

1. What SKY Covion is and what it is used for SKY Covion is a vaccine used for preventing COVID-19 caused by SARS-CoV-2 virus.

SKY Covion is given to adults aged 18 years and older.

The vaccine causes the immune system (the body's natural defences) to produce antibodies and specialised blood cells that work against the virus, so it may give protection against COVID-19.

None of the ingredients in this vaccine can give you COVID-19.

2. What you need to know before you receive SKY Covion

SKY Covion should not be given

- if you are allergic to the active substances or any of the other ingredients of this medicine (listed in section 6).

Warnings and precautions

Talk to your doctor, pharmacist or nurse before you are

Pregnancy and breast-feeding

If you are pregnant or breast-feeding, think you may be pregnant or are planning to have a baby, ask your doctor or pharmacist for advice before taking this medicine.

Driving and using machines

Some of the effects of vaccination mentioned in section 4 (Possible side effects) may temporarily affect your ability to drive or use machines. Wait until these effects have worn off before you drive or use machines.

SKY Covion contains sodium

This vaccine contains less than 1 mmol sodium (23 mg) per dose of 0.5 mL, that is to say essentially 'sodium-free'.

SKY Covion contains potassium

This vaccine contains less than 1 mmol potassium (39 mg) per dose of 0.5 mL, that is to say essentially 'potassium-free'.

3. How SKY Covion is given

Your doctor, pharmacist or nurse will inject the vaccine into the muscle (usually in the upper arm).

You will receive 2 injections. The second dose should be administered 4 weeks (28 days) after the first injection. You will be told when you need to return for your second injection.

When SKY Covion is given for the first injection, the second injection to complete the vaccination course should also be with this vaccine.

If you miss an appointment for your second injection of SKY Covion

If you forget to go back at the scheduled time, ask your doctor, pharmacist or nurse for advice.

It is important that you return for your second injection of this vaccine as you may not be protected against COVID-19 after the first injection. This is because the immune response in people who have never been infected by the SARS-CoV-2 virus is low after the first injection.

If you have any further questions on the use of SKY Covion, ask your doctor, pharmacist or nurse.

4. Possible side effects

Transcript:

“...and in 1990, they found that there was a problem with vaccines. They didn't work.”

“They didn’t work.” Satisfied grin and I will definitely be speaking with co-presenter Dr. Robert Malone about SKY-Covion at dinner after I shout about biowarfare and stuff and give the people some red meat

“You know why they didn’t work?”

“I’m enjoying this as I lead you down the path...the vaccines for coronavirus don’t work! Hence if a person on this panel has Sherpa-ed them through regulatory processes, that person should be scrutinized...or not...it’s humanity. Humanity is the problem.”

Martin continues.

...It turns out that coronavirus is a very malleable model. It transforms, and it changes, and it mutates over time, and as a matter of fact, every publication on vaccines for coronavirus from 1990 until 2018...every single publication concluded that coronavirus escapes the vaccine impulse, because it modifies and mutates too quickly for vaccines to be effective.

And since 1990 to 2018, that is the published science, ladies and gentlemen. That’s following the science. Following the science is their own indictment of their own programs that said it doesn’t work.

THIS IS AN ACT OF BIOLOGICAL AND CHEMICAL WARFARE...

So it’s all here.

Cleverly hidden behind Pfizer Bad and then a code switch to some vague “their” programs and then a code switch to THIS IS BIOLOGICAL WARFARE! tough talk and an interview which says the problem is humanity.

The Devil is in the details. (Literally.)

Is it going to shock you if COVID Gump is somewhere lurking nearby?

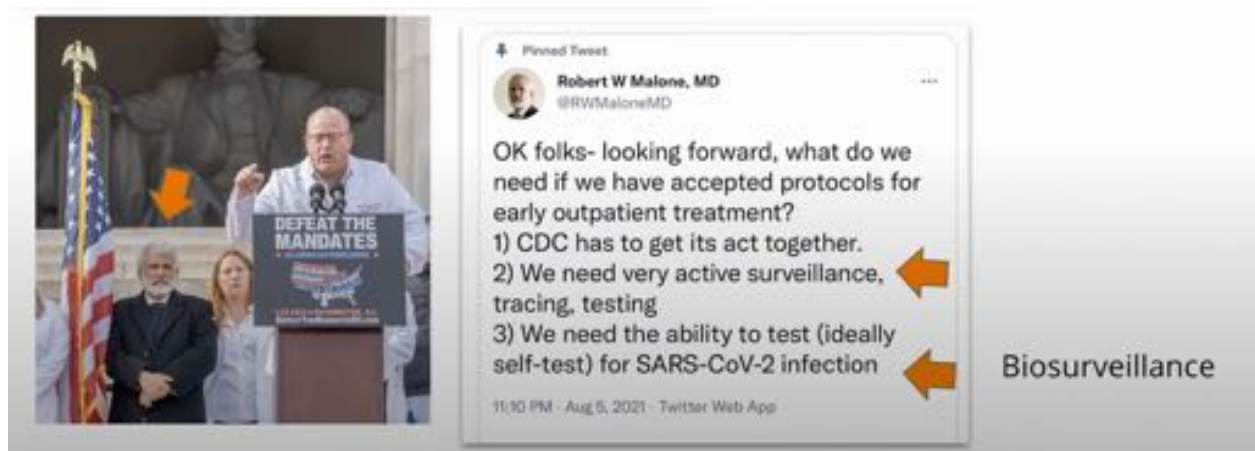

Damn, Martin, calm down with all the biowarfare shit! (😓) editor's note: This is not a quote. No lawsuits, please. We are still litigating the Jack Link's fake sponsorship matter.

Not only is he at the same Brussels Nothing Burger Conference, but Robert Gump had conveniently taken a gig with Novotech in 2019 just a few months before that whole NOVEL CORONAVIRUS EMERGED in Wuhan.

I hope that Bob was able to direct NOVOTECH and client SK Bioscience on this elusive coronavirus impulse.

Of course, Bob was also consulting with India and Reliance and nothing matters, because we have a novel coronavirus (🤔) and it will require vaccines and everybody wanted a vaccine says Trump and Kirsch wanted fluvoxamine and pandemics are big business and double as Rockefeller's All the Way Down herd culling and Vaccine Passport surveillance ops.

And Bob would soon be plunged into “alternative treatments” for the above with DTRA and DOMANE. Like say, Pepcid AC and Celebrex.

Do We Need a Vaccine for This Coronavirus? Did We Ever?

Malone:

I performed a threat assessment during the first week of January, 2020 concerning what I was able to discover regarding SARS-CoV-2, and determined that there was insufficient time to develop a safe and effective vaccine for the virus (and also noted the horrible history of prior attempts to develop human vaccines for other coronaviruses), and then spun up a highly skilled team (and got them funded) focusing on repurposing existing licensed drugs for treating the disease.

Here we quickly establish that Dr. Robert Malone is fully aware that coronaviruses do not and have not responded well to vaccine development.

So I'm just trying to parse out when David Martin shouts about BIOLOGICAL AND CHEMICAL WARFARE...about pushing vaccines that don't work...who is the “they”?

Who is the “they”?

Just Pfizer?

Pfizer operating at the behest of the DOD and CEPI and Bill Gates?

I don't know if Bob gave NOVOTECH the cheat codes on how to get the vaccine sherpa-ed to the top of the approval mountain. It would seem by the NOVOTECH press blurb, that is precisely why he was hired.

I don't know if Bob left NOVOTECH with PTSD or due to a "difficult work environment" or if he is still there today or whether he is still involved with Inovio or Reliance or cationic lipic nanoparticle patents or has now devoted his life to Fifth Generation Warfare and Media Messaging with new BFF James O'Keefe.

What I do know is that there are giant holes between David Martin, THIS IS BIOWARFARE (which it is), and then nailing down specifically how the biowarfare sausage is getting made.

A note below the link states: 'This file may not be suitable for users of assistive technology.'

SKYConvion, the COVID-19 vaccine developed by SK Chemicals, has today been authorised by the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA).

It becomes the 8th COVID-19 vaccine authorised by the UK's independent medicines regulator.

The authorisation follows advice received from the independent Commission on Human Medicines (CHM).

The SKYConvion vaccine combines a part of the SARS-CoV-2 virus spike protein with an ‘adjuvant’ – an additional ingredient designed to trigger a stronger immune response. It is given as two injections, four weeks apart.

The clinical evidence for this authorisation is based on data from two clinical trials on approximately 3,100 individuals aged 18 to 84 years. The vaccine demonstrated a strong immune response, and the most common side effects were mild, and self-resolved within a few days of vaccination.

This authorisation is for use as a primary vaccination in those aged 18 and over. Decisions on which COVID-19 vaccines are deployed in the UK are taken by the Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation (JCVI).

As with all vaccines, people with an allergy to one of the components listed in the patient information leaflet should not receive the vaccine.

GBP510 is a self-assembling two-component protein nanoparticle that displays 60 copies of the receptor binding domain (RBD) of SARS-CoV-2 Spike. The nanoparticle component allows for the high-level multimeric display of the RBD antigen that enhances humoral immune responses even at lower doses. This platform also allows for simple and efficient adjustment of the vaccine to match variant strains of SARS-CoV-2 or other emergent pathogens by swapping out the target antigen, which the nanoparticle displays. In addition, the inclusion of AS03 may allow for the use of lower doses of protein antigen.

The Phase 3 clinical trial results showed that SKYCovion induces neutralizing antibody responses and had an acceptable safety and reactogenicity profile compared to the control vaccine, Vaxzevria™, used in the study. In addition, the extended phase I/II clinical trials showed a high immune response to the Omicron variant after a booster of SKYCovion. The clinical trial was conducted with 16 institutions, including the Center for Vaccine of Korea National Institute of Health, the International Vaccine Institute, and Korea University Guro Hospital.

The Korean Ministry approved SKYCovione of Food and Drug Safety for use on June 29, 2022, in individuals 18 years and older. In addition, the South Korean government has agreed to purchase 10 million doses for domestic use. SK bioscience intends to make SKYCovion™ available through the COVAX Facility for procurement and equitable allocation worldwide should an Emergency Use Listing be obtained from the World Health Organization. On May 30, 2023, the UK's Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) granted Marketing Authorization for SK bioscience's COVID-19 vaccine SKYCovion™ as a primary series for strong immunization to prevent COVID-19 caused by SARS-CoV-2 in individuals 18 years of age and older.

As of May 30, 2023, SK bioscience had applied for an Emergency Use Listing from the World Health Organization and Marketing Authorization from the European Medicines Agency.

SKYCovion is the world's first-ever vaccine developed using the RoseTTAFold, a software tool that uses deep learning to quickly and accurately predict protein structures based on limited information. The RoseTTAFold was designed as a three-track neural network developed by the University of Washington.

SK bioscience is an innovative biopharmaceutical company, standing committed to global pandemic preparedness in vaccine development and manufacturing to create more equitable access to vaccines.

SKYCovione Indication

SKYCovione is indicated to prevent the disease COVID-19 caused by the SARS-CoV-2 virus. When a person is given the vaccine, their immune system is expected to identify the nanoparticles containing parts of the spike protein as foreign and produce natural defenses - antibodies and T cells - against them. If, later on, the vaccinated person comes into contact with SARS-CoV-2, the immune system will recognize the spike protein on the virus and be prepared to attack it. The antibodies and immune cells can protect against COVID-19 by working together to kill the virus, prevent its entry into the body's cells and destroy infected cells.

"This intramuscular vaccine was designed at the molecular level to present the immune system with a key part of the coronavirus spike protein. We know this part, called the receptor-binding domain, is targeted by the most potent antibodies," said Neil King, an assistant professor of biochemistry at UW Medicine and co-developer of the vaccine.

SKYCovion Booster

SK bioscience announced that SKYCovione had shown cross-neutralizing activity against Omicron variant BA.1 following booster vaccination administered ~7 months after the primary series. The results of the Phase I/II clinical trial, conducted with 81 healthy adults who received a booster dose of SKYCovione 7 months after the second dose of SKYCovione™, showed that the neutralizing antibody titers against the Omicron variant BA.1 were 25 times the titers right after the second dose, and 72 times the titers 7 months after the second dose.

5D Monster Chess: "Black Pill" is the new "Blue Pill" and "Controlled Opposition" is the new "Discredited"

A funny thing happens along the way across that river.

The stream starts to take you from moving horizontally across and seduces you into "giving your lungs a break" with a ventilator.

(I just purposely mixed up my metaphors. Why? I don't know. The blips hit my brain and my fingers type them out.)

Listen, hope is great, but if you want to get to the North Pole and you are walking East to West, a decent map or compass may be even more helpful!

Here is Catherine Austin Fitts melting Greg Hunter down faster than the World Trade Centers melted into dust. (Fact Check: False. The WTCs melted much faster than Greg Hunter.)

Catherine is “red-pilling” Greg Hunter on Trump and what he knew or didn’t know and how either way, EITHER WAY, his behavior is disqualifying.

Now.

When a good card carrying member of the Not a Movement Trumper MAGA Division sees this, the cognitive dissonance is perhaps overwhelming.

Damn you, CAF. You are Black Pill, not Red Pill.

Thus “Black Pill” becomes a way to shift the focus from documentable evidence in existence and onto the PERP who is probably CONTROLLED OPPOSITION.

This is a way to “discredit” the messenger, very much like the “mainstream media” and Big Tech “discredit” the Misinformation Purveyors.

Same tactic.

Anti-Vaxxers Have a Dangerous Theory Called “Natural Immunity.” Now It’s Going Mainstream

The coronavirus is a rapidly developing news story, so some of the content in this article might be out of date. Check out our most recent coverage of the coronavirus crisis, and subscribe to the Mother Jones Daily newsletter.

“Anti-Vaxxers” is now tailor made for the Not a Movement as “Controlled Opposition”.

Now I could show the Blue Pill Covidian Hero Anthony Fauci extolling natural immunity.

Just as I can show video after video of Trump bragging about pressuring the FDA to Warp Speed the Monstrosities through the regulatory process, and in each case, this conflicting information will be threatening and yet impossible to ignore.

Option: DISCREDIT THE SOURCE'S INTENTIONS.

Same tactic.

To protect something. Either the way out is the VACCINE, which BOTH your fake progressive media and your Hero Ball MAGA guy support, or to protect the Hero (Fauci or Trump), or to protect the world view.

Thus we have a Red Pill dilemma, do we not?

Either stay on the evidence and do not give values the "benefit of the doubt" and add them up exactly as they are...or start floating.

$3+4=8$ if we give that 4 the benefit of the doubt.

Maybe that 4 was duped!

I am now 100% sure that "Controlled Opposition" was installed in the Not a Movement by the Propagandist Minders.

The first I saw it employed was by one DR. ROBERT MALONE, FIFTH GENERATION WARFARE EXPERT lashing out at The Joker Alex Berenson.

Unprofessional, rude and an arsehole to boot.

But beyond that, I think we can all assume CONTROLLED OPPOSITION.

Alex Berenson goes on Fox News and directly calls me a liar to my face and says I didn't invent RNA vaccines.

Unprofessional, rude and an asshole to boot.

But beyond that, I think we can all assume CONTROLLED OPPOSITION.

So, for Alex, who evidently doesn't know how to do an internet search, find a patent and read it - I will make it easy for him.

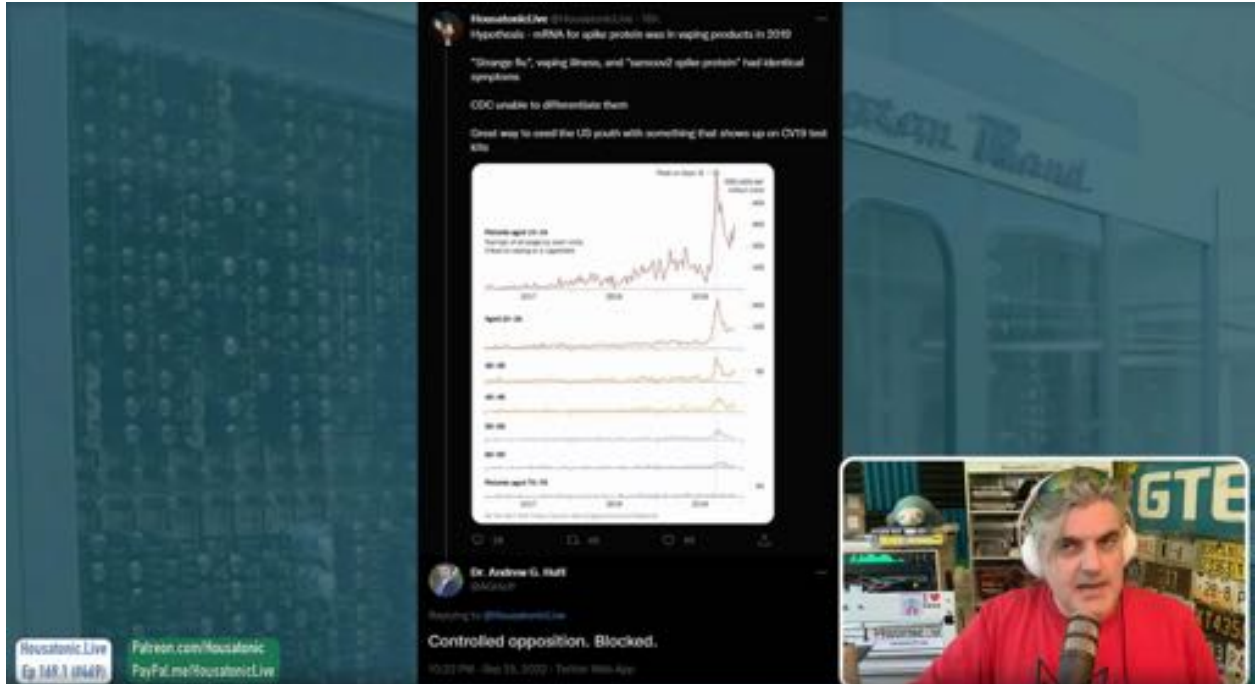

First - a couple of proof of principle experiments conducted in 1989 -from the patents with the priority date of 1989 (issued later, but the ideas/experiments date to March 21, 1989 as decided by the United States Patent Office)

ALEX BERENSON IS OPPOSING MY MOVEMENT THAT I STARTED. I WILL NOW SUE THE BREGGINS AND JANE RUBY NEXT!

Want more “controlled opposition” discrediting?

By another one degree of separation from RFK’s team of goodies?

Yes indeed.

