

HESI SDG Publishers Compact Fellows: Top Action Tips

Academic Publishers

Guidance offering practical advice for publishers to support content focused on the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

- Sign the SDG Publishers Compact, create a plan of action using the STM SDG Sustainability Roadmap, and assess and report on progress for continuous improvement. Make a declaration on your company website about your commitments^{1,2,3}.
- 2. Recruit diverse editors-in-chief that are focused on SDG content inclusion wherever possible^{4,5}.
- 3. Encourage their editors to support the SDGs and follow the practical recommendations in the Top Tips for Editors.
- Align their portfolio of products to ensure inclusion of journals, books and commissioning of content focused on the topics covered by the SDGs. (See Connecting Researchers and Practitioners - and the SDGs Rubric)
- Increase interest in and positive impacts of your products by asking authors to include in their abstract research outcomes when they are relevant to practitioners and policymakers.
- 6. Increase the positive impacts of your products by establishing a system to ask authors to create a separate summary of outcomes for sharing, as appropriate, with practitioners and policymakers via plain language summaries and/or infographics.

Sage (2022). Sustainability

¹ Emerald Publishing: 'Our Commitment to Sustainability'

² Wiley (2023): Wiley's Commitment To The United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals

³ Sage (2022): Sustainability

⁴ Elsevier Report (2022): 'Making progress towards a more inclusive research ecosystem'

⁵ Springer Nature (2022): 'Addressing diversity & inclusion in peer reviewer and editorial be

⁵ Springer Nature (2022): 'Addressing diversity & inclusion in peer reviewer and editorial board recruitment'.

Communicating to professionals/practitioners, and Communicating to policymakers, journalists and the public, were designed for this purpose and can be adopted and/or adapted, as appropriate.

- 7. Reduce barriers to potential authors who may need waivers and discounts by utilising the information in the Top Tips on Waivers and Discounts and Committee on Publication Ethics [COPE] (Business Practices - Author Fees (Bullet 13))^{6,7}.
- 8. Establish policies, business models and processes to guard against systemic bias. (See Top Tips for Equity)
- 9. Encourage editors to appoint practitioner editors on journal editorial boards to provide practitioner perspectives and connections. These editors can: help the journal connect to practitioner organizations to hear from practitioners what are the urgent research questions for the SDG(s); help select content suitable for translation and dissemination to practitioners; help with the dissemination of relevant research outcomes to practitioners.
- 10. Support diverse authorship in your products by providing publication outreach support and tools.

⁶ C4DISC: Toolkits for Equity

⁷ The TRUST Code: 'A Global Code of Conduct for Equitable Research Partnerships