

The Metro Roundtable (MRT), established through the Colorado Water for the 21st Century Act to facilitate discussions on water management issues and encourage locally driven collaborative solutions, consists of up to 36 voting members who collectively represent the Metro region's unique needs and water uses. There are nine basin roundtables that collectively represent the state's eight major river basins and the Denver metropolitan area. The Metro Roundtable is the only roundtable not designated out of a natural hydrological river basin.

The broad-based, collaborative nature of this process is reflected in the basin roundtable membership - a set of designated members, at-large members, non-voting members, agency liaisons and the CWCB Board member from each.

The MRT is looking to fill three At-Large Seats

1. At-Large Stormwater & Drainage
2. At-Large – Recreation
3. At-Large - General

All three openings are voting positions. The MRT membership generally meets once a month, the second Thursday of the month at 2:00 p.m. in a hybrid format both virtual and live at the Denver Water campus in Denver. Meetings generally adjourn around 4:00 p.m. In addition to the regular monthly meeting of the full membership, members are encouraged to be part of standing or temporary committees. For more information about the Metro Roundtable go to Home — The South Platte Basin and MRT Bylaws.