Looking into the potential connection between the vaping “crisis” of 2019 with the CORONAVIRUS “CRISIS” OF 2020 is grounds for the CONTROLLED OPPOSITION charge to be levied.

(From the EcoHealth Sandia Labs guy who was oh yeah, also an exec at Juul.)

Keep Out sign posted.

CONTROLLED OPPOSITION is the new CONSPIRACY THEORIST updated.

“Controlled Opposition” can now mean anything that you want it to mean.

It is a THOUGHT TERMINATING CLICHE which just means, “baddie”.

Spy. Danger Zone.

Stop thinking about what is being presented.

And on a parallel path, “Black Pill” (Doom Porn Proponent, BAD) is now the new “Blue Pill”.

“Controlled Opposition” is the new “Trust the Science”.

In fact, REVERE THE SCIENCE. (Also we did it! Now let’s all heal.)

We are organizing an International Covid Summit in the European Parliament in Brussels on May 3, 2023. This event is aimed to comprehensively and objectively look at important details surrounding covid-19 and the pandemic.

By comprehensively, we mean that we will NOT be looking into DTRA, DOMANE, Boston Consulting Group, Robert Kadlec, famotidine studies which ate up valuable time, and US Bioweapons programs and live exercises.

And a comprehensive investigation into whether you can cram a coronavirus into anthrax and who has been studying that.

We are planning to bring world renowned and highly revered professionals from all around the globe to Brussels in order to discuss the scientific, social, medical. and legal statistics and findings of the last three years.

We will not be inviting Dr. Mike Yeadon, or Katherine Watt, however. Or Dr. Astrid Stuckelberger, or Dr. Daniel Nagasse.

HIGHLY REVERED PROFESSIONALS

Anyway, these Rockefellers are so far ahead of us.

They have literally been studying how to fuck with people for decades and decades.

Truth is like a lion.

People who say truthful things are powerful and so forth.

(Unless they are Black Pilling you in which case they are probably Controlled Opposition and stay right here in the pocket with the real goodies.*)

Promo Code MR2.

“Well he did say...”

He said a lot of stuff.

He’s painting the corners. WITH A VERY GRAVE LOOK ON HIS FACE.

He is alternately railing against WAR and then lamenting that “we” let it happen.

There is no logical through line here.

This is a weird new kind of Kumbaya, the updated Fake Tough Talk version.

In the space of 2-3 sentences, he says it's domestic terrorism and biowarfare perpetrated on the human race and "we" let it happen and then code switches to "investors" and then laments that the FDA and CDC....something.

Fight the domestic terrorists! (Apparently, Fauci, Baric, EcoHealth, Pfizer, and whoever the "we" back in 1965 who weaponized coronavirus or...my head is spinning.) I have been hypnotized by your 5G Warfare, Martin.

He is all over the map.

(And flashes the occasional Duper's Delight micro-expression.)

Admittedly, I did not put all that much effort into this video editing.

Sorry.

Thus concluding another Tough Talk, We Did IT! "Summit" where the "revered experts" dissect what happened and we all eat several bags of Doritos and strangely don't feel satisfied.

"Don't Let Them Get Away With It!" (Mistakes were not made.)

We are so going to get "them" one day.

Those terrorists.

We lost humanity.

I was just getting poisoned by the perps, brehhh...Can we go get them now?

“We” are absolutely swimming in bullshit right now.

Biosurveillance

How we doing, gang? Hanging in there.

Turbulence.

I'm pulling back the curtain on some of what needs to be protected.

Germs are super scary and are smart bombs and Daddy Government will protect you but needs you to sign off on some necessary countermeasures and freedom loss.

From 2021.

The Terminator...LITERALLY!

“Screw your freedom...”

Arnold Schwarzenegger.

During a recent interview, Schwarzenegger responded: “People should know there is a virus here. It kills people, and the only way we prevent it is to get vaccinated, wear masks, do social distancing, washing your hands all the time, and not just to think about, ‘Well, my freedom is being kind of disturbed here.’ No, screw your freedom, because with freedom comes obligations and responsibilities. We cannot just say, ‘I have the right to do X, Y and Z.’ When you infect other people, that is when it gets serious.”

In context, it’s a fairly easy point to understand. As Schwarzenegger explains in his newsletter, though, some media outlets, both mainstream and right-wing, boiled his message down to “Arnold Schwarzenegger says ‘screw your freedom.’”

“That’s fine!” he writes. “They have the right to choose clickbait instead of informing their audience.” His target, he explains, was the “whiny babies” going viral for angrily refusing to wear masks. Freedom, he argues, is more than just doing whatever you want, whenever you want.

“These are people who yell ‘FREEDOM’ in their American flag hats while not taking any time to study the history of our nation and how freedom and duty have ALWAYS gone hand in hand,” he writes. “They think being an American means not caring about their fellow Americans, and I’m sorry, I can’t accept that.” (He made a similar point earlier this month, writing in The Atlantic, “Don’t Be a Schmuck. Put on a Mask.”)

Good times. Good times. The Dangerous Germs model of Public Health Fascism has been employed before.

If you can scare the shit out of people, they will tumble into the SOLUTION and the SOLUTION will be Fascism and Totalitarianism and Cruelty as Ethical Duty.

Remember the Fascism of 2021?

Probably Pfizer did all that.

Or you know... Chhhynnnnaaaa.

And of course Military Tube age restricts this video.

Maybe if a Drag Queen with dick and balls hanging out would say it to a kindergarten class instead. (😂 Sorry. That's feeding into the Laser Pointer of the Op. We strive to do better than that here. Still, funny.)

So don't watch this video as it will require you to sign in with your Google Tracking Digital ID. Sorry for posting it, but we can learn a lesson that Google is military and just wants to track you for Globalist Monitoring and profiling.

It's just Terminator being a Fascist Dick.

Acting is Hard

Super Antigen Hatfill was the chief suspect in the false flag Ames Strain Anthrax "attacks" of the 2001 Continuity of Government Patriot Act spawning 9/11 Operation.

Acting is hard.

Long story short, Super Antigen Steven Hatfill got scrubbed clean and patsy Bruce Ivins got fingered and conveniently got dead quickly.

And of course, we went on to “fight them over there so we don’t have to fight them over here.”

For FRREEEEEDDDDOOOOMMMM.

Same Op. Same Op.

Peter Navarro says that Super Antigen Hatfill was his “secret weapon” in the COVID Op while advising President Donald Trump.

Navarro: “I had a secret weapon, Doc. I had Doc Hatfill working with me.”

Again, Super Antigen Hatfill is an Anthrax Expert going back to the Rhodesia Civil War days.

(Blind item: Hatfill is purportedly not on the Glowing Friend list of a certain not so kindly person and this may present the first trouble in paradise fissure behind the velvet rope.)

Ask yourself this basic question from behind the logic of the Covid Op paradigm: If the problem was a Coronavirus Gone Rogue...why would you not have decades long CORONAVIRUS EXPERT Ralph Baric as your “secret weapon”?

Why do you have the Anthrax guy in there?

Ralph Baric was Researching Coronavirus Induced Myocarditis BACK IN THE 80s/90s

Promo Code: TLAV/and, uh...Gumby for Christ. So we know all about the US-Wuhan-Ralph Baric-Eco Health- Fauci pipeline. Dr. Peter is alluding to some of that below. But this goes back soooooo much further, y'all. Quick Note also that Twitter is straight up trolling you with this shit:

Read full story

Why is Bobby Running as a Dem?

Occasionally I awaken after increasingly rarer and rarer (“rare and mild”) quality sleep and I behold the entire Global Operation fueled by the Day Tapes Cheat Code road map.

I see “Mr. Global” (promo code: Catherine Austin Fitts) maneuvering behind the curtain and the patient employment of the Ostensible vs.

the Real Reasons and I race past those Jabs Bad Pfizer Bad Middle Managers locked in the quicksand of not asking the right questions and suddenly the fog lifts and the entire Op is revealed under brilliant sunshine the best disinfectant in 4K clarity.

“Veeee penetrate zeeee Cabinets”.

(through a variety of methods)

Then I log into the old boutique 8,000 subscriber Stack and a brilliant question that goes right to the heart of the matter tops the list, bypassing all the Hero Ball and Laser Pointer stuff that mows down physicians who hail from the midwest cheering over Empty Room Theatrical hearings and summits whilst Mr. Global snickers.

Almost everyone if you probe directly enough arrives at: "We live in a Thug World and they will kill you."

I've had these conversations over and over.

Try it yourself. Engage past the Pro Wrestling Characters thrust into your consciousness and start posing questions about, "Well what if they went rogue?"

The first thing you will hear is, "They can't! People won't listen or buy it. Truth is like a kitty cat that must be massaged gently behind the ears!"

So then you confront them with, "SO TRUTH IS NOT LIKE A LION THAT YOU JUST SET FREE AND IT DEFENDS ITSELF AND I HAVE A LION ON MY WALL BECAUSE THAT'S WHAT MY HANDLERS SAID WAS GOOD FIFTH GENERATION WARFARE. RIGHT?"

Also, my caps lock are stuck. I mean, not now. But above, they were...let's move on.

This goes over super well. You are making friends now!

Some will tap out right there, others will angrily try to find some loophole in the double blind (promo code Peter Duke) and contort to find some confusing way that TRUTH IS LIKE A LION BUT WE STILL NEED TO KEEP IT IN THE CAGE AND NOT SCARE THE NORMIES AND THIS IS MAKING ME UNCOMFORTABLE AND YOU ARE MAKING ME SUPER PISSED RIGHT NOW WITH THIS LINE OF QUESTIONING.

Me: I know! Did your caps lock get stuck there for a minute? 😊

But eventually if you keep probing, you will arrive at the real Truth is Like a Lion: Truth will get your ass DEAD.

So if one knows that, how do we keep switching back to...VOTE HARDER!

VOTE HARDER is a seductive off ramp that Sweet Summer Child Me still struggles with. I still, STILL, had hoped that RFK, Jr. would go rogue. (Me dumb.)

When he ran as a Democrat and started with the Avoid the Toxic Quagmire shit as predictively programmed by Horse of the Apocalypse and DARPA Steve and CIA Eisenvector, it was immediately clear that I needed an immediate Zombie Court Tribunal and would be found guilty and sentenced to 10-years at GITMO where my knees would be caved in by the Feral Shih Tzu like Yeti Henchdogs at the recreation area squat rack.

That is a storyline from an old series of posts and I hope that it stands up on its own enough that my Boutique Substack (promo code Sentient Potan Rob) will withstand the next wave of Flying Monkeys peeling off the next wave of heartbroken docs and marginal music buffs. (Fuck off.)

I have to wonder why exactly Bob jr thinks that there is a place for him in today's Democratic party? What makes him think there is if he's not a phony?

Cynical hypothesis:

1. Bobby is running as a Sheepdog to herd the marks into the Fake Two Party (Military Run) Paradigm, OR
2. Fallback option to protect WMD programs as CIA daughter in law used to work in the field, as did Horsie Friend Steven Hatfill who found himself in the Trump Admin. Bob will be installed in whoever's Admin.

Now is the point where I would send you over to George “*Vanden Bossche” Webb and have him connect the dots from Bob to the Anthrax gang, but this post is way too long, and we may do that soon. Suffice it to say that say what you will about the Horse of the Apocalypse, but he is not stupid. One does not thrive in the belly of the beast for decades and have a Windber Lab boss meeting with Mossad on the morning of 9/11 warning about Anthrax which Joe Freaking Biden was warning about the day prior all strangely near Shanksville, PA where a plane was probably shot down by a missile(?) perhaps miles away from an empty hole and not at least have a curiosity...and ask, “Nick (Jacobs), what happened with the plane?”

Steven, what's up with the anthrax?

Darrell, while we are in quicksand over Famotidine still one year later after Callahan called me and I got a team spun up, wanna rap about the 'thrax?

The 10 minute drive to work was routine. It was one of those amazing September mornings where, no matter your age, your work responsibilities, or your lifestyle, you had to be in awe over the beauty and brilliance of the nearly cloudless, luminescent blue sky. It was warm, sunny, and what could only be described as a perfect morning. In fact, every time I experience those same stunning atmospheric conditions of that Western Pennsylvania morning, a tinge of telltale PTSD chemistry runs through both my connecting neurons and my bloodstream because what unfolded not two hours later evolved into an emotional catastrophe for our country.

The very nature of my position as the CEO of a hospital often revolves around one's ability to cope with tragedy, heartbreak, and trauma. In fact, having spent the previous five years at the Level 1 Trauma center, communicating and dealing with tragedy had somehow become, at a certain level, just part of the job. That morning, however, was different. It was a virtual body blow to the soul on every level.

My 8 a.m. meeting with a former Mossad agent and a U.S. Ranger was a discussion of the possibility of utilizing our sophisticated proteomics and genomic analytical equipment from the DoD funded research institute that was a part of our health system in detecting the presence of anthrax. It was a topic that I had hoped would never need to be broached in little Windber, Pennsylvania, but world matters, terrorism, and various political miss-steps had gotten us to this point in our international relationships.

In the middle of this meeting, my assistant politely interrupted our meeting to suggest I step into the administrative conference room to watch the television that had been tuned into the Today Show. As I stood to walk there, my cellphone rang.

It was my wife who said, "Are you watching this?"

My response was, "What?"

To which she replied, “A plane just hit the twin towers.”

“I’m on my way to the TV right now,” I replied.

And as I entered the small conference room, plane No. 2 hit the second building. No one was really sure what was happening at that time, but that second plane did not seem like the first hit was a fluke. We watched for a few minutes more and then returned to the meeting where we continued our previous anthrax discussion.

Several minutes later, I received a call from the Trauma Center that they had just been notified that a plane with 157 passengers on board had reported a bomb on board and were headed toward the Johnstown airport. The caller suggested that I put our hospital on full trauma alert. My mind immediately sorted through those numbers and realized that at least 100 of those potential patients could not be cared for immediately in the three local hospitals due to staffing and capacity issues. I called an immediate full-alert which meant getting extra gurneys, calling in off-duty emergency room physicians, and preparing for a full disaster response.

A few minutes later when people described my complexion as a dull shade of gray, I received another call, and that call was more stark. Cancel the trauma alert, the plane has crashed near Shanksville, your paramedics will be needed onsite. By then, the word of the attack on the Pentagon, the World Trade Center and what some referred to as Fort Murtha because there were so many DoD funded plants operating in this area had painted a picture of warfare, and we were told there were approximately 1200 unaccounted for airplanes in the sky of the United States and we should be on the lookout for stolen ambulances and other emergency vehicles potentially containing terrorists.

Our paramedics were deployed and spent the day at the site of the crash. When they returned, they told me the following, “We have bad news and worse news. Everyone on that plane was killed, and no one there took precautions in the event there was anthrax or any other potentially lethal substance on board that flight. We could all be dead by the end of this week.”

So the rough outlines as the Sunlight Vision fades like a distant memory.

Anthrax and how it pertains to 9/11 is critical to how Germs Bad became the pivot to Freedom Killing Countermeasures.

Bobby and 🐎 are both one degree of separation from some dark American secrets.

Make of that what you will.

Sometimes the clouds return and the brief glimpse into the sunlight disappears and I am left pondering.

But I'll keep trying to synthesize the Geert Vanden Bossche and the George Vanden Bossche and the Housatonic Vanden Bossche and the Mowrey Vanden Bossche and all the other Vanden Bossches.

Sage Vanden Bossche out.

6. When did Robert Malone officially get his MD? Is he a clinician, and does he regularly treat patients? Did he ever have a thriving medical practice?

7. Why is Robert Malone featured prominently in Robert F. Kennedy's book The Real Anthony Fauci? Did RFK, Jr. also reach out to Malone associates and "old friends", CIA agents Daryl Galloway and Michael Callahan for further context? This part of the story seems to go to the heart of much of the scamdemic, including the famotidine alternative treatment quicksand which Callahan and Malone both "independently" arrived, the study of which was quickly approved by Robert Kadlec, and which would then go up to tie up months of research while Remdesivir was shepherded through rapidly. (As were experimental gene based vaccines.)

Sage's Newsletter

On January 4, 2020, Callahan called Dr. Robert Malone from China just as the coronavirus began taking its first wave of casualties. Malone, a former contractor to the US Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases and the chief medical officer at Alchem Laboratories, is the inventor of the mRNA vaccine technology platform. Malone first met Callahan in 2009 through Malone's sometime business partner, Daryl Galloway, a CIA officer who formerly served in the US Navy and at one point held the post of director of JSTO in the Defense Threat Reduction Agency. To Malone, Galloway introduced Callahan as a fellow CIA officer. During his January 4 phone call, Callahan told Malone that he was just outside Wuhan. Malone assumed that Callahan was visiting China under cover of his Harvard and Massachusetts General Hospital appointments. Callahan told Malone that he had been treating "hundreds" of COVID-19 patients. Callahan subsequently described to National Geographic how he had pored through thousands of case studies at the outbreak's epicenter. He giddily reported his amazement at the virus's "magnificent infectivity," and its capacity to explode "like a silent smart bomb in your community."⁹¹ Callahan later confessed to Malone that he lacked authority to be in Wuhan and had escaped by boat when the government imposed its quarantine. Callahan repeated parts of this story to Brendan Borrell, a writer for Science. Later, DTRA

This is the part of the excerpt that jumps off the page:

Callahan later confessed to Malone that he lacked authority to be in Wuhan and had escaped by boat when the government imposed its quarantine.

Dr. Malone presented a summary of the team findings and recommendations to the ASPR on 18 March 2020. Both Dr. Callahan and Dr. Malone were previously unaware of each other's work and agreed to collaborate on this project. As old friends, it is not the first time that they have worked to "save the world". With convergence of these two independent discoveries, Feinstein/Northwell Health system was contacted to explore the possibility of performing well controlled clinical trials within the Northwell hospital system. Northwell hospital system agreed that this repurposed drug candidate worthy of rigorous evaluation of activity in randomized clinical trials. Because New York decided that the standard of care for hospitalized COVID-19 patients was to include hydroxychloroquine, this was added to the study arms to ensure enrollment of patients and comply with bioethical requirements for inclusion of standard of care in clinical trial designs.

8. Who selected the Dream Team of Resistance Doctors, Scientists, and STEMs who were invited to the Puerto Rico Conference in Fall, 2021 and then largely fronted the Defeat the Mandates campaign? Who selected them, contacted them, flew them out to Puerto Rico, put them up in hotels, etc.? What was their guiding motivation? Alternative treatments for the purported incredibly lethal and transmissible novel coronavirus? It occurs to me that one way to defeat mandates is to explode the entire pandemic narrative which was thrust upon us. Was that deemed too controversial?

