▶ CLINIC INFORMATION

The Intro To Ranch Horse Clinic offers riders an opportunity to learn about the Ranch Horse Competitions held by the RMBA. The clinic will focus on two of the three facets; the cow work and the reining or dry work. The cow work portion will focus on components included in the Ranch Horse Competitions including live cow practice. The reining will include all components of judged reining maneuvers.

Tricia Purcell: Grew up in the Bitterroot Valley; became interested in reining in 1995. I found a great love for the sport. I personally like the relationship between horse and rider. I moved to Helena and started “Purcell Performance Horses” 19 years ago. I ran a small training and boarding business. With reining horses still being a great passion, I recently moved my business to Belgrade, where I continue training, giving lessons, and showing.

Jess Kirkpatrick: Jess has twenty-plus years as a trainer and competitor in cutting and reined cow horses, as well as a lifetime of working cattle on the ranch. Jess delivers a wealth of knowledge. Clinic participants will learn correct cow working fundamentals from him. His welcoming teaching style will offer clinic participants greater confidence in effectively working cattle in the show pen or on the ranch.

“The principles of handling cattle properly, so that you are not only efficient, but effective, are the same no matter if you’re in the show pen or on the ranch.” – Jess Kirkpatrick
