Lakewood- Bear Creek Village; same block

Three tons of assorted moss boulders were used to create an extensive front rock garden.

Ed Hock

2506 S. Xenon Way

A unique corner lot design always brimming with annuals: flower berms, moss rock walls and boulders, cobblestone swales, and evergreen, shade and ornamental trees.

Ken and Norma Watson

2519 S. Xenon Court (cul-de-sac east of previous homes)

All walls made of colorful rhyolite with various boulders. All plant material used in this design are native xeriscape.

Art and Margaret Gelwick

12853 W. Harvard Ct. (borders southwest side of golf course)

A 20' Ponderosa pine was spaded off the right front corner of this custom home with moss rock walls and numerous plantings complementing the architecture and lot.

THE OVERLOOK SUBDIVISION

Ed and Fran Kassak

10145 W. Wesley Dr.

A curved buff flagstone wall, cobblestone swale, gold ore boulders, colorful plantings and a commercial light system complement the front yard. Includes Blue Spruce, Spring Snow Crabapple and Canada Red Cherry. A pondless water feature made of moss rock is in back.

Gordon and Janet Wise

10165 W. Wesley Dr.

Next house west on Wesley Drive.

A curved reg flagstone wall, cobblestone swale, moss boulders and colorful plantings complement the front yard. Includes an Austrian Pine, Spring Snow Crabapple and Amur Maple. Shrubs include golden vicaries, shrub rose and ornamental grasses.

Ron and Ginny Johnson

2240 S. Miller Court

Continue west on Wesley Drive; take second right on Miller Court. Take to end of cul-de-sac.

Two large spade Ponderosa pines frame the home including a small water feature with a “bubbling” boulder in the middle of the pond. Boulders, perennials and berms are featured.

Randy and Charlotte Updike

2241 S. Miller Court

Next house to the south on Miller Court.

Many different boulders were used in this geologist’s home to create different effects with berms, grasses and a ‘Chanticleer’ Pear on berms. Several different types of decorative rock were used to add interest to this xeriscape design including black granite and cobblestone.

Dave and Lori Wheeler

2425 S. Miller Court

Return east on Miller Court and take the small “frontage” road to the west of the median.

A red flagstone wall with a ‘Cleveland Select’ Pear frame and accent the home. A small water feature highlights the front courtyard with broadleaf evergreens and grasses. A large number of red flagstone pathways in red breeze lead to the backyard areas and different wall tiers.