9. How is it that Meryl Nass, an Anthrax era vaccine expert and whistleblower, came to appear on CHD?
10. How is it that Whitney Webb, the preeminent Deep State researcher was selected to work at CHD? How were Whitney Webb and Dr. Robert Malone first introduced? Who made the introductions?
11. How is that James Corbett, a preeminent Deep State researcher, a 9/11 official narrative debunker and specialist, came to appear on CHD with Meryl Nass? Will he back soon to discuss the Windber Lab-Nick Jacobs Mossad allegations, RFK, Jr.'s daughter in law purported CIA connections, and the curious case of Steven Hatfill, another anthrax expert and friend of Bob's who ended up on the Trump Advisory Team under Peter Navarro? 14. Was Robert Malone aware of Jordon Walker prior to the Project Veritas bombshell, which seemingly disappeared immediately? Did Robert Malone know Jordon Walker prior? If so, under what circumstances? Have they met? Do they have mutual friends or industry acquaintances?
15. Did Edward Dowd independently come up with The Malone Doctrine, and approach Dr. Robert Malone with it in Hawaii at the CHD staged children's shoot? Was Dowd contacted by any liaison prior to this event in October, 2021, which has now evolved into Dowd being a part of RFK, Jr.'s Presidential candidacy team?
16. Given that the world was facing an alleged novel coronavirus threat in 2020, is it odd that Anthrax expert Steven Hatfill (and former chief suspect in the 9/11 Anthrax letter bomb attacks) was installed in the Trump Administration team of advisors under Peter Navarro? 17. Was the United States government involved in bioweapon deployment (WMD) in the form of anthrax in the Rhodesian Civil War?

Epidemics of human anthrax have been reported, with the 2 most completely described outbreaks from Zimbabwe in 1978 through 1980, and from Sverdlovsk, in the former Soviet Union, in 1979.¹³⁻ province alone reporting nearly 6500 infections (virtually all cutaneous), with approximately 100 fatalities.¹⁵⁻¹⁷ The Sverdlovsk (now Yekaterinburg) incident occurred in April 1979 in an industrial city of 1.2 million people just east of the Ural Mountains. Eventually, admissions were made that deaths were due to inhalational anthrax, the result of a mishap at a military microbiology facility, and not to gastrointestinal anthrax as was originally claimed.^{18,19} At least 66 deaths occurred in a 4-km swath downwind from the incident, and the details of autopsies performed on 42 patients were eventually published by 2 of the pathologists involved.^{14,18} Of interest, the youngest patient known to have been infected in the incident was 24 years old, and a large series of inhalational anthrax cases from southwest Russia earlier this century was also remarkable for a near-total absence of children.¹³ Consequently, it has been suggested that the inhalational form of the disease may have a predilection for older patients, although this remains unproven.

19. Was the newly moved BSL lab (which had previously blessed the world with Lyme Disease by dropping weaponized ticks in the Northeast) in Manhattan, KS involved in anthrax testing on cattle in June, 2022 as thousands of cattle perished in a “heatwave” in Kansas, meanwhile equally hot Oklahoma and Texas were seeing no mass cattle deaths?
20. Are enchiladas superior to tacos if one controls for non-anthraxed protein sources?

Many are going to object to these questions.

Why?

No bad questions and radical transparency, right?

Do you understand that “national security” in the form of terrorists and germs is being used to seize power away from our purported FREEDOM and Constitution?

And we did not arrive exactly where we are in history because people were not going along?

Do you understand that it is always awkward and yes, dangerous, to look the Monster in the eye?

Would you prefer that your children have to do it later so that you don't have to do it now?

Do you really think they are going to stop if we just play along one more time?

I have no way to prove this. But I do think we are moving Bobby a bit. I do think he is being forced to listen to us at least a little bit. At least enough to try and stay barely ahead of the fire of truth.

Regardless, I want to know. These are the questions on my mind.

Maybe you have questions on your mind.

At the very least, maybe I can steer my attention to increasingly more relevant and salient questions.

At the very most, we will rip the Band Aid off and solve this case.

It's always gonna be difficult. It will never get easier. It's like a spiraling debt that keeps accruing interest.

I have more or less isolated the eight-week window in late 2021 during which Robert Malone made a fairly sharp rhetorical turn into Jabs Bad Resistance Warrior Hero.

Recall that in January, 2022, Robert Malone would purport to have been injured to the point of near death by the experimental injections around April-May, 2021.

This incredibly salient detail was not mentioned on Bret Weinstein's June, 2021 Dark Horse Podcast, CHD's October, 2021 Hawaii Children "Talk Story" shoot, or on The Joe Rogan Experience on the last day of December, 2021.

Let's now go through this timeline one more time, and I will provide links at each juncture.

In January, 2022, Malone wrote the following post.

Who is Robert Malone

"How Bad is my Batch"

In fact, I do have a personal life. My wife of 42 years and I are actually pretty private. Sharing personal history is not something I do everyday. However, as many of you know - I was vaccinated with Moderna twice and had a pretty significant vaccine injury. This was pretty early in the roll-out of the vaccines. It was long before the FOIA Japanes...

Writes Malone:

Be that as it may, in April, 2021, I got vaccinated. It was early enough in the cycle, that I had no choice but to take the Moderna vaccine, as that was available in my area. The vaccine was distributed at a local college, with the Army Reserves administering the program.

The first shot was fine. No issues.

The second shot almost did me in. As in I almost died.

After the injection, I had the usual fatigue, muscle-ache and then the palpitations started, as well as shortness of breath. Within a couple days, it got worse - I am not someone who goes to the doctor easily, but luckily for me, I happened to have a routine appointment with my physician. She cuffed me and my systolic blood pressure was through the roof. As she is also a cardiologist, she had more tests run, started me on high blood pressure meds and we got it under control. I kind of feel like I owe her my life. A call out to the fantastic Dr. C. Bove.

So Robert Malone was double jabbed and almost perished due to the second shot in April-May, 2021.

Malone was then unveiled on a large scale to the general public when he appeared on the Dark Horse Podcast with Steve Kirsch and Bret Weinstein in June, 2021.

He does not mention that he had almost died due to the second Moderna injection mere weeks prior.

Obvious question.

Why not?

The entire focus of this podcast is the experimental injections. Certainly his near death experience vaccine injury would have been relevant, don't you think?

In September, 2021 Malone appears in rapid succession at the Puerto Rico San Juan Summit, which seems to be when our Resistance Dream Team (Defeat the Mandates, Ron Johnson hearings) is “spun up” (by whom?); and then on to Hawaii in October for a sophisticated and professionally produced CHD (Children’s Health Defense, Presidential Candidate Robert F. Kennedy’s organization) shoot with photogenic children asking apparently scripted questions about the Experimental Vaccines.

The Puerto Rico Conference was hosted by the “Global Covid Summit”, an organizational heading that links to Decentralized Medical Network, (DeMed), which then links to The Roundtable Team.

Global Covid Summit will come into play again shortly. Click the pictures or the below links and you can begin tracking back the team, which appears to be headed by former child actor and “independent political thought leader” Brock Pierce and some crypto guys.

But for the sake of this post, let’s continue with our timeline.

September, 2021

Following San Juan, the traveling campaign moves to Hawaii.

In Hawaii, Robert Malone again does not mention to the assembled children that he had almost died from the experimental military countermeasures which he was specifically there to educate them about.

He does advise caution, but softballs the delivery, and at times offers up nothing burger platitudes. He does not seem to possess the urgency of someone who almost died and grasps the dangers of the moment.

Bob: "Are there other things that you're scared about?"

Young Girl: "I'm a little bit scared about getting the vaccine."

At this juncture, Bob discusses how to make the fear go away and tells her to educate herself with her family and physician.

Is he not there to educate them? As a world renowned expert?

As an aside, while in Hawaii, Robert Malone is presented with The Malone Doctrine by Black Rock ex-Edward Dowd, who is now on the RFK, Jr. Presidential campaign team.

The Malone Doctrine

*A Declaration Of Independence
From The Decisions Of Institutions That Lack Integrity*

We The Undersigned:

Demand that all underlying data that contributes to a body of work under consideration must be made available and must remain accessible for analysis.

Proclaim the value of knowledge to society is not determined by any given creator of information. Instead, that it is the beneficiaries of knowledge who assign value to a proposition only through thorough critique, and relentless scrutiny.

Establish the free and open exchange of information and establish as a duty the authority to serve as the custodians of all data forming the basis of our decisions.

Require the full disclosure of all sources of funding regarding any citations noted or references made pertaining to any matter under consideration.

Commit to impartiality in consideration of all analytical information and data brought before us and expect the same from all others.

Foster rigorous open debate and scrutiny in consideration of and for any matter of concern.

Shall promptly make the discovery of intellectual dishonesty or professional irresponsibility known to all.

Ensure the health, welfare and safety of any whistleblower, bringing forth and/or making public an abrogation of the beliefs held herein.

Stand in opposition to censorship and will not accept representations of parties holding within themselves values that conflict with principles of free expression.

Deny no person the right to challenge, debate, petition, redress, examine, or protest, with facts and evidence any decision of this body.

Dr. Robert W. Malone

Dr. Jill Glasspool Malone

Something now shifts.

Something dramatic happens, and it happens rapidly.

Eight weeks later, 54-days to be exact...Robert Malone is now sounding the alarm.

He is now using the rhetoric and the severe tone that would have been appropriate at the CHD Hawaii shoot and the Dark Horse Podcast shoot.

Strident rhetoric that would be commensurate with a decent human being trying to warn other vulnerable human beings about a dangerous medical intervention that had allegedly almost killed him.

In December, 2021, he is using talking points and logical dots that many of us lay people had already sorted out and connected long before then; we did so just by doing cursory research and being genuinely curious about the novel technology.

Where was all this on Dark Horse and in Hawaii?

(In fact, Malone's wife and business partner Jill Glasspool Malone had been pushing the merits of the technology directly before Dark Horse, and lamenting that Bob was not getting his due credit. Whiplash.)

On a livestream Global Covid Summit/Unity Project interview in December, Malone's rhetoric is now dramatically updated with stark, fervent, warning.

December 12, 2021

One final point: the reason they're giving you to vaccinate your child is a lie.

- Your children represent no danger to their parents or grandparents
- It's actually the opposite. Their immunity, after getting COVID, is critical to save your family if not the world from this disease

In summary: there is no benefit for your children or your family to be vaccinating your children against the small risks of the virus, given the known health risks of the vaccine that as a parent, you and your children may have to live with for the rest of their lives.

The risk/benefit analysis isn't even close.

As a parent and grandparent, my recommendation to you is to resist and fight to protect your children.

The statement was delivered at a December 12 livestream event hosted by Unity Project and Global Covid Summit. Dr. Robert Malone and other leading physicians discussed their recent Physicians' Declaration update, why healthy children should not be vaccinated and the associated risks. Read supporting evidence here.

About The Unity Project

The Unity Project, a non-partisan, non-profit educational organization, promotes a "children-first" agenda focused on integrity, care, rationality, and evidence-based motivation. For more information, visit www.UnityProjectOnline.com

My name is Robert Malone, and I am speaking to you as a parent, grandparent, physician and scientist. I don't usually read from a prepared speech, but this is so important that I wanted to make sure that I get every single word and scientific fact correct.

I stand by this statement with a career dedicated to vaccine research and development. I'm vaccinated for COVID and I'm generally pro-vaccination. I have devoted my entire career to developing safe and effective ways to prevent and treat infectious diseases.

After this, I will be posting the text of this statement so you can share it with your friends and family.

Before you inject your child - a decision that is irreversible - I wanted to let you know the scientific facts about this genetic vaccine, which is based on the mRNA vaccine technology I created:

There are three issues parents need to understand:

The first is that a viral gene will be injected into your children's cells. This gene forces your child's body to make toxic spike proteins. These proteins often cause permanent damage in children's critical organs, including

- Their brain and nervous system
- Their heart and blood vessels, including blood clots
- Their reproductive system, and
- This vaccine can trigger fundamental changes to their immune system

The most alarming point about this is that once these damages have occurred, they are irreparable

- You can't fix the lesions within their brain
- You can't repair heart tissue scarring
- You can't repair a genetically reset immune system, and

- This vaccine can cause reproductive damage that could affect future generations of your family

The second thing you need to know about is the fact that this novel technology has not been adequately tested.

- We need at least 5 years of testing/research before we can really understand the risks
- Harms and risks from new medicines often become revealed many years later

Ask yourself if you want your own child to be part of the most radical medical experiment in human history

One final point: the reason they're giving you to vaccinate your child is a lie.

- Your children represent no danger to their parents or grandparents
- It's actually the opposite. Their immunity, after getting COVID, is critical to save your family if not the world from this disease

In summary: there is no benefit for your children or your family to be vaccinating your children against the small risks of the virus, given the known health risks of the vaccine that as a parent, you and your children may have to live with for the rest of their lives.

The risk/benefit analysis isn't even close.

As a parent and grandparent, my recommendation to you is to resist and fight to protect your children.

What happened in those two months?

It makes no sense. Did he have a moment of clarity in his life?

Did he regret not speaking out sooner on Dark Horse back in June, or for not warning the children in Hawaii more directly back in October in the staged CHD shoot?

Nineteen days after this livestream, Dr. Robert Malone would go on to appear on Joe Rogan.

December 31, 2021

I watched that Joe Rogan transfixed. I noted that Robert Malone clearly took great pleasure and pride in his Security State connections and background.

Fourteen days after appearing on Joe Rogan, Dr. Robert Malone would now remember that he had almost died from the experimental mRNA injections.

Who is Robert Malone

"How Bad is my Batch"

In fact, I do have a personal life. My wife of 42 years and I are actually pretty private. Sharing personal history is not something I do everyday. However, as many of you know - I was vaccinated with Moderna twice and had a pretty significant vaccine injury. This was pretty early in the roll-out of the vaccines. It was long before the FOIA Japanes...

So there you go.

We made a circle.

Something happened in that 54-day time window between CHD Hawaii Children Shoot and Global Covid Summit Stern and Dire Warning.

What was that something?

Whatever it was, Robert Malone would immediately be thrust into your life at every turn for going on a year and a half now.

That does not happen by accident.

A potential version of what may have happened during this period of fascist vaccine madness.

Possibly Bob, or Bob's team, put their finger in the air and tried to split the middle of what was real and what was actually happening with the COVID Operation, and what the public and the “mainstream media” would allow.

The December Malone is what might have been expected all along, reminiscent of Dr. Mike Yeadon or Dr. Sucharit Bhakdi's early warnings.

Whatever the case, by September or October, 2022, with the rise of Brave Sasha and Brave Katherine connecting the dots to the WEF/DOD Central Command, Bob was rapidly finding himself in a bind.

He could offer up some “warm base” crumbs, but could not go substantially further without jeopardizing the entirety of the Bioweapon Security Model of Fascism long planned by Rockefeller's All the Way Down.

Biosurveillance

He also could go no further without exposing things about his career which are all going to come out, regardless.

And that's when things got going really sideways and ugly.

He is suing the Breggins and Dr. Jane Ruby. George Webb is suing him.

Who is funding the lawsuits and the travel all over the world and the endless Nothing Burger summits which laser point to Pfizer or Fauci and say, "We did it!" in empty rooms in Congress and the EU?

Finally.

Here is another version of the "Vaccine Injury" story which sounds a lot more modest as reported to Blue Pill Covidian Mockingbird News.

Malone is fully vaccinated — he got both shots of Moderna's COVID-19 vaccine in spring last year after it was authorized by the FDA in December 2020.

He was hoping getting jabbed might help with some of the long-COVID-19 symptoms he was having at the time, but it didn't. Scattered anecdotal media reports were suggesting that promise at the time, but the idea has largely faded as more people have gotten vaccinated and more time has elapsed since their jabs.

Dr. Bruce Patterson, who runs a long-COVID-19 treatment center, said at a conference this month that many of his long-COVID-19 patients "who got better, after a week or two, reverted back to where they were."

Malone said the side effects from his first shot were nothing remarkable, but after his second, he started complaining of high blood pressure, saying he'd been given a "bad batch," and raising unfounded concerns that the usual protocols weren't being followed at the Food and Drug Administration — the federal agency that's meant to view new drugs, treatments, and vaccines as "guilty until proven innocent," as he often says.

Truth is like a Lion.

Woot woot! Got some sleep! Brain re-charged.

Recharged.

I...I never know when to use hyphens.

Despite resigning from the Not a Movement and sending out Bob Malone Style Cease and Desist letters to all of the Not a Movement factions (which let's be honest are now boiling down to Trump Hero Syndrome, Bobby Hero Syndrome, and I have Bill Gates's e-mail Syndrome), and positioning myself as a let it rip documentarian detective...the requests to Stay off my Hero and LEAVE BRITNEY BOBBY ALONE admonitions keep piling up.

“WE NEED TO (BLANK) AND IF YOU DON’T (BLANK) THEN YOU ARE NOT PART OF THE WE.”

Me: Your caps lock are stuck and what’s your point? That I should not point out what I see? I already told you that I’m not part of the “we” because you don’t really have a “we”, you have Heroes and Word Parsing Monster Protectors. The other members adjacent to your particular “We” (Old School Lefty Holdover Faction) have incurable Trump Hero Syndrome and that woman over there has a literal Robert Malone Hero poster on her wall.

Malonian Merch

OKAY FINE, DO YOU, BUT JUST NOT LIKE THAT. I DON'T MEAN TO BE FASCIST AND CONTROLLING.

Me: I think you do?

I like to make friends.

I am often tasked with doing two things:

1. Provide a simple list of goodies and baddies, and
2. Provide a plan for what to do, usually with an implicit request that relates back to #1: Tell me who to get behind. Tell me what jersey to don.

#1 is very difficult primarily because as Flying Cris noted recently, all people are capable of being goodies and baddies, often in the same day!

People are very complex, but at the very least we can start from the premise that many if not most are going to satisfy their instincts first, and yes, one of those instincts is the instinct for security.

This could be financial security or emotional security or actual physical security. (Then we get into self esteem and self worth, “I am a division manager! I can do 100 pushups in 20 minutes! I drive a Dodge Stratus!” “I made more money by age 21 than that other Wall Street quant!”)

Will you please just acknowledge me? PLEASE."

