Road Traffic Crashes (RTC) kill over 1 million persons annually. This expert panel will describe the complex interplay between human factors, road and vehicle safety with policy and prevention strategies in the effort to reduced RTCs. Global health challenges and solutions to address reducing RTCs will also be discussed. The moderated session will be carried out as a series of short presentations followed by an informal discussion with speakers.