"I just had to reach out and let you know what an amazing experience my son had doing both productions this summer. He BEAMS whenever he talks about Wolf PAC. In his words, it is the most "welcoming and warm" place. I can't thank you enough for giving my quirky little man the space to be himself. Watching his confidence grow is a true gift. Your entire staff is incredible, and we look forward to many more experiences with you all."

An Exciting Welcome to Summer Theatre Camp 2024 from Will Connell!

There's a saying in theatre that "early is on time, and on time is late." Well, at Wolf PAC, we subscribe to that same philosophy...so Camp 2024 prep is in full swing!

Show titles have been secured, scripts are being written, and camp 2024 will be here before we all know it. We have cooked up a high octane season of shows and programming that will have audiences dancing in their seats and fighting the urge to jump onstage to sing along. The shows will take campers and audiences on a wild ride through so many styles, genres, and mediums that make the arts the incomparable learning ground they are.

- CUBS will tell ten unique twists on beloved fairy tales, taking audiences from the kingdom of the Giant to Rapunzel's tower and beyond...all while singing and dancing their hearts out!
- PAC will stage not one, not two, but three different productions each session, running the gamut of Broadway hits from Golden Age classics all the way through modern jukebox smashes.
- Summer Studio artists will continue to push their artistic boundaries in varied disciplines such as standup comedy, voiceover, and more—plus the return of the ever-popular Shakespeare and Stage Combat.
- CITs will return to their invaluable positions in rehearsals, training to become the next generation of the directors and teaching artists that make the Wolf PAC world go 'round!

And of course, we would be nowhere without our professional staff of teaching artists and directors. Each year, I am floored and honored to collaborate with the talented folks who choose to share their skills and passion with our young artists at camp. New faces and returning favorites will guide the campers through rehearsals, workshops, and performances, all while encouraging the confidence and self-expression you have come to count on from the Wolf PAC staff.

While our lineup will be challenging and exciting, I find that it is the process, not the product, that defines the Wolf PAC experience. The performance is one hour of one day out of the ten-day camp session; the rehearsals and electives fill so much more time. And in those moments come the camaraderie, growth, and joy that transform a cast of campers into a family of performers. The laughs they share at lunch, the goofs and mishaps as they learn an opening number—those are the magical moments that make Wolf PAC camp truly singular.

Now all we need is the last piece of the puzzle...you! We can't wait to see you all in a few short months for a summer of joy, community, and theatre magic.

CUBS one-week sessions will feature original scripts inspired by beloved fairy tales as these young actors cultivate their singing, acting, and dancing skills.

SCHOOL'D UP ON BROADWAY

New this summer, we are so excited to offer three unique shows in each two-week session to offer a wide variety of theatrical fun that highlights many genres of musical theatre.

- On day one the campers will sing, read, and dance in our audition process
- At the end of that first day, our directors will sort the campers into one of the three casts
- On the second day, campers will begin rehearsing the specific productions into which they have been placed
- All performances will take place on the second Thursday after the camp day ends

Please note: our productions of all shows are the age-appropriate and family friendly versions of the musicals you know and love! While some of the original productions may feature some humor geared towards adults, these versions have been condensed and edited to keep the spirit of these hilarious shows while cleaning up the material for our campers. For those interested in listening to the recordings before the session, we will make the camper-friendly versions available on our website.

Our one-week sessions offer an exciting opportunity for campers to help craft their own performance for the week.

- Feature a concert-style performance known as a “revue,” which means a production consisting of songs from different genres and shows united by some common theme
- Campers will be sorted into one of the four casts before the start of the session (there is no formal audition process due to the nature of the program in a one-week session)
- Campers will work with their Electives counselors to devise interludes that creatively bridge the gap from song to song
- Performances are a unique experience curated by the campers themselves that take place on Friday during the camp day

Voice, Writing, Film, Editing

In this brand new program, artists will explore the intersections between the thrilling art forms of voiceover and film production. In the first week they will learn the skills and technology behind voiceover acting. In the second week, artists will devise, film, and edit a variety of film trailers for all genres, ranging from horror to period drama to rom-com and beyond!

Musical Theatre

A fully staged musical opportunity for Summer Studio artists! In just two weeks, artists will rehearse and perform the entirety of a song cycle of contemporary musical theatre pieces by artists like Jason Robert Brown, Kerrigan and Lowdermilk, Pasek and Paul, and more!

Shakespeare, Combat

Back by popular demand, this two-week workshop combines Shakespearean performance with the field of stage combat. Performers will hone both classical language and fight choreography skills in a safe, exciting session based on the most invigorating scenes from Shakespeare's plays like Macbeth, Hamlet, Richard III, and more!

Musical Theatre

Artists will create and perform a cabaret of songs from the beloved catalogue of classics that have graced Broadway, including Frozen, Newsies, Beauty and the Beast, and more. A great opportunity to belt out some hits while learning to design and realize an original cabaret performance in a one week session!

Musical Theatre

We're back to school...Broadway-style! Summer Studio artists will design, rehearse, and perform their own cabaret of songs straight from the hallowed halls of high school. Electives & Dramaturgy for PAC and Summer Studio

ELECTIVES

Electives are back this summer at Wolf PAC! Each camp session will feature three Electives Counselors, whose distinct talents and passions will inspire our campers throughout their summer experience. Just like previous years, these talented teaching artists will choose their own exciting courses to offer to the PAC campers. Some highlights in the past include A Cappella Singing, Yoga and Meditation, and even Sock Puppets!

Each session, the three counselors will work with the various groups in these creative workshops, culminating in our Talent Show at the end of each session. These workshops are a great opportunity to expand the campers' artistic horizons beyond the incredible lessons they learn from working together on their fantastic productions throughout the summer. Summer Studio artists will work as teaching assistants for PAC Electives and will then take their own version of each Elective on a rotating basis throughout the session.

DRAMATURGY

Known as the "keepers of the text" and the "cultural conscience," dramaturgs work behind the scenes to ensure the visions of the directors, playwrights, and audiences all blend together into an exciting and inspiring product. In a new work, the dramaturg challenges and engages with the playwright through the development of the script, as well as represents the intention of the playwright once the script moves into the rehearsal phase. In a revival, the dramaturg educates the cast and creative team on the cultural, historical, and social contexts of the production to create the most authentic world possible on the stage!

This summer at Wolf PAC, our brilliant Summer Studio artists will take on the role of Dramaturg in addition to their session-specific performance. Working together to research and examine the PAC shows, Summer Studio will create a multi-faceted workshop for their younger counterparts, including activities, trivia, and even a show-inspired playlist!

The shows featured this summer span a wide range of musical theatre style and history, ranging from Golden Age classics all the way to pop and rock hits. Over the course of each session, our Summer Studio Dramaturgs will help guide their younger counterparts through this musical rollercoaster. Campers might learn facts about the Russian Revolution that looms not too distant in Fiddler on the Roof or explore the T.S. Eliot poems that inspired the musical Cats. They will learn the tales of King Arthur that get the silliest send-up in Spamalot and the origins of the jukebox musical, an exciting genre that has turned so many classic bands into great shows like Rock of Ages. And of course, the summer would not be complete without a nod to the pop culture phenomenon of Legally Blonde, allowing campers to explore how a film is adapted into a stage musical. These thrilling sessions will allow the casts of our PAC productions to deepen their understanding of the world of their particular shows, while getting to connect with other members of the Wolf PAC community.