Financial security is the obvious one and all can relate to it. Which is probably why “Grifters Grifting Shit” is a fantastic easy to grasp narrative and overlays nicely with “Dolts Botching Shit” as we travel down the “Evil Layer Cake”.

Robert Malone used a version of the overt Security concerns to first response act as “apologist for the FDA and CDC” in his late January, 2022 interview with Candace Owens.

Of course, Malone was also acting as an apologist for himself as he himself had failed to highlight those same safety signals just a few months before.

Malone was just three months and change away from not warning the Adorable Photogenic Kids at the October, 2021 “CHD shoot in Hawaii”, just as he had not warned the world four months prior to that on the June, 2021 “Dark Horse Podcast” with Bret Weinstein and “Little Stevie”, that he, Dr. Robert Malone, had by his own subsequent “January, 2022 testimony”, purportedly “almost died” after getting his second experimental mRNA Moderna injection around April-May, 2021.

That, friends, is a tell.

Did I mention that whilst “finding himself” in Hawaii, Robert Malone just happened to run into a Wall Street guy, one Mr. Edward Dowd, who had created The Malone Doctrine demanding radical transparency, (which apparently involves suing people for \$25 million and tossing journalists out of the Atlanta Murder Ball money grab with DNC Pit Bull Operatives running the show all to avoid questions about your potential role in clearing the way for Remdesivir Hospital Death Protocols and Experimental mRNA Bioweapon Shots. Radical Lawfare Transparency. We live in Animal Farm.)

Thus while “finding himself” in Hawaii in October, 2021 (courtesy CHD), Malone would also find himself receiving The Malone Doctrine; and Edward Dowd, author of the above would go on to “find himself” on the Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. Presidential Team a year and a half later.

Jill and I found ourselves in Maui in the fall of 2021. We were there to spread the word that mandates do not have a place in a free society (particularly for experimental drugs and vaccines), that a wide range of drugs work to save lives from COVID-19 if administered early during the infection, that children with their very low risk of disease do not need to be vaccinated unless they are high risk and/or have co-morbidities and that physicians, including physicians on Maui, must be able to practice medicine without interference from government, hospitals or insurance companies.

That trip was very successful. We were able to meet and educate many politicians and physicians on Maui and on other islands. There was a successful medical professional teaching workshop and a rally attended by 4,000 people.

While Jill and I were in Maui, we were approached by some amazing thought leaders on the island, by the names of Andrew Aken, Edward Dowd, Thomas Lewis and Barry O'Keefe. These men came to us with a document they had written entitled “The Malone Doctrine”. This doctrine, regarding integrity in organizations is fundamentally important.

We believe that “The Malone Doctrine” should become a central component of the core values and guiding principles for any ethical organization involved in health and wellness oversight, delivery, policy and/or medical research. Every physician that I have asked to review this document has agreed - this gets right to the heart of the problem which has resulted in this amazingly dysfunctional global public health response to the SARS-CoV-2 outbreak. A pervasive lack of integrity. The Malone Institute has made it so that individuals and organizations can sign the Malone Doctrine and can commit to behaving with integrity. We must hold ourselves and each other to core fundamental values. We all must act with integrity.

We will be writing and discussing this concept in more detail for weeks, months and years to come.

Another slightly different version of the “found ourselves in Hawaii” is here on this interesting “unofficial” Malone Archive Substack.

Little Stevie was there?

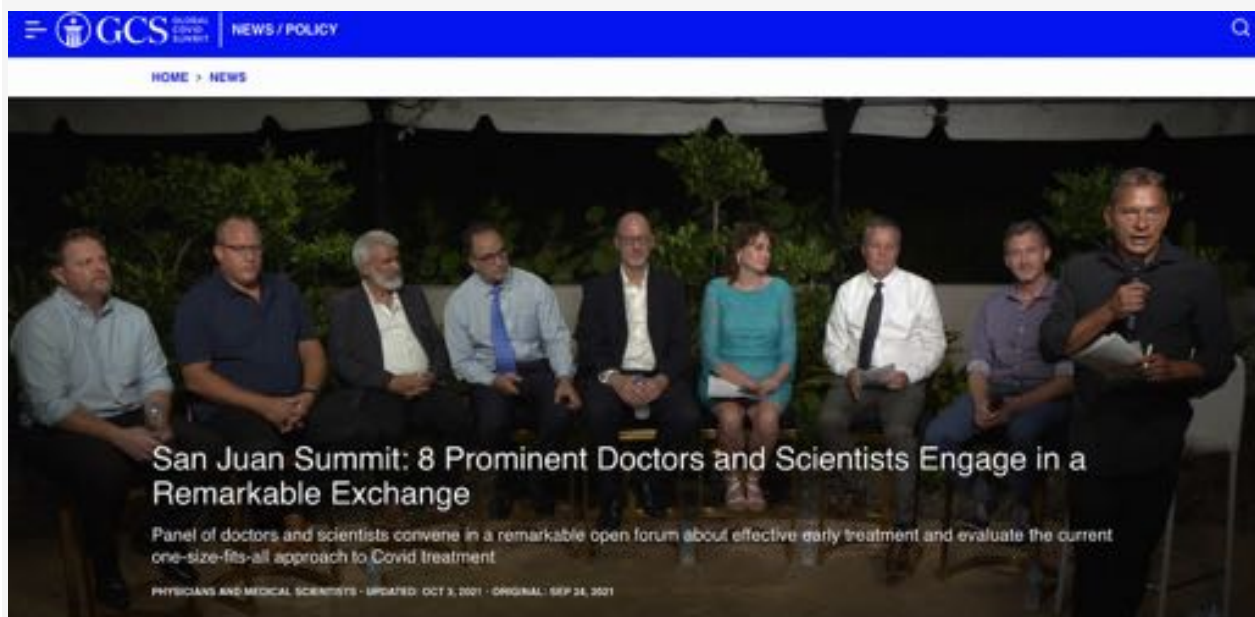

You don't say.

Dr. Ryan Cole was there, too?

You don't say.

So let's do some timeline stuff. This is a very tight timeline.

Puerto Rico, October 3, 2021. Dream Team compiled.

“I have had all my childhood vaccines, as have my children. I've had plenty of military vaccines back in the day. I'm not anti-vaccine, never have been,” said Ryan Cole, MD, a board-certified pathologist and CEO of Cole Diagnostics who once trained at the Mayo Clinic. He emphasized that he is “pro good science” and hoped to give a “thoughtful and probing voice” to a discussion that has become polarized around the Covid pandemic.

Cole added zero zip nada and my hands are shaking and I'm swallowing hard as YOU ALL NEED TO STOP ASKING ABOUT THIS CONSPIRACY THEORY NANO-STUFF AND I WILL WEAR RED PANTS AND STOP DANGEROUS ASTRID. MY CAPS LOCK ARE STUCK. ALSO I LAUGHED WHEN LITTLE STEVIE'S WIFE BROUGHT HIM LUNCH IN ONE OF OUR INTERVIEWS AND IT WAS CLEAR THAT I HAD SPENT MUCH TIME WITH LITTLE STEVIE.

Hawaii, October 18, 2021.

While Jill and I were in Maui, we were approached by some amazing thought leaders on the island, by the names of Andrew Aken, Edward Dowd, Thomas Lewis and Barry O'Keefe. These men came to us with a document they had written entitled “The Malone Doctrine”. This doctrine, regarding integrity in organizations is fundamentally important.

Right quick, I want to point out how this dissembling bullshit gets passed down by one Dr. Robert Malone who is the linchpin to the entire Calm the Marks Operation of Making You Not Ask the most basic questions.

*So, a few weeks ago, Jill and I found ourselves in *Maui

This is passive language. “We just found ourselves in Maui.”

Active language would read:

Childrens Health Defense, Robert F. Kennedy’s organization, flew Jill and I out to Maui for an expensive staged shoot with Photogenic Children which required a beach set, camera crew and multiple camera set up, multiple microphones and a sound guy, Craft Services, several meals, hotels, likely chaperones, likely a wardrobe department which of course managed to give one actor kid a hat to wear because Wardrobe People are creatives too, y’all!

Dr. Ryan Cole and Dr. Robert Malone and another Math Boy Genius MKUltra Wall Street Quant Human Genome Boy were all in Puerto Rico and also Hawaii.

We all just found ourselves in both places, all together and stuff.

Was Kirsch in Puerto Rico, too?

Weirdest thing.

(Wrongful Doxxing Math Boy has made a Heel/Face Turn depending on your Bobby Hero Syndrome metric, but okay. 🤔 He’s a wrongful doxxing bungler with “facial blindness” but he’s good with numbers. Just ask him.)

CHD Hawai'i presents "Talk Story" with Doctors Robert & Jill Malone

#2 I've been thinking about a lot, even as I have repeatedly said, "I'm not in the Not a Movement" and outlied in about 10-posts why the Not a Movement is a disparate set of coalitions usually spun out of teams (🐎) and with no guiding metric other than, "Stay off my Face (hero)"

The best that I can come up for you right now on #2 is:

Murdering the World is hard. Make it harder for them.

Murdering the World is logistically very difficult.

You can't even get your burger the way you want it half the time and that only involves two chains of communication. Imagine the nightmare of coordinating this entire Evil Layer Cake.

So make it difficult for all the layers of the Evil Layer Cake, especially those bureaucratic layers of Zombies who are going to get frustrated with your lack of compliance.

This is often abbreviated to “Do Not Comply”, fine. Work in progress.

Admit it.

You enjoyed this post. You like it when I take a day off and get sleep and have a somewhat re-charged, errr...recharged brain.

I am a Division Manager!! That is very important!! That is very important!! You don't talk to me like that!! People are scared of me!!

Central to the lawsuit is George Webb’s push for answers with the DTRA DOMANE program and how it appears to have played a role in resurrecting Remdesivir, a twice failed anti-viral which made its way into the “Standards of Care” Hospital Death Protocols.

The DOMANE Keep Out Sign

Dr. Robert Malone does not like research or scrutiny into his involvement with DOMANE, which stands for:

Discovery of Medical Countermeasures Against Novel Entities (DOMANE), a computer WEFFIE AI type program to address “novel and emerging threats”.

DOMANE was funded by the Defense Threat Reduction Agency (DTRA).

DOMANE was launched in late 2019, coincidentally when a novel coronavirus threat (😬) was already circulating per some reports in Lombardy, IT.

And per his 2021 CV, Malone was acting as a consultant (“get a team spun up”) to help create digital models of pathogens and countermeasures, and that “supercomputer” somehow ended up recommending Remdesivir for SARS-Cov2.

Bob angrily says that he had nothing to do with that.

Robert W Malone MD, MS  Writes Who is Robert Malone · Sep 27, 2022

DOMANE identified famotidine, the combination of famotidine + celecoxib, and also famotidine + celecoxib + Ivermectin. Unable to get the FDA to allow us to test the triple combo with ivermectin, the program pivoted to clinical testing of famotidine and famotidine + celecoxib in both a highly innovative virtual outpatient trial as well as an inpatient trial.

I did nothing with Remdesivir. I have no control over Hone, and have not spoken to him for over a year now. I have known Hone since he was a post-Doc. We parted ways during this outbreak, as was also the case with Callahan. If you have read "The Real Anthony Fauci", you would know this.

DOMANE did identify many repurposed (licensed) drugs, including those identified above. This is the chem bio defense side of DTRA. When I learned that the threat mitigation branch of DTRA was still funding the Wuhan lab, I alerted the world to this.

As usual, your dark conspiracy mutterings are decoupled from reality.

This is more of that tightrope that Bob seems to walk again and again.

Similar to the CHD Hawaii Glamour Shoot chat with photogenic children where he does not stress that coronaviruses are not amenable to vaccines; does not mention that he almost died from the second shot of Moderna.

Bob's 2021 CV was proudly trumpeting his involvement with DTRA/DOMANE in the first page summary.

Currently, Dr. Malone is leading a large team since January 10, 2020, focused on clinical research design, drug development, computer modeling and mechanisms of action of repurposed drugs for COVID-19 treatment. This work has included multiple manuscripts summarizing most recent findings relating to famotidine and overall insights into the mechanism of COVID-19 disease, and others focused on celecoxib and famotidine are being reviewed for publication. He has developed and wrote the initial clinical trial design: A Single Center, Randomized, Double Blinded Controlled Crossover Observational Outpatient Trial of the Safety and Efficacy of Oral Famotidine for the Treatment of COVID-19 in Non-Hospitalized Symptomatic Adults. Another project he has been involved with is a DTRA/DOMANE-funded development and performance of a virtual outpatient clinical trial designed to test new monitoring and data capture technology while using COVID19 as a live-fire example. He has helped open two IND for famotidine and celecoxib use for treatment and prevention of COVID19 disease including an associated

And DOMANE project is referenced again later.

Projects include:

- Led a large team since January 10, 2020, focused on drug development, computer modeling and mechanisms of action for COVID-19 and is now preparing a manuscript summarizing most recent findings relating to famotidine and overall insights into the mechanism of COVID-19 disease.
- Accelerated COVID-19 Therapeutic Interventions and Vaccines: ACTIV Therapeutics Clinical Working Group, NIH. Invited Participant. June, 2020-present.
- Clinical trials protocol development: Developed and wrote initial clinical trial design: A Single Center, Randomized, Double Blinded Controlled Crossover Observational Outpatient Trial of the Safety and Efficacy of Oral Famotidine for the Treatment of COVID-19 in Non-Hospitalized Symptomatic Adults.
- Proposed is a DOMANE/WRAIR joint development and performance of outpatient clinical trial designed to test new monitoring and data capture technology while using COVID19 as a live-fire example.
- Opening IND for famotidine use for treatment and prevention of COVID19 disease with associated drug master file.
- Principal Regulatory Consultant, Clinical Network Services (CNS)/Novotech, 2018-2019. Regulatory, clinical and business development support.
- Served as an expert witness with specialized training, 2017 - present.
- Ebola vaccine project for NewLink/Bioprotection Systems (rVSVdG ZEBOV Ebola vaccine project), resulting in well over 100M USD non-dilutive capital to NL/BPS. This also included working with the World Health Organization as well as initial set up of the licensing deal to Merck Vaccines of the Ebola vaccine.
- Served as Medical Director, Beardsworth, half time position on retainer, 2010 – 2013.
- Service on federal biotechnology/vaccines proposal study sections (multiple).
- Served as Editor-In-Chief of Journal of Immune Based Therapies and Vaccines 2007-2012
- Service on Safety Monitoring Committee, Phase 1 safety/immunogenicity of novel Influenza vaccine
- Consulting support for multiple vaccine-focused clinical sites in US and Latin America.
- Served as Medical Director, Vaccines with Accelovance, Inc. (2008 – 2009).

From Unlimited Hangout, July 31, 2020

Dr. Michael Callahan was given a leave of absence from his senior executive role at United Therapeutics (UTHR) in the wake of the COVID-19 outbreak in Wuhan, China; sent there to assist colleagues handling mass infections of the novel coronavirus under his joint appointment at a Chinese sister hospital of the Massachusetts General Hospital/Harvard Medical School, where he has maintained a faculty appointment since 2005.

<https://unlimitedhangout.com/2020/07/investigative-reports/darapas-man-in-wuhan/>

Callahan's nose for business came into play early on in the pandemic. After studying data from over 6,000 patient records from Wuhan, he reportedly detected a pattern that could point to a possible treatment using a low-cost and widely available ingredient of an "over-the-counter histamine-2 receptor antagonist called Famotidine", more commonly known as the brand name Pepcid.

Simultaneously in the U.S., it is claimed, an old colleague of Callahan's Dr. Robert Malone had been conducting a study with U.S. government-sponsored research teams. Specifically, Malone was working alongside U.S. Defense Threat Reduction Agency (DTRA) consultants to carry out supercomputer-based analyses to identify existing FDA-approved drugs that may be useful against the novel coronavirus responsible for COVID-19. Per their analyses, famotidine turned out to be the "most attractive combination of safety, cost and pharmaceutical characteristics".

DOMANE spat out Remdesivir

If one were at all involved with this project, would one not be eager to disavow Remdesivir and pull the covers to the best of your ability as to how that happened?

Loudly and early, perhaps?

For example.

"Something awful is happening," said Dr. Mike Yeadon in Summer, 2020, regarding the experimental injections. Yeadon, a Pharm Life Science expert immediately sounded the alarm to apparent malfeasance.

Like that?

Would you not welcome a chance to Yeadon-like join the Detective Team and track back how the herd culling twice failed anti-viral ended up on the hospital Death Protocols?

Or would you try and quash good faith inquiry with personal slights and "dark conspiracy" and smears?

FORT BELVOIR, Va. - The COVID pandemic took the world by surprise. Researchers were left scrambling to devise a way to best mitigate the negative impact this disease has on global health. However, at the Defense Threat Reduction Agency (DTRA) it is common to operate in the “what if” space when it comes to potential biological threats. In fact, DTRA investments in technologies that detect, mitigate, or neutralize chemical and biological threats to the military and the nation date back more than 20 years.

“In late 2019, DTRA started a new program called Discovery of Medical Countermeasures Against Novel Entities (DOMANE) to address novel and emerging threats,” stated Dr. David Hone, Chief Scientist within the Vaccines and Therapeutics Division at DTRA. “Based on previous work, we decided DOMANE would not only focus on FDA-approved drugs but also combination therapeutics, as we believe that no single drug will be completely effective in treating new diseases. COVID-19 has provided us an opportunity to test our hypotheses using DOMANE.”

DOMANE provides rapid decision-making capabilities to identify FDA-approved drugs that will most likely be effective therapeutics for COVID-19.

DOMANE provides rapid decision-making capabilities to identify FDA-approved drugs that will most likely be effective therapeutics for COVID-19. Repurposing candidate drugs from a pool about 7,500 FDA-approved drugs to advance an effective COVID-19 therapeutic allows for a more rapid response in developing a therapeutic regimen. The end-result is a response that modifies COVID-19 in treated patients and promotes a speedy recovery.

Veklury®, which is more commonly referred to as Remdesivir, is a ribonuclease inhibitor developed by Gilead Sciences. It delivers broad-spectrum antiviral activity and has proven to be a modestly effective therapeutic for the treatment of COVID-19. Originally developed as an Ebola Zaire countermeasure, this DTRA-funded inhibitor transitioned for more advanced testing due to promising pre-clinical trials.

Remdesivir inhibits viral replication in a wide variety of pathogens and was one of the first therapeutics identified in the Defense Department for repurposing to treat COVID-19. In the summer of 2020, Remdesivir received authorization for emergency use only in COVID-19 patients with continued FDA oversight.

Note that the Dr. David Hone, Chief Scientist who is cited in the Darnell Gardner DTRA press blurb is an old college friend of Robert Malone.

You will find as you do basic research into all of this that a small circle of apparent friends and colleagues go way back in time.

Dr. Malone presented a summary of the team findings and recommendations to the ASPR on 18 March 2020. Both Dr. Callahan and Dr. Malone were previously unaware of each other's work and agreed to collaborate on this project. As old friends, it is not the first time that they have worked to "save the world". With convergence of these two independent discoveries, Feinstein/Northwell Health system was contacted to explore the possibility of performing well controlled clinical trials within the Northwell hospital system. Northwell hospital system agreed that this repurposed drug candidate worthy of rigorous evaluation of activity in randomized clinical trials. Because New York decided that the standard of care for hospitalized COVID-19 patients was to include hydroxychloroquine, this was added to the study arms to ensure enrollment of patients and comply with bioethical requirements for inclusion of standard of care in clinical trial designs.

Many of them all the way through. From Anthrax to SARS-1 to Ebola to Zika to SARS-2.

The evidence is there, that in my opinion, this virus was engineered. And as my friend Steven Hatfill likes to point out, there is a sequence that looks like it could be what we call a super-antigen.

Robert Malone, here.

As mentioned, the lone time that Bob Malone showed up here on this Stack and used the "dark conspiracy" thought terminating cliché was on my DTRA/DOMANE post back in September.

He also had George Webb tossed from Steve Kirsch's Murder Ball Litigation event in Atlanta, per Webb.

Webb had been issued a press pass and had traveled to Atlanta to cover the event.

We covered that here.

Just got thrown out of the COVID Litigation Event in Atlanta, GA. This looks like a DNC Lawyer Melissa Prober production, my old nemesis from DNC lawsuit days. Jordon Walker was a giveaway. Trevor Fitzgibbon was a DNC giveaway.

Question, and this is a question that I asked of Steve on his board a LONG TIME ago in friendlier times:

When did Steve Kirsch first become acquainted with Dr. Robert Malone?

How did they happen to meet and how long did this friendship span prior to their Dark Horse Podcast breakout appearance?

The Problem

Nearly all funded clinical trials today are focused on slow or ineffective solutions

New drugs/vaccines take a long time to develop and an even longer time to distribute. Some experts predict it will take many countries seven years to vaccinate 75% of their populations.

Repurposing existing drugs is much faster. Unfortunately, nearly all clinical trials of repurposed drugs have been conducted via inpatient trials

- These require participants to be hospitalized before joining the trial
- Viruses respond best when treated early, not late.

Independent researcher Mark Kulacz, aka Housatonic, was the first one that I saw really push into DOMANE territory in a now removed video called "Covid Claus".

(That video was strangely removed after Mark and Bob both attended an RFK, Jr, Freedom Summit in TN.)

I have downloaded that video in full and have it at the ready. But I will decline from posting it barring explicit permission from Mark, and if Mark offers that permission, he would be well served to just post it again himself.

Here is Mark's clearinghouse of information on DOMANE.

On January 4, 2020, Callahan called Dr. Robert Malone from China just as the coronavirus began taking its first wave of casualties. Malone, a former contractor to the US Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases and the chief medical officer at Alchem Laboratories, is the inventor of the mRNA vaccine technology platform. Malone first met Callahan in 2009 through Malone's sometime business partner, Daryl Galloway, a CIA officer who formerly served in the US Navy and at one point held the post of director of JSTO in the Defense Threat Reduction Agency. To Malone, Galloway introduced Callahan as a fellow CIA officer. During his January 4 phone call, Callahan told Malone that he was just outside Wuhan. Malone assumed that Callahan was visiting China under cover of his Harvard and Massachusetts General Hospital appointments. Callahan told Malone that he had been treating "hundreds" of COVID-19 patients. Callahan subsequently described to National Geographic how he had pored through thousands of case studies at the outbreak's epicenter. He giddily reported his amazement at the virus's "magnificent infectivity," and its capacity to explode "like a silent smart bomb in your community."⁹¹ Callahan later confessed to Malone that he lacked authority to be in Wuhan and had escaped by boat when the government imposed its quarantine. Callahan repeated parts of this story to Brendan Borrell, a writer for Science. Later, DTRA

MEDICAL FUTURES STRATEGY

DOMANE

Discovery of Medical Countermeasures
Against Novel Entities | DECEMBER 11, 2019

OVERVIEW

A core goal of the Joint Science and Technology Office (JSTO) for Chemical and Biological Defense (CBD) is enable the Warfighter to operate effectively within battlefields exposed to chemical and biological (CB) agents and avoid technological surprise. However, rapid growth in technological capabilities and vastly expanded knowledge base are fueling the broadening and accelerating threat agent development. As a result, it is crucial that the JSTO-CBD develop systems capable of rapid medical countermeasure (MCM) development to quash the risk of technological surprise.

Fortunately, there have been a multitude of technical developments that enable rapid in vitro toxicological assessment, precise structural resolution of novel MCM targets, and high-throughput MCM screening. Artificial intelligence (AI) systems and machine learning (ML) algorithms also hold promise to reduce the need for iterative laboratory-based target and MCM validation but currently lack the large data sets necessary to support predictive drug development. Although each of these technologies have potential to provide utility in and of themselves, there has yet to be an effort to fully integrate these platform technologies into a system of systems, which would enable the discovery of MCMs against novel entities and generate large data sets to support future AI/ML-driven rapid MCM discovery.

The intent of DOMANE is to bring together teams with diverse technical capabilities and identify an effective workflow that enables integration and rapid resolution of threat agent mechanism of action (MDA), MCM target discovery and MCM development. In doing so, DOMANE will create a broad candidate pipeline (Figure 1), which in turn will facilitate drug development against priority CB threats.

So that's the back story, and that's where things sit as of now.

The big takeaway is that Robert Malone worked on a project with DTRA and that project ended up giving you Remdesivir as one of the first therapeutic countermeasures for a “novel” virus.

Remdesivir inhibits viral replication in a wide variety of pathogens and was one of the first therapeutics identified in the Defense Department for repurposing to treat COVID-19.

(The “novel” part was the key. It’s in the name. It had to be “new”.)

Bob gets pissed when you bring this up and now it has filtered into a nasty spat with George Webb and another lawsuit.

Then 16 years later and one of the top suspects in the Anthrax letters case advises Trump on covid supposed pandemic. I've asked Peter Navarro about that a couple of times on his substack but no answer of course.

Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors Executive Summary:

They figure out how to get their guys in the mix.

JWM is speaking of Steven Hatfill.

Hatfill was the prime suspect in the anthrax attacks back in the day.

Back when the Radical Muslim Terrorists hated us for our freedoms but then it was kinda looking like an inside job and stuff.

Suddenly some strange new (incredibly dubious) evidence emerged about hapless patsy Bruce Ivins, who was quickly suicided, and bing, bang, boom, Hatfill was cleared!

Scrubbed clean, as we say at SHStack.

Look here he is on Dr. Drew warning about the NEXT MAJOR PANDEMIC.

But I digress.

From Anthrax Suspect scrubbed clean to Trump Advisor.

Flash forwards 20-years or so. Hatfill ends up serving under Peter Navarro on Donald Trump's COVID Team!

Navarro is shown here subbing in for Steve Bannon.

(Bannon rapidly made Bob Malone a fixture on his show for all things COVID.)

(This does not happen by accident.)

I have a portion of the below video screenshot downloaded. These two really lay it on thick with the praise for one another, (Navarro and Malone.)

Just one big family!

Navarro's Anthrax Scrubbed Clean guy is also pals with Malone!

Dr. Robert Malone tells Alex Newman: COVID mRNA vaccine not effective against omicron

"The evidence is there, that in my opinion, this virus was engineered. And as my friend Steven Hatfill likes to point out, there is a sequence that looks like it could be what we call a super-antigen."

A super-antigen!

What freedoms will we have to give up to combat this new emerging super-antigen threat?!!!

AND TELL ME MORE ABOUT THAT NEXT MAJOR PANDEMIC, STEVEN HATFILL!

Lately, I've been thinking about Whitney Webb going to work at CHD.

I remember Bob on Steve Bannon mentioning that he had been consulting with Whitney Webb, and I thought, hmmm, odd, but good!

(Yes, I was a Sweet Summer Child.)

Me, then, thinking: Whitney will teach Hero Bob about the Great Reset and stuff!

::stares out window::

Soon enough, Whitney Webb would join the CHD Team.

Okay...why?

Meanwhile, what is James O'Keefe doing with Bobby and why is he out at Project Veritas? What is happening? 🤔

Theory: Whitney Spoiled Their Callahan Hero Party

So it now occurs to me that DARPA Bioweapon Doc Michael Callahan was supposed to be our first Hero.

Mike was going to be our Bob.

Everywhere all the time Michael Callahan.

“Hi, I was going to be your globetrotting Virus Hunter Bond Hero, but Pesky Whitney Webb and Raul Diego ruined everything!”

The ground was laid for Hero Callahan with this Mockingbird Media book by Brendan Borrell.

This lone gripping Goodies Fight the Baddies Propaganda page turning thriller launched about 250 fawning Deep State Narrative friendly magazine excerpts.

Yeah...it's propaganda.

Okay, just the subtitle itself is a little...Mickey D's. 😊

And the way the excerpts were written, like Hollywood movie treatments, made alarm bells begin to go off on my McDonald's meter.

Glamorized goodies and baddies. Intrigue. Staunch USA USA USA! vibe.

<https://sagehana.substack.com/p/author-brendan-borrells-2021-book>

Whitney had busted Callahan though.

("We would have gotten away with it, too! If not for that meddling Whitney Webb!")

Whitney was jumping on this stuff. Whitney and Raul Diego (Whitney?) were discovering too much about Mike and a lot of it was coming from Robert Malone's now shuttered website's press releases and so forth.

The image is a screenshot of a news article on a website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with a hamburger menu icon on the left and several menu items: 'Investigative Series', 'Podcast', 'Authors', 'Press & Media', 'Support Us', 'FAQ', and 'Español'. Below the navigation bar, the article title 'Head of the Hydra: The Rise of Robert Kadlec' is displayed in a large, bold font. Underneath the title is a subtitle: 'A powerful network of political operatives, a global vaccine mafia and their man in Washington.' Below the subtitle, there is a small icon of a person and the text 'BY WHITNEY REED' followed by 'MAY 10, 2020' and '35-37 MINUTE READ'. The main content area features a large photograph of five men in suits, with Robert Kadlec in the center. In the bottom right corner of the photograph, there is a 'Member Login' button.

INVESTIGATIVE REPORTS

DARPA's Man in Wuhan

Michael Callahan's career began in USAID and in the bioweapons labs of the former Soviet Union, advancing the agenda of the global bioweapons and pharmaceutical cartels. He would take what he learned there to execute a massive expansion of DARPA's biodefense portfolio and today finds himself squarely in the center of the origins of the coronavirus pandemic.

Opinion: How a 24-year-old technology can save the planet

By STEVE KIRSCH | December 5, 2008 at 9:29 a.m.

We are running out of time. Scientists tell us that if we are to avoid irreversible damage to our planet due to climate change, we need a prompt worldwide moratorium on constructing new coal plants and a gradual phaseout of all existing coal plants by 2030.

That isn't happening. Our best known climate scientist, James Hansen, has been traveling the globe, explaining the urgency, and exhorting world leaders to phase out coal completely. Leaders in Germany, the United Kingdom, and Japan politely listen and then ignore him. Germany, often held up as a model of government commitment to renewables, is planning to build more than 20 new coal plants.

Not a single world leader has heeded Hansen's advice. Not in the United States. Not anywhere.

We are running out of time. Scientists tell us that if we are to avoid irreversible damage to our planet due to climate change, we need a prompt worldwide moratorium on constructing new coal plants and a gradual phaseout of all existing coal plants by 2030.

That isn't happening. Our best known climate scientist, James Hansen, has been traveling the globe, explaining the urgency, and exhorting world leaders to phase out coal completely.

Listen.

I’m down to have a discussion on climate change and environmentalism and alternative energy sources and even population growth.

Let's have a big public discussion on the science, and the actual threats, and the potential remedies. Sure.

If it involves elites who own the world (GPS, Global Power Structures) making the call to cull the herd of the useless eaters and a guise of "carbon credits" and social credit scores and digital IDs and CBDCs and a panopticon of surveillance and doesn't take into account that the United States Global Mall Cop Military is the most egregious offender of the carbon credit scorecard and that the Rockefellers pop out kids like crazy and that Davos is littered with private jets, then it kinda sounds like you just want to murder people.

How an antidepressant became a possible candidate for COVID treatment

The Problem

Nearly all funded clinical trials today are focused on slow or ineffective solutions

New drugs/vaccines take a long time to develop and an even longer time to distribute. Some experts predict it will take many countries seven years to vaccinate 75% of their populations.

Repurposing existing drugs is much faster. Unfortunately, nearly all clinical trials of repurposed drugs have been conducted via inpatient trials

- These require participants to be hospitalized before joining the trial
- Viruses respond best when treated early, not late.

Good job, Steve, if so.

They're called the Good Club - and they want to save the world

Paul Harris in New York reports on the small, elite group of billionaire philanthropists who met recently to discuss solving the planet's problems

It is the most elite club in the world. Ordinary people need not apply. Indeed there is no way to ask to join. You simply have to be very, very rich and very, very generous. On a global scale.

This is the Good Club, the name given to the tiny global elite of billionaire philanthropists who recently held their first and highly secretive meeting in the heart of New York City.

The names of some of the members are familiar figures: Bill Gates, George Soros, Warren Buffett, Oprah Winfrey, David Rockefeller and Ted Turner. But there are others, too, like business giants Eli and Edythe Broad, who are equally wealthy but less well known. All told, its members are worth $125bn.

The meeting - called by Gates, Buffett and Rockefeller - was held in response to the global economic downturn and the numerous health and environmental crises that are plaguing the globe. It was, in some ways, a summit to save the world.

No wonder that when news of the secret meeting leaked, via the seemingly unusual source of an Irish-American website, it sent shock waves through

And maybe if some True Believers are just now getting up to speed on the Ostensible Reason vs. the Actual Reason and would do well to listen to the Day Tapes, then that's my apparent mission on Planet Cull the Herd.

You don't say?

Sounds serious.

We better do this. After all, we have a super-antigen.

Katherine Watt, on another conference, the StopVaxPassports panel held on April 24.

Most of Hatfill's statements are demonstrably false and serve only to reinforce the lies told by the globalist totalitarians through their propaganda channels.

In his segment, Hatfill argued that the so-called pandemic events of the last several decades were pandemics; they they were poorly-managed due to slow and ineffectual surveillance programs; that there are currently massive threats of new communicable diseases brewing around the world due to population growth, wet markets, and other factors; that faster, more comprehensive, more militarized data mining, surveillance and population control are a good response; and that the CDC and WHO were originally designed and currently work to identify and control disease outbreaks.

I disagree with all of those claims.

I think the events of the last century described by globalists as "pandemics," back to the Spanish flu in 1918 or earlier, were orchestrated attacks on human societies, religious and governing institutions, human bodies and human immune systems. They were not naturally-occurring or naturally-circulating diseases or benevolent disease mitigation programs.

I think that globalist totalitarians want increased surveillance and population control, and therefore orchestrate false-flag pandemics — through psychological manipulation, propaganda and other forms of lying and fear-mongering — and also orchestrate biochemical attacks (weapons falsely labeled as 'vaccines' and treatments), to create pretexts for installing more intensive surveillance and control systems to control and kill more people.

Note: Katherine Watt is a force of nature.

More George, who I think is starting to raise his cohesive storyline game. He sure as hell puts in the leg work and does not flinch.

In the linked article, Malone claims he was injured by the second Moderna jab.

In fact, he says "The second shot almost did me in. As in I almost died."

Per his own timeline, he got the second shot around May 2021. He perhaps would have been still experiencing symptoms in the time frame of that first marathon Dark Horse podcast with Kirsch and Weinstein. (June 9, 2021)

Weinstein asked Malone if he was jabbed. Malone said he was and gave his reasons for getting jabbed (travel).

He never mentioned any symptoms. He certainly didn't mention almost dying. That was the time to bring it up. As Sage has pointed out a few times, his wife was still complaining that he wasn't getting credit for the mRNA vaxx tech in that time frame, (June 2, 2021) which is also very strange.

In October, 2021, did Malone neglect to tell a group of teenagers and young adults in Hawaii about almost dying from the second jab?

If so, I find that odd. I find that inexcusable. It leaves me (and many others) with lots of questions.

The October, 2021 Hawaiian sit down with the kids.

The last little girl says she is scared to get the experimental injections in another video that I've seen. She had good reason to be scared.

In this clip, the kids are discussing being segregated and shamed for not taking the same shot that months earlier had almost killed Dr. Malone, per his own testimony.

Malone's affect is just not congruent with a man that almost died of the very injections that he is discussing. Maybe he was told not to be too "anti-vax" by CHD?

I don't know. I could speculate, but that leads to lawfare.

Writes Robert Malone:

Anyway, back to my story. I knew in the beginning of April, 2021, that I had to travel overseas and the word on the street was that the European Union was going to require full vaccination before entering any EU country by summer (that actually never happened BTW). I knew that a full vaccination protocol was a process of weeks - and that I had better get started! Furthermore, there was a lot of buzz around the idea that vaccination would help with “long-COVID.” I had already had COVID, and just couldn’t shake a number of chronic issues that I had developed after getting the disease. Frankly, I should have done more homework on that one- because this idea really didn't hold up to scrutiny.

Be that as it may, in April, 2021, I got vaccinated. It was early enough in the cycle, that I had no choice but to take the Moderna vaccine, as that was available in my area. The vaccine was distributed at a local college, with the Army Reserves administering the program.

The first shot was fine. No issues.

The second shot almost did me in. As in I almost died.

After the injection, I had the usual fatigue, muscle-ache and then the palpitations started, as well as shortness of breath. Within a couple days, it got worse - I am not someone who goes to the doctor easily, but luckily for me, I happened to have a routine appointment with my physician. She cuffed me and my systolic blood pressure was through the roof. As she is also a cardiologist, she had more tests run, started me on high blood pressure meds and we got it under control. I kind of feel like I owe her my life. A call out to the fantastic Dr. C. Bove.

The History of how mRNA Vaccines were Discovered

So, what does one do when someone's work is not cited, when they are erased from history?

It turns out there is nothing one can do. When a national newspaper gets it wrong, over the course of months – they won't correct it. Even if one goes to the editor, the magazine, the newspaper or the journalist. Even if one writes about it on social media, etc. Yes, I and to some extent, Robert did all that. I have written, begged, pleaded, informed – all to no avail. Basically, we hit a stone wall. Either journalists denied it (“well, I said “others” worked on these technologies”) or we were ignored. But with time, each article seems to get more and more exaggerated about the Dr. Kariko “discoveries.”

So, why am I writing this?

I guess at the very least to set the record straight with his friends.

This was and is Robert's work, his passion. He is thrilled that all these technologies are working. He is thrilled for his part in that. He freely credits that other people have worked to develop this. But to have poured his heart and soul into this – decades of work and to have someone else get credit for his work in the national press is demoralizing and disheartening.

::raises hand slowly:: Your husband almost died from these injections a month or two earlier and he is thrilled that these technologies are working?

Malone inserted himself (or someone working on his behalf) into my comment kerfuffle with Nass. He says he doesn't have a Telegram account, so I posted the comment from January 2022 that was attributed to him on the Telegram account bearing his name. He told me the comment was from his substack (the article linked above) and also published in his book (Lies My Government Told Me).

Ipsa facto, it is his timeline. If he got the first Moderna shot in April, he likely got the second in May (late April at the earliest). I find it odd (and told him so in my response) that he didn't mention almost dying in that marathon Dark Horse podcast. In fact, he didn't mention any symptoms that I recall.

WUHAN CORONAVIRUS

A Practical Guide for Preparing and Protecting Yourself from the Coronavirus Outbreak.

If you find that you are afraid, nervous, apprehensive, or even panicking about this new virus known as SARS-CoV-2, then you are not alone. You need to recognize the truth of the matter — it is here, and it is not going anywhere any time soon. The best thing you can do is prepare for the worst while hoping for the best and still gaining any of the critical information that you may need to protect yourself and your loved ones from the strange new COVID-19 disease that is infecting people around the world.

When you pick up this book, you are going to be guided through everything that you will need to know about this virus, how it is spreading, and why it is doing what it is doing. You will learn not only what it is, but how it works and why it is spreading as widely as it is. The mystery of this virus will fade away, and with that understanding comes a sense of control over the situation—a sense that ultimately, whatever happens, you are prepared and you know what you are going to do.

The image is a screenshot of an Amazon product page for a book. At the top, the Amazon logo is visible on the left, and a search bar is in the center. Below the search bar, there are navigation links for various categories like 'All', 'Clinic', 'Customer Service', etc. A green banner at the top right says 'Be ready to say thanks in the moment' with a Starbucks logo. The main product is 'Wuhan Coronavirus: A Practical Guide for Preparing and Protecting Yourself from the Coronavirus Outbreak. Understanding Symptoms of COVID-19, Transmission and Prevention of the new Chinese Pandemic. Paperback'. The book cover is red with white text. Below the title, it says 'No reviews'. There are two pricing options: 'Hardcover from $56.83' and 'Paperback from $49.70'. A 'Read more' link is at the bottom of the product description.

Have you seen social media lately? It is flooded with pictures and videos about this mysterious new illness that is sweeping across the world. Initially contained to China, this disease has officially expanded beyond and into the outside world. It is officially considered a global emergency, and it is officially something that is very likely to spread near you at some point in time.

If you find that you are afraid, nervous, apprehensive, or even panicking about this new virus known as SARS-CoV-2, then you are not alone. You need to recognize the truth of the matter-it is here, and it is not going anywhere any time soon. The mystery of this virus will fade away, and with that understanding comes a sense of control over the situation—a sense that ultimately, whatever happens, you are prepared and you know what you are going to do.

Within this book, you will find the following information to help you shed some light on this strange new virus:

What a virus is and how they work, in depth to get a solid understanding of what you need to know in order to understand SARS-CoV-2 What es are and how they work for you to understand how this one is working and how it compares to others Information on how the WHO ranks diseases, determines what a pandemic is, and how this information is important to know. Information about what a global public health emergency is and why this matters A closer look at SARS-CoV-2—the new virus that is flying through the world, leaving people scrambling to come up with a cure or other method to fight it How the virus spreads Information about who is the most likely to get sick Information about the symptoms of -the disease that is caused by the virus Answers to many of the common rumors and misconceptions that are currently circling the internet Information on the struggles to get accurate data out in the open A timeline of what has happened during this infection How to prepare and protect yourself should a pandemic bring a contagious virus to you AND MORE!!

If you are ready to understand what you can do to protect yourself from the virus and how you can ensure that you and your family are all ready to shelter in place, should the need arise, then this is the book for you. Do not let another day pass by without any action-you never know when the outbreak will reach you, and you do not want to be unprepared.

Book Synopsis

This book provides a pragmatic, practical guide full of everyday tips for living in the real world, while doing what you can to avoid contracting the novel coronavirus (COVID-19). The most important thing that anyone can do to reduce the spread of novel coronavirus infection and disease among your community is to protect yourself, and this book is designed to empower each of us to accomplish this. It is also intended to help you to recognize the signs when you or someone else has become infected. It is not intended as a "doomday", "survivalist" or "prepper" manual. It is written for average people: mothers, fathers, relatives and families, young and old, singles and couples, workers and retired, well off and living from paycheck to paycheck. At various points, the book does delve into more technical aspects of virology, epidemiology and the biology of novel coronavirus disease. These sections are written for the more scientifically adept reader. However, if you are not scientifically minded, please do not let that scare you off. Discussions on how to protect yourself and your family, and how to prepare for the coming epidemic, are written for and easily understood by those without a strong scientific background. The book also has concrete suggestions on how to mitigate risks associated with businesses and the workplace. This includes risk management and continuity planning for businesses. Finally, an introduction to medical countermeasures (drugs, vaccines, antibodies etc.) development options for this novel coronavirus are discussed. A word of caution: overreaction triggering unnecessary panic can be extremely damaging - economically and in other ways. Just as under-reaction is a problem. Please remember to Keep Calm and Carry on.

I mean, these are probably both very fine books!

Author Robert Mask's book is way pricier! $50 compared to $10.

The Malone book appears to be unavailable, but the Amazon Robert Dark book appears to still be available if one wants to shell out the $50.

In the Washington Post article, Malone says he treated his own case of COVID with famotidine (Pepcid AC) in late February, 2020.

Housatonic says 8-cases nationwide. I found a link that says 15-cases by February 13, 2020.

Bob and Jill had a book out, available for sale, on Feb. 10, 2020.

Operation Book Warp Speed!

I can't seem to figure out when Robert Mask had his book out. 😄

CDC Confirms 15th Case of Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19)

Media Statement

For Immediate Release: Thursday, February 13, 2020

Contact: Media Relations

(404) 639-3286

CDC today confirmed another infection with Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) in the United States. The patient is among a group of people under a federal quarantine order at JBSA-Lackland in Texas because of their recent return to the U.S. on a State Department-chartered flight that arrived on February 7, 2020.

All people who lived or travelled in Hubei Province, China, are considered at high risk of having been exposed to this virus and are subject to a temporary 14-day quarantine upon entry into the United States. This is the first person under quarantine at JBSA-Lackland who had symptoms and tested positive for COVID-19. The individual is currently isolated and receiving medical care at a designated hospital nearby.

This brings the total number of COVID-19 cases in the United States to 15. There will likely be additional cases in the coming days and weeks, including among other people recently returned from Wuhan. While 195 people were discharged from quarantine on Tuesday, more than 600 people who returned on chartered flights from Wuhan remain under federal quarantine and are being closely monitored to contain the spread of the virus.

For the latest information on the outbreak, visit CDC's Novel Coronavirus 2019 website.

I have had no role in development of any SARS-CoV-2 genetic vaccine. I played an early consultant/advisory role in the development of a traditional vaccine which employed protein subunits of spike and the nucleocapsid. I have received consulting compensation from that company (called Reliance Industries of India, and completely unrelated to the US-based "reliance" company which George Webb likes to constantly badger me about and accuse me of working for). I received indirect funding from the DTRA "DOMANE" program during 2020-2021, as a subcontractor to Alchem (which is not my company, unlike what George Webb likes to accuse) and as a subcontractor to MIT-Lincoln Lab. I had no role in managing DTRA "DOMANE", nor in any prioritization of drug therapies for COVID-19. I have never endorsed Remdesivir. Remdesivir was promoted by Anthony Fauci and his organization. I have repeatedly, from early on, supported the use of a variety of repurposed drugs agents

Not me! It was Hone.

I was just a lowly subcontractor CHIEF MEDICAL OFFICER.

So anyway, Robert Malone gets a call from DARPA doc/CIA agent Michael Callahan on January 4, 2020.

“Bobby get a team spun up, blah, blah, blah...”

In five weeks, he and Jill have a book on Amazon.

In about seven weeks, he has contracted the novel “smart bomb” virus himself, one of the first cases in the United States and self treated with famotidine.

He recovers.

Oh, Bob and Callahan had SEPARATELY discovered famotidine.

Robert Kadlec shells out $20.7m to study Pepcid.

Trump had already partnered with MoDARPA to get those experimental mRNA vaccines up and running.

Later on Bob has Long Covid and thinks meeeebbee the exp. mRNA injections will help. Or something.

It all becomes a blur at some point.

I’ve been hypnotized.

At root, an indelicate question.

Can you get sued for asking an awkward question? Because you want to understand how the COVID-19 Psychological Operation and Global Medical Live Exercise went down?

In a now deleted video, apparently inaccessible for view on the Wayback Machine, Mark Kulacz speculated that Dr. Robert Malone may have had an active interest in the success of the Inovio Pharmaceuticals Vaccine entry in the Operation Warp Speed Covid-19 Vaccine ruse program.

If you follow the link and select the Wayback Machine link, the video may still be available if you have the appropriate browser and settings. (Brave and Tor, or VPN).

I currently have it pulled up for view, but a quick check of other browsers reveals that it no longer exists. (Obviously it does; it is playing on my computer right now.)

Further, I have the entire video downloaded, but will refrain from posting it as a courtesy to Mark, aka, Housatonic, barring his express permission.

The gist of the supposition is that Dr. Malone may have had a conflict of interest in seeking alternative treatments for COVID-19, as actually finding effective treatments would have disqualified an Emergency Use Authorization for the new experimental vaccines.

Of course there is also the “I was merely a consultant” remove from both missions: Providing the world with exciting new Vaccine Transfection Technology with Inovio, and Alternative Treatment Hunting with DTRA and their DOMANE program.

Recently, Malone has distanced himself further from the DOMANE program, characterizing it as “early and superficial”.

Malone’s 2021 CV seemed far more bullish on his involvement.

Currently, Dr. Malone is leading a large team since January 10, 2020, focused on clinical research design, drug development, computer modeling and mechanisms of action of repurposed drugs for COVID-19 treatment. This work has included multiple manuscripts summarizing most recent findings relating to famotidine and overall insights into the mechanism of COVID-19 disease, and others focused on celecoxib and famotidine are being reviewed for publication. He has developed and wrote the initial clinical trial design: A Single Center, Randomized, Double Blinded Controlled Crossover Observational Outpatient Trial of the Safety and Efficacy of Oral Famotidine for the Treatment of COVID-19 in Non-Hospitalized Symptomatic Adults. Another project he has been involved with is a DTRA/DOMANE-funded development and performance of a virtual outpatient clinical trial designed to test new monitoring and data capture technology while using COVID19 as a live-fire example. He has helped open two IND for famotidine and celecoxib use for treatment and prevention of COVID19 disease including an associated drug master file, and has enabled teaming/pharmaceutical supply arrangements with two major pharmaceutical firms.

On retrospect, it appears abundantly clear that the Dept. of Defense wanted the new experimental gene based “vaccine” technologies to be produced, and that no current effective countermeasure would be allowed to be found.

Robert Malone was well aware of the drive to gene technology vaccines and he had prior discussed their emergence at the World Health Organization Vaccine Strategies powwow in 2011.

Ten years later, with a gene transfection patent to his name, Malone’s “early and superficial” DOMANE testing were being promoted by one Bob Malone along with caution about Ivermectin.

I am data based. And have confirmed with personal experience. Ivermectin has utility, but is not perfect. Our HD Famotidine + celecoxib trials will start soon, and that also shows promise. Fluvoxamine is promising. There are many others.

DOMANE identified famotidine, the combination of famotidine + celecoxib, and also famotidine + celecoxib + ivermectin. Unable to get the FDA to allow us to test the triple combo with ivermectin, the program pivoted to clinical testing of famotidine and famotidine + celecoxib in both a highly innovative virtual outpatient trial as well as an inpatient trial.

I did nothing with Remdesivir. I have no control over Hone, and have not spoken to him for over a year now. I have known Hone since he was a post-Doc. We parted ways during this outbreak, as was also the case with Callahan. If you have read "The Real Anthony Fauci", you would know this.

DOMANE did identify many repurposed (licensed) drugs, including those identified above. This is the chem bio defense side of DTRA. When I learned that the threat mitigation branch of DTRA was still funding the Wuhan lab, I alerted the world to this.

As usual, your dark conspiracy mutterings are decoupled from reality.

In 2001, a paper was published in Molecular Biology regarding the transfection of genetic materials through the skin.

Received for publication June 7, 2000, Published February 2001 in *Molecular Therapy

Abstract

Naked DNA injection with electroporation (EP) is a promising method for nucleic acid vaccination (NAV) and in vivo gene therapy. Skin is an ideal target for NAV due to ease of administration and the accessibility of large numbers of antigen-presenting cells within the tissue. This study demonstrates that in vivo skin EP may be used to increase transgene expression up to an average of 83-fold relative to naked DNA injection (50 µg DNA per dose, $P < 0.005$). Transfected cells were principally located in dermis and included adipocytes, fibroblasts, endothelial cells, and numerous mononuclear cells with dendritic processes in a porcine model. Transfected cells were also observed in lymph nodes draining electroporated sites. A HBV sAg-coding plasmid was used to test skin EP-mediated NAV in a murine model. Analysis of humoral immune responses including immunoglobulin subclass profiles revealed strong enhancement of EP-mediated NAV relative to naked DNA injection, with a Th1-dominant, mixed-response pattern compared to immunization with HBV sAg protein that was exclusively Th2 ($P = 0.02$). Applications for these findings include NAV-based modulation of immune responses to pathogens, allergens, and tumor-associated antigens and the modification of tolerance.

Abstract

Naked DNA injection with electroporation (EP) is a promising method for nucleic acid vaccination (NAV) and in vivo gene therapy. Skin is an ideal target for NAV due to ease of administration and the accessibility of large numbers of antigen-presenting cells within the tissue. This study demonstrates that in vivo skin EP may be used to increase transgene expression up to an average of 83-fold relative to naked DNA injection (50 µg DNA per dose, $P < 0.005$). Transfected cells were principally located in dermis and included adipocytes, fibroblasts,

Discussion

In this report, we demonstrate that the in vivo application of pulsed electric fields significantly increases intradermally injected transgene expression. The procedure is easy to perform and well tolerated both clinically and histopathologically. In contrast to the predominantly epidermal pattern of expression observed after intradermal injection of naked DNA (

), a pattern of dermal and subdermal transfection was observed with skin EP. Transfected cell types included numerous mononuclear cells with dendritic cell morphology, as well as large numbers of adipocytes. Transgene expression was observed in lymph nodes draining electroporated tissues, although the studies do not distinguish between the migration of transfected cells from skin to nodes and the direct uptake and transfection of resident lymph node cells by the injected DNA. To test the hypothesis that increased transfection efficiency would translate into increased nucleic acid vaccination efficacy, mice were vaccinated with a HBV surface antigen-encoding plasmid. Analysis of resulting humoral immune response patterns demonstrated that EP treatment strongly enhanced NAV relative to immunization with DNA alone. This response was mixed but Th1 dominant compared to immunization with protein alone.

(54) Title: METHOD FOR GENE TRANSFECTION AND VACCINATION THROUGH SKIN USING ELECTROPORMEABILIZATION

(57) Abstract: Cells in the skin or mucosal tissue of an individual can be transfected with a polynucleotide or gene by injecting the polynucleotide into the skin or mucosal tissue and applying a pulsating electrical field in the vicinity of the injection. This approach is suitable for vaccinating an individual to the expressed polypeptide, thereby generating antibodies or to engendering cell-mediated immunity. For example, antibodies generated against the expression product of a gene cloned from genomic or cDNA libraries can be used to characterize the product and, hence, illuminate the function of the gene. The approach also can be employed, in an animal or human, for treating a disease condition or for modifying a skin condition that affects the appearance of the skin. Kits are included for carrying out the methods of the invention.

ELECTROPORATIVE DELIVERY OF MOLECULES TO ORGANS

FIELD OF INVENTION

The present invention relates to the electroporative delivery of a polynucleotide or other bioactive molecule into cells of an intact organ by means of an epithelially- or endothelially-lined lumen connected to the organ.

BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

An inability to deliver a therapeutic agent across a cell membrane has profound consequences upon the effectiveness of a drug, vaccine, or gene-therapy treatment. Substances that potentially can remedy or cure a cellular abnormality, an acquired or inborn disease, or a genetic 10 aberration may be rendered ineffective if they cannot traverse a cell membrane, to modify a biological or genetic trait.

Consequently, procedures that aid the flow of a drug or gene into a cell are highly sought after, as are molecules that help transport therapeutic agents across the membrane barrier. These delivery methods, however,
15 are far from ideal and, in some cases, are harmful. Viral-based treatments, for example, exhibit low delivery efficacy and are potentially toxic. Thus, administering adenoviral gene therapy vectors to the lung causes pronounced inflammation and pulmonary edema. Yang et al., J. Virol. 69: 2004 (1995).

20 The presence of relatively few adenoviral receptor molecules on the

So far so good. Just medical inventions and patents and so forth.

The immediate questions that come to my mind are:

- Is this the patented tech that Inovio Pharmaceutical employs?

- If Inovio had succeeded in being selected as a Vaccine Manufacturer in Operation Warp Speed, would this have paid royalties to these patent holders? (And Inovio USA incorporators?)

To be clear, I have no idea. This entire world of biotechnology is murky.

Inovio's shares wilt as COVID-19 vaccine runs into FDA hold

When Inovio joined the race for a COVID-19 vaccine, questions swirled. After all, critics often note, it has pitched into previous pandemics, including Ebola and Zika, but after 40 years in business, the company has failed to get a DNA vaccine—or any product—approved. Now, the FDA has questions, too.

The agency slapped a partial clinical hold on the phase 2/3 study of Inovio’s COVID-19 vaccine because it has “additional questions” about the trial, the company revealed Monday. Details were slim, with the company saying only that the Investigational New Drug (IND) application for the phase 2/3 study would be on hold until the FDA’s questions “have been satisfactorily addressed.”

“The company is actively working to address the FDA’s questions and plans to respond in October, after which the FDA will have up to 30 days to notify INOVIO of its decision as to whether the trial may proceed,” the company said in the statement.

Six months prior to that, Inovio was blasted and compared to the Elizabeth Holmes sham biotech company Theranos by Citron Research.

May 1, 2020.

<https://www.fiercebiotech.com/biotech/inovio-s-covid-19-vaccine-claims-echo-theranos-says-short-attack>

Inovio Pharmaceuticals' stock has climbed higher and higher over the past month since it said it was working on a speedy COVID-19 vaccine.

The company's stock started April at around $7 a share but more than doubled to $15 toward the end of the month. The climb started after Inovio said April 6 that it had received FDA clearance to begin clinical development of potential DNA vaccine INO-4800.

This was no doubt helped by the biotech's vaccine project being funded by the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

In a nutshell, its tech works by delivering plasmids into cells intramuscularly or intradermally, using a hand-held smart device that uses a brief electrical pulse to open small pores in the cell.

These, the company contends, briefly open to allow the plasmids to enter, overcoming a problem associated with other DNA and mRNA vaccines. Once inside the cell, the plasmid DNA instructs the cell's own machinery to generate antigens to stimulate an immune response that primes the body against the coronavirus.

RELATED: Inovio axes staffers, cancer program to 'sharpen focus,' save cash

But Citron Research (PDF), known for its attacks, has come out against the biotech, labeling its COVID-19 vaccine claims as Theranos-like, the medtech company that promised to deliver answers and diagnoses to many diseases through a simply blood test, but turned out to be a sham.

The firm's attack claimed that Inovio developed a vaccine in just three hours and “under the same scientific team that has spent decades deceiving investors.”

It went on: “It’s been over 40 years since Inovio was founded, yet the company has NEVER [sic] brought a product to market, and all the while insiders have enriched themselves with hefty salaries and large stock sales.” Citron said that Inovio shareholders have been “Theranosed” by the company.

What’s really irked the company is the biotech’s "60 Minutes" appearance, when Inovio’s senior vice president of R&D Kate Broderick said: “All we need is that genetic code. So it’s just a series of A’s, and T’s, and C’s, and G’s that make up the blueprint to the virus. We use a computer algorithm to generate the design of the vaccine. So we plugged in the viral sequence. And after three hours, we had a fully designed vaccine on paper. And then, after that, the stages to manufacture went straight into effect.”

“Simply put, the management team at Inovio is a group of charlatans,” the firm said in its paper.

“So Inovio has a 'computer algorithm' that no one else in the world has and is arguably one of the greatest breakthroughs in vaccine discovery in the past 100 years, and yet this 'computer algorithm' is not mentioned once in any of its 10-K’s or 10-Q’s? Sounds like Theranos to us.”

Earlier this week, Inovio said its phase 1 U.S. clinical test for its COVID-19 DNA vaccine INO-4800 is “fully enrolled with all 40 healthy volunteers receiving their first dose, with interim immune responses and safety results expected in late June.” Yesterday, it also said it had penned a deal with Richter-Helm BioLogics to “expand existing DNA manufacturing agreement to support large-scale manufacturing of INO-4800” for later stage testing this year.

So I ask open ended questions, and not in a particularly leading fashion.

Malone is tweeting about Inovio and proudly mentioning his wife’s incorporation of the above. His CV from 2021 mentions a “collaboration” with Inovio.

This would make sense if his patent was in use with the technology as employed by Inovio.

I will spell out the question that Housatonic posed.

If Robert Malone had a financial interest in Inovio being selected in OWS due to patent or consulting relationships, then he would also have a financial interest in not finding a suitable countermeasure candidate while also “consulting” with DOMANE/DTRA.

A viable treatment would negate an Emergency Use Authorization for new vaccines.

Is this a legitimate line of inquiry?

Regardless of possible financial incentive for a potential vaccine candidate on COVID or the next Pandemic du Jour...does Robert Malone's preoccupation with testing and studying Pepcid AC and Celebrex seem out of line with the scope of the purported immediate "Pandemic" which had closed down the world?

Or was that all just superficial involvement with consultancy remove?

Full disclosure, Malone tried to hire me as part of some outfit he is linked to called DMED out of Puerto Rico with crypto people as you know, and as others, sought to pimp off the anti-lockdown and COVID vax movement. Pimpers and grifters and grafters. Crypto people as COVID people. Imagine that. Put a pin in that for a moment but truthfully, look around, you have reporters who get interviewed today and became famous as COVID experts. You have camera people as COVID experts. Real estate people. COVID experts. It has become a joke, for all they do is grift and enrich themselves. We even have donors flexing and forcing decisions on their 'likes and dislikes'.

Imagine that. Silencing doctors and scientists they don't like who question Malone. You did not know this? Put a pin in that too.

Make no mistake, while the Freedom movement has been under attack from within, it is strong. Stronger now. For we know the enemies.

Both Malone and George Webb are rattled.

Yesterday was the first time that I've ever seen or heard fear from George Webb.

In his lengthy Twitter Spaces, George said something to the effect of: "I'm gonna die on this."

Previously Webb has referenced having dead partners in investigation.

In this linked video, Webb references his (probably Twitter DM) conversation with Steve Kirsch and says Kirsch asked for his hypothesis.

I tried to broach a few questions to Steve on his Stack and my comment were removed. The post was on Steve looking for transparency by collecting contact information on volunteers. 🤔🤔🤔

Webb was tossed off the premises at Steve's Lawsuit Predator's Ball Party in Atlanta.

IIRC, Webb asked Kirsch WTF and Kirsch directed Webb to DM.

Yesterday on Peter Duke, Webb referenced a conversation with Steve, and Steve asked him for his hypothesis.

So far, so good?

Let's back up.

Earlier in the day, Robert Malone, Mr. Dark Conspiracy, dredged up old allegations that Webb's brother (and by implication, George?) was involved in 9/11.

Fake news, says George. And says he has not spoken to his brother in three years, and that his brother is suing him.

But on the Twitter spaces, yesterday, George was scared. The 9/11 story allegations when reported prior by CNN, et. al. had previously resulted in family death threats against Webb and family.

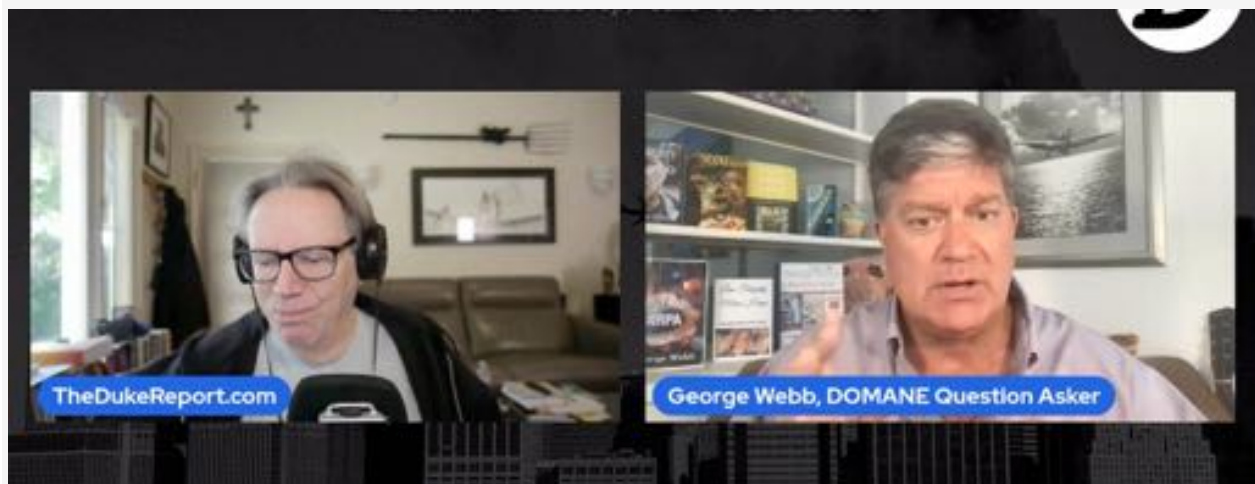

Hence, the Monster Stick.

Kirsch is all in on the Horse. Meryl Nass is beyond all in on the Horse.

Why? I won't speculate yet. I have my theories, sure.

But George appeared later in the day in the following video with Peter Duke and was now spinning, "I love Robert Malone", and the Malone is a patsy routine.

Nyet, George. Nyet.

“So the two key people in this story, one in the United States, and one in Wuhan, at the time of the breakout are these ex-CIA agents.”

Webb, at time code 8:41 of the Peter Duke interview.

Webb is referencing Michael Callahan and Daryl Galloway. Both are associates of Robert Malone.

From the RFK Jr. Book “The Real Anthony Fauci”:

On January 4, 2020, Callahan called Dr. Robert Malone from China just as the coronavirus began taking its first wave of casualties. Malone, a former contractor to the US Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases and the chief medical officer at Alchem Laboratories, is the inventor of the mRNA vaccine technology platform. Malone first met Callahan in 2009 through Malone's sometime business partner, Daryl Galloway, a CIA officer who formerly served in the US Navy and at one point held the post of director of JSTO in the Defense Threat Reduction Agency. To Malone, Galloway introduced Callahan as a fellow CIA officer. During his January 4 phone call, Callahan told Malone that he was just outside Wuhan. Malone assumed that Callahan was visiting China under cover of his Harvard and Massachusetts General Hospital appointments. Callahan told Malone that he had been treating "hundreds" of COVID-19 patients. Callahan subsequently described to National Geographic how he had pored through thousands of case studies at the outbreak's epicenter. He giddily reported his amazement at the virus's "magnificent infectivity," and its capacity to explode "like a silent smart bomb in your community."⁹¹ Callahan later confessed to Malone that he lacked authority to be in Wuhan and had escaped by boat when the government imposed its quarantine. Callahan repeated parts of this story to Brendan Borrell, a writer for Science. Later, DTRA

Particularly striking is the lack of representation of the community of scientists and physicians from the PRC, who have been at the forefront of understanding and treating this disease.

Just to provide one western example, my colleague Dr. Michael Callahan (who currently reports directly to the ASPR in US) has supervised treatment of well over 6000 cases of COVID19, was in country in the PRC assisting, was at the forefront of guiding the US management of the Diamond Princess outbreak, and is currently shuttling between particularly troublesome outbreaks in USA and Washington DC where he is actively involved in advising and guiding policy. I do not see any representation in this group which comes close to the active role and experience which Dr. Callahan is bringing to the clinical and functional management and decision making involved in this pandemic.

Friendly reminder that Malone would turn on Callahan in this interview on CHD with Joseph Mercola.

Malone, August 1, 2022:

“I had a series of interactions with him (Callahan) subsequently until I became completely disillusioned and aware that he was lying to me almost constantly, including about things like whether or not the pathogen was engineered. So, I think I can certainly empathize, and understand why some might have these concerns.

Why would Callahan lie to Malone about the pathogen being engineered?

Probably for the same reason that Anthony Fauci got Mr. Smirkie Kristian Anderson and others to STFU about lab leak, (“inconsistent with evolution”).

Malone also warned Daniel Nagase MD not to discuss reverse transcription.

So we found a discrepancy in Dr. Robert Malone. The question now is what do we do about it? Well that depends on what is the cause. To briefly summarize, the discrepancy is that Dr. Robert Malone seems to be fighting for COVID-19 “vaccine” justice, but he doesn’t like it when people start talking about how mRNA can alter DNA. Everywhere all the time.

And consider again how this guy that nobody clamored for showed up and is everywhere: He's on Rogan. Bannon. CHD. Kirsch. Nine podcasts a day. Freedom conferences. Showed up here on this Stack one time: On the DTRA-DOMANE post. Suing people (lawfare) to shut them up. Meryl Nass comes in here like a protective pit bull.

And you know what? I see the outlines better and better.

I think George Webb is starting to flinch, but maybe he is using a rope-a-dope tactic to get access to the 🐎.

Malone is going on a blocking spree. I think Bob is getting squeezed.

Writes Jill Glasspool-Malone:

As a young scientist, Robert saw into the future. He saw the future of RNA as a drug in 1987. Early in 1988, he foresaw the future of the use of mRNA for vaccination. He did this in the worst of situations. As a graduate student, without support of his thesis advisor and being in an abusive work/student environment.

Apparently he didn't see quite far enough into the future.

Robert is the inventor of mRNA vaccination. The documentation is clear. In 1986, while at the Salk Institute/UC San Diego as a MD (Northwestern)/PhD (Salk/UCSD) student, he worked with RNA for his dissertation. Early on this included structure and modeling analysis, but it soon expanded beyond that. In 1987, he invented naked and lipid mediated RNA transfection. in-vitro (1987) and in-vivo (1988) lipid mediated mRNA transfection were developed at the Salk/UCSD. But the situation in lab was not healthy, when the harassment got to the point, where Robert literally was diagnosed with severe PTSD from abuse at the hands of his thesis advisor and institutional attorneys, he knew he had to abandon his PhD and go back to Northwestern to finish his medical degree. His thesis advisor was the now infamous Dr. Inder Verma. Dr. Verma's behavior abusing women and employees is now legendary and documented in both the scientific and lay press.

Robert left the university knowing that what he had invented would change the world someday. That he has never doubted.

It certainly has changed the world. No one will deny that.

It is indeed a shame that the world was poisoned by the experimental mRNA technology.

Gosh, how do you think that came to be?

If only an Emergency Use Authorization could have been avoided, and they had never been created. For example, if another effective treatment could have been shown to be effective, this genocide mass human lab rat test could have potentially been prevented.

What if there had been a computer model type deal and it could have shown us what drugs would work and so forth...perhaps the EUA for the technology you discussed with the WHO in 2011 could have been avoided.

Malone coauthored and submitted a couple of manuscripts on famotidine, a stomach acid drug sold under the brand name Pepcid. As former chief medical officer of Alchem Laboratories Corporation, Malone has previously been involved in work on famotidine: in April 2020, Alchem and its subcontractor Northwell Health were awarded a $20.7-million government contract to test the drug in combination with hydroxychloroquine in patients with moderate to severe COVID-19, the Associated Press reported last summer.

Malone left that study and resigned from Alchem shortly after the contract was awarded, citing a difficult working environment, he told the AP and confirms in an email to The Scientist.

Dr. Malone says his involvement with DOMANE was early and superficial.

Here is how it was presented on his 2021 CV.

Bob, why did you put this on your CV if your involvement was early and superficial?

Currently, Dr. Malone is leading a large team since January 10, 2020, focused on clinical research design, drug development, computer modeling and mechanisms of action of repurposed drugs for COVID-19 treatment. This work has included multiple manuscripts summarizing most recent findings relating to famotidine and overall insights into the mechanism of COVID-19 disease, and others focused on celecoxib and famotidine are being reviewed for publication. He has developed and wrote the initial clinical trial design: A Single Center, Randomized, Double Blinded Controlled Crossover Observational Outpatient Trial of the Safety and Efficacy of Oral Famotidine for the Treatment of COVID-19 in Non-Hospitalized Symptomatic Adults. Another project he has been involved with is a DTRA/DOMANE-funded development and performance of a virtual outpatient clinical trial designed to test new monitoring and data capture technology while using COVID19 as a live-fire example. He has helped open two IND for famotidine and celecoxib use for treatment and prevention of COVID19 disease including an associated drug master file, and has enabled teaming/pharmaceutical supply arrangements with two major pharmaceutical firms.

The most basic question is: Was Dr. Malone not aware of this given his early and superficial involvement in the DTRA computer program?

https://www.science.org/content/article/new-york-clinical-trial-quietly-tests-heartburn-remedy-against-coronavirus

If Malone's involvement was so superficial, why is he splashed all over so many media accounts, including this one in Science Magazine?

Is he a player in this or not?

Is he a star? Or a bench patsy?

Which is it?

Why is this guy always a bigwig who needs more credit until the shit goes bad, and then he morphs into, "early and superficial", or "I was just a consultant!" (shades of Jordon Walker in PV)

I was just a consultant on all that stuff! pffttt...

The famotidine stuff was not exactly breathtaking.

In reviewing 6212 COVID-19 patient records, the doctors noticed that many survivors had been suffering from chronic heartburn and were on famotidine rather than more-expensive omeprazole (Prilosec), the medicine of choice both in the United States and among wealthier Chinese. Hospitalized COVID-19 patients on famotidine appeared to be dying at a rate of about 14% compared with 27% for those not on the drug, although the analysis was crude and the result was not statistically significant.

But that was enough for Callahan to pursue the issue back home. After returning from Wuhan, he briefed Robert Kadlec, assistant secretary for preparedness and response at the Department of Health and Human Services, then checked in with Robert Malone, chief medical officer of Florida-based Alchem Laboratories, a contract manufacturing organization. Malone is part of a classified project called DOMANE that uses computer simulations, artificial intelligence, and other methods to rapidly identify U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA)-approved drugs and other safe compounds that can be repurposed against threats such as new viruses.

Malone had his eyes on a viral enzyme called the papainlike protease, which helps the pathogen replicate. To see whether famotidine binds to the protein, he would ordinarily need the enzyme's 3D structure, but that would not be available for months. So Malone recruited computational chemist Joshua Pottel, president of Montreal-based Molecular Forecaster, to predict it from two crystal structures of the protease from the 2003 SARS coronavirus, combined with the new coronavirus' RNA sequence.

It was hardly plug-and-play. Among other things, they compared the gene sequences of the new and old proteases to rule out crucial differences in structure. Pottel then tested how 2600 different compounds interact with the new protease. The modeling yielded several dozen promising hits that pharmaceutical chemists and other experts narrowed to three. Famotidine was one. (The compound has not popped up in in vitro screens of existing drug libraries for antiviral activity, however.)

With both the tantalizing Chinese data and the modeling pointing toward famotidine, a low-cost, generally safe drug, Callahan contacted Tracey about running a double-blind randomized study. COVID-19 patients with decreased kidney function would be excluded because high doses of famotidine can cause heart problems in them.

After getting FDA approval, Northwell used its own funds to launch the effort. Just getting half of the needed famotidine in sterile vials took weeks, because the injectable version is not widely used. On 14 April, the U.S. Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA), which operates under Kadlec, gave Alchem a $20.7 million contract for the trial, most of which paid Northwell's costs.

The study's draft protocol was aimed only at evaluating famotidine's efficacy, but Trump's "game-changer" antimalarial drug was rapidly becoming the standard of care for hospitalized COVID-19 patients. That meant investigators would only be able to recruit enough subjects for a trial that tested a combination of famotidine and hydroxychloroquine. Those patients would be compared with a hydroxychloroquine-only arm and a historic control arm made up of hundreds of patients treated earlier in the outbreak. "Is it good science? No," Tracey says. "It's the real world."

Always skating along just ahead of the fire.

Hey Bob. Do you think that Jill is following the science on her now deleted Linked In post, which was echoed in the NEJM Pfizer write up:

The data presented in this report have significance beyond the performance of this vaccine candidate. The results demonstrate that Covid-19 can be prevented by immunization, provide proof of concept that RNA-based vaccines are a promising new approach for protecting humans against infectious diseases, and demonstrate the speed with which an RNA-based vaccine can be developed with a sufficient investment of resources.

This rigorous demonstration of safety and efficacy less than 11 months later provides a practical demonstration that RNA-based vaccines, which require only viral genetic sequence information to initiate development, are a major new tool to combat pandemics and other infectious disease outbreaks. The continuous phase 1/2/3 trial design may provide a model to reduce the protracted development timelines that have delayed the availability of vaccines against other infectious diseases of medical importance. In the context of the current, still expanding pandemic, the BNT162b2 vaccine, if approved, can contribute, together with other public health measures, to reducing the devastating loss of health, life, and economic and social well-being that has resulted from the global spread of Covid-19.

Proof of concept? Covid-19 can be prevented by (mRNA) immunization? Rigorous demonstration of safety and efficacy? Huh?

Still making you sad, Bob?

It makes me sad, Bob. It makes me angry, Bob.

You ever get angry, Bob?

Anger is a killer, is it not?

Jill Glasspool-Malone:

This was and is Robert's work, his passion. He is thrilled that all these technologies are working. He is thrilled for his part in that. He freely credits that other people have worked to develop this. But to have poured his heart and soul into this – decades of work and to have someone else get credit for his work in the national press is demoralizing and disheartening.

My heart bleeds that Bob is demoralized, Jill. Big Sad for Bob.

We're all big sad.

Good sleuthing by Awaiting Permission:

I wanted to share an anecdote with supporting evidence, and after hours of searching, I can only produce evidence consistent with the story I’m about to recount.

My employer went remote due to impending lockdowns on or about 12-Mar-2020. On my long commutes, I would frequently listen to NPR. As a (former) germophobe (cured by the scam), I listened attentively to the novel coronavirus news from the beginning of January. As reports began to come in of “cases” here in the states, I was primed for the fleecing. I distinctly recall a report on NPR, that talked about a study that used computers to predict potential treatments using existing molecules/compounds. In that report, they mention that there were three significant recommendations from the computer. They named them, and the only one I recognized was Famotidine. I made note to stop by the pharmacy to buy a buttload. Not ‘cause I was panicked or anything.... ahem.

I think I recall them saying it came out of Boston, but since I can’t find the evidence, this may be a false memory back-filled using more recent information. Searching for the NPR report was useless.

I went to the pharmacy and there was a note on the shelf saying they were removed from stock and not coming back anytime soon. I asked the pharmacist what was going on. They told me they weren't sure exactly, some kind of recall. I got suspicious. 'Cause I'm cynical and I've been a member of the tinfoil hat club since 2013. I chalked it up to gubmnt shenanigans.

The date of the report would have been prior to 12-Mar-2020, and I suspect right around the end of Feb. But it could've been as far back as mid-Jan, around the time it officially "presented" in the US.

In tonight's search for the evidence I found the following information:

The computer modeling is called molecular docking.

editor's note: This may or may not be the DOMANE/DTRA/Malone modeling technique. It is evident that medicine is aimed to be replaced by AI, this is the sweeping WEF Fourth Technological Revolution come to life.

A paper published 27-Feb-2020 mentioning Famotidine (in passing I might add). Referenced by our frenemy Callahan 22-May-2020 to justify their study in the NY hospital. I cannot detect an explicit link back to the institutions you mention in your article here, but I'm sure a more skilled internet detective could. And how on earth does a mention in passing justify the Callahan retrospective? The referenced paper focused waaaay more on soooo many other choices... I digress. Here's the links.

19-Jan-2020

Your heartburn drug has been recalled. Now what?

There are alternatives to heartburn relief – including a doctor-approved bedtime trick.

What are the alternatives?

Many people rely on Zantac for heartburn relief; sales of over-the-counter and prescription ranitidine topped $221 million in 2018 alone, according to the pharmaceutical research firm IQVIA. But there are similar drugs on the market that could help.

Other heartburn medications, such as famotidine (Pepcid), cimetidine (Tagamet), esomeprazole (Nexium), lansoprazole (Prevacid) and omeprazole (Prilosec) have not tested positive for signs of NDMA.

<https://www.nbcnews.com/health/health-news/your-heartburn-drug-has-been-recalled-now-what-n1117696>

<https://www.aarp.org/health/drugs-supplements/info-2020/heartburn-medications-recall-expands.html>

People taking prescription ranitidine who wish to stop should talk to their health care provider about other treatment options, the FDA says. Government testing has not found NDMA in other common heartburn and ulcer medications, including Pepcid (famotidine), Tagamet (cimetidine), Nexium (esomeprazole), Prevacid (lansoprazole) and Prilosec (omeprazole).

Potential theory: This would lay down a cover story for why famotidine was unavailable, i.e. explain a shortage that might delay or confound any \$20.7 on the fly studies soon to come.

I don't know. It's odd that heartburn meds are being pulled right as the Operation begins to launch, but famotidine remains on the safe list. (But still pulled per Awaiting Permission.)

Titles' language use don't match the dates, which I find strange. My guess is the nbc article was updated on 19-Jan. I find 10-Jan a highly significant date in this drama. Not in the numerological sense. It recurs in the story in multiple contexts.

In my wanderings I did find a ton of Remdesivir articles. Going waaaay back (earliest I found before getting back on track looking for Famotidine was 2016, and one from 2017 has a familiar author (Ralphie Bear)). They've been trying to repurpose that junk for coronaviruses since the Ebola study. Almost all the molecular docking papers I found mention it. Almost any of the pro-HCQ papers predicting its utility included mention of Remdesivir (I got the feeling that it was so their paper would be published because HCQ was already being recognized as off-limits).

I finally got around to reading that Ralphie Bear article warning of WIV CoV being ready for prime time. Then I skimmed a bunch of related articles. I now understand the obsession with the spike protein and Remdesivir. It all goes back to Ralphie Bear. All. Of. It. Ok, maybe almost all of it.

Adieu.

That same day, August 5, 2021, whilst (David!) extolling the virtues of IVM for his long Covid (IVM which somehow didn't get studied in that early scary plandemic break out, as I guess Bob and Callahan didn't know back then that DARPA had already determined that IVM was the best choice for coronavirus treatment), good old Bob is amping up the need for more WEFFIE back door biosurveillance.

OK folks- looking forward, what do we need if we have accepted protocols for early outpatient treatment?

- 1) CDC has to get its act together.
- 2) We need very active surveillance, tracing, testing
- 3) We need the ability to test (ideally self-test) for SARS-CoV-2 infection

Great Texas COVID-19 Tragedy

Hospitalizations and Deaths Occurred due to Lack of Early Therapeutics Not COVID-19 Vaccination Rates

By Peter A. McCullough, MD, MPH

Recently a tweet popped up implying that lower Texas vaccination rates were responsible for deaths with COVID-19 through 2021 and mid 2022. I live in Texas and have been treating patients with high risk COVID-19 from the very start of the crisis.

Despite all the hopes and aspirations for those pushing vaccine ideology, prospective, randomized, double-blind placebo controlled trials in 2020 never demonstrated reductions in hospitalization and death. As a result, no therapeutic claim of survival can be made by anyone. Reduction in the risk of death is listed in the "benefit" section of vaccine consent form. COVID-19 vaccines have never saved lives.

Of the ~90,000 deaths through September 1, 2022, and ~40,000 after May 1, 2022 when vaccines had been widely deployed for five months, none of them were prevented by COVID-19 vaccination. By December, 2021, failure of COVID-19 vaccines was very obvious with the Omicron outbreak which was largely among the fully vaccinated.

McClanahan and most of the film crew were inside a building at the time, but she winced at the bitter smell of malathion swirling around her in the night.

A few weeks later, McClanahan stood defiantly at a noisy protest in downtown Los Angeles with actor Jon Cypher of "Hill Street Blues" and 150 other demonstrators, singing to the tune of "Frere Jacques": "Malathion, malathion, fills the air, they don't

But for opponents of aerial malathion spraying, who maintain that the pesticide, even in minute doses, can cause neurological damage, diarrhea, rashes and a host of other ailments, the spraying has already gone on for too long.

Southern California demonstrations in the last month have drawn up to 150 people, talk of a fruit boycott to protest the spraying is building and a savvy coalition of grass-roots groups has even set up a toll-free malathion hot line: 1-800-GO-TOXIN.

City councils in Monterey Park, Duarte, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove, Westminster, Brea and Cypress, as well as the Los Angeles and San Marino school boards, have taken formal action in just the last two weeks demanding an end to malathion spraying or urging the state to rely on alternatives.

Brendan is doing some sense making about the injections.

So much has happened since the vaccines were first released and my feelings about them have been, er, complicated. I naturally felt obligated to write a new afterword, reflecting on this wild ride and how I view the accomplishments of Operation Warp Speed today.

charge.

I'll admit I began to have a growing sense of ambivalence about the book I had just written, trumpeting what I had believed to be one of the greatest scientific achievements of the century. To be clear, I had understood that science hadn't told us much about how long the immunity generated by the COVID vaccines would last. The clinical trials were too short and too recent. I was also aware that new variants that could circumvent our vaccines would keep emerging until the pandemic had truly been tamed around the world. Michael Callahan had said as much to me whenever we spoke. "It's not even half-written for COVID," he said, insisting my job as an author was not over. The spike-targeted vaccines funded under Operation Warp Speed were more like a "sniper bullet" than a "shotgun," and would generate only a narrow band of immunity. Callahan wrote an op-ed for the New York Times in June 2021, warning that our vaccine strategy had failed to "consider how to prevent variants or subsequent waves of the virus." But Callahan's essay, coming a month before the Delta variant took over the headlines, barely made a ripple on social media. I, too, waved away his paranoia as I polished off something close to an upbeat ending for my book.

The fast-growing list of possible treatments for the novel coronavirus includes an unlikely candidate: famotidine, the active compound in the over-the-counter heartburn drug Pepcid. On 7 April, the first COVID-19 patients at Northwell Health in the New York City area began to receive famotidine intravenously, at nine times the heartburn dose. Unlike other drugs the 23-hospital system is testing, including Regeneron's sarilumab and Gilead Sciences's remdesivir, Northwell kept the famotidine study under wraps to secure a research stockpile before other hospitals, or even the federal government, started to buy it. "If we talked about this to the wrong people or too soon, the drug supply would be gone," says Kevin Tracey, a former neurosurgeon in charge of the hospital system's research.

As of Saturday, 187 COVID-19 patients in critical status,

We interrupt this article to remind you that there was no new respiratory virus per a certain rock star type figure in the Freedom Movement, and thus this must be fake news, right?

Right?

Let's continue.

...including many on ventilators, have been enrolled in the trial, which aims for a total of 1174 people. Reports from China and molecular modeling results suggest the drug, which seems to bind to a key enzyme in severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2), could make a difference. But the hype surrounding hydroxychloroquine and chloroquine—the unproven antimalarial drugs touted by President Donald Trump and some physicians and scientists—has made Tracey wary of sparking premature enthusiasm. He is tight-lipped about famotidine's prospects, at least until interim results from the first 391 patients are in. "If it does work, we'll know in a few weeks," he says.

A globe-trotting infectious disease doctor named Michael Callahan was the first to call attention to the drug in the United States. Callahan, who is based at Massachusetts General Hospital and has extensive connections in the biodefense world, has spent time in disease hot zones around the world, including the 2003 outbreak of another coronavirus disease, SARS, in Hong Kong. In mid-January, he was in Nanjing, China, working on an avian flu project. As the COVID-19 epidemic began to explode in Wuhan, he followed his Chinese colleagues to the increasingly desperate city.

*The virus was killing as many as one out of five patients older than 80. Patients of all ages with hypertension and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease were faring poorly. Callahan and his Chinese colleagues got curious about why many of the survivors tended to be poor. "Why are these elderly peasants not dying?" he asks.

*But was it a novel virus?

In reviewing 6212 COVID-19 patient records, the doctors noticed that many survivors had been suffering from chronic heartburn and were on famotidine rather than more-expensive omeprazole (Prilosec), the medicine of choice both in the United States and among wealthier Chinese. Hospitalized COVID-19 patients on famotidine appeared to be dying at a rate of about 14% compared with 27% for those not on the drug, although the analysis was crude and the result was not statistically significant.

But that was enough for Callahan to pursue the issue back home. After returning from Wuhan, he briefed Robert Kadlec, assistant secretary for preparedness and response at the Department of Health and Human Services, then checked in with Robert Malone, chief medical officer of Florida-based Alchem Laboratories, a contract manufacturing organization. Malone is part of a classified project called DOMANE that uses computer simulations, artificial intelligence, and other methods to rapidly identify U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA)-approved drugs and other safe compounds that can be repurposed against threats such as new viruses.

*DOMANE gave you remdesivir. Not Ivermectin or hydroxychloroquine.

Malone had his eyes on a viral enzyme called the papainlike protease, which helps the pathogen replicate. To see whether famotidine binds to the protein, he would ordinarily need the enzyme's 3D structure, but that would not be available for months. So Malone recruited computational chemist Joshua Pottel, president of Montreal-based Molecular Forecaster, to predict it from two crystal structures of the protease from the 2003 SARS coronavirus, combined with the new coronavirus' RNA sequence.

It was hardly plug-and-play. Among other things, they compared the gene sequences of the new and old proteases to rule out crucial differences in structure. Pottel then tested how 2600 different compounds interact with the new protease. The modeling yielded several dozen promising hits that pharmaceutical chemists and other experts narrowed to three. Famotidine was one. (The compound has not popped up in in vitro screens of existing drug libraries for antiviral activity, however.)

pssstt...Ivermectin, bros.

Sounds like this computer is doing a heckuva job, Brownie.

With both the tantalizing Chinese data and the modeling pointing toward famotidine, a low-cost, generally safe drug, Callahan contacted Tracey about running a double-blind randomized study. COVID-19 patients with decreased kidney function would be excluded because high doses of famotidine can cause heart problems in them.

After getting FDA approval, Northwell used its own funds to launch the effort. Just getting half of the needed famotidine in sterile vials took weeks, because the injectable version is not widely used. On 14 April, the U.S. Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA), which operates under Kadlec, gave Alchem a $20.7 million contract for the trial, most of which paid Northwell's costs.

The study's draft protocol was aimed only at evaluating famotidine's efficacy, but Trump's "game-changer" antimalarial drug was rapidly becoming the standard of care for hospitalized COVID-19 patients. That meant investigators would only be able to recruit enough subjects for a trial that tested a combination of famotidine and hydroxychloroquine. Those patients would be compared with a hydroxychloroquine-only arm and a historic control arm made up of hundreds of patients treated earlier in the outbreak. "Is it good science? No," Tracey says. "It's the real world."

Tracey added, Plus we need it to fail, so we can all have gene editing Herd Culling Warp Speed Vaccines that we can poison pregnant women and kids with.

Fact check me on that last part.

Anecdotal evidence has encouraged the Northwell researchers. After speaking to Tracey, David Tuveson, director of the Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory Cancer Center, recommended famotidine to his 44-year-old sister, an engineer with New York City hospitals. She had tested positive for COVID-19 and developed a fever. Her lips became dark blue from hypoxia.

*Paging Yeadon and Rancourt...come in guys...Probably just stress. Stressful Hypoxia Productions.

She took her first megadose of oral famotidine on 28 March. The next morning, her fever broke and her oxygen saturation returned to a normal range. Five sick co-workers, including three with confirmed COVID-19, also showed dramatic improvements after taking over-the-counter versions of the drug, according a spreadsheet of case histories Tuveson shared with Science. Many COVID-19 patients recover with simple symptom-relieving medications, but Tuveson credits the heartburn drug. "I would say that was a penicillin effect," he says.

After an email chain about Tuveson's experience spread widely among doctors, Timothy Wang, head of gastroenterology at Columbia University Medical Center, saw more hints of famotidine's promise in his own retrospective review of records from 1620 hospitalized COVID-19 patients. Last week, he shared the results with Tracey and Callahan, and he added them as a co-authors on a paper now under review at the Annals of Internal Medicine. All three researchers emphasize, though, that the real test is the trial now underway. "We still don't know if it will work or not," Tracey says.

Callahan has kept busy since his return from China. Kadlec deployed him on medical evacuation missions of Americans on two heavily infected cruise ships. Now back to doing patient rounds in Boston, he says the famotidine lead underscores the importance of science diplomacy in the face of an infectious disease that knows no borders. When it comes to experience with COVID-19, he says, "No amount of smart people at the [National Institutes of Health] or Harvard or Stanford can outclass an average doctor in Wuhan."

The End

Gonna speak in generalities as to avoid lawfare.

I think two long time spooks were employed to create a narrative around a plausible solve for a manufactured problem and some diversions and intrigue was added by another spook writer and along the way The Science forgot about the thing that actually worked so the other thing that the Monster wanted to happen could happen and everybody would have plausible deniability all the way down the Evil Layer Cake.

But I'm an incorrigible cynic and I see phantoms everywhere.

Are they villains?

Ehh...

People respond to Incentive Structures and we are in a dark timeline with no checks and balances and the "well established norms" which are served on the Dorito's ranch with queso and salsa were already tattered, but now, I'm shocked, shocked, I tell you.

Here is the Robert Malone Joe Rogan Clip on the Jan. 4, 2020 call from CIA Agent Michael Callahan. The Daily Beast later framed the call as "supposed" and sourced it to Stew Peters

"According to Peters, Callahan called Malone on Jan. 4, 2020—from Wuhan, China," says The Daily Beast article, which includes only one quoted interviewed source:
Robert Malone
