

Thrive Leadership Values Inventory

Our values tell us how we want to be in the world. When we clearly understand what they are and pay attention to them, our values keep us on track to living and leading at our best. The hardest part of any values exercise is whittling down your list. We encourage you to try it and know that your values can evolve as you do.

- Review the list of values.
- Highlight the values that quickly resonate with you.
- Go back and star your top ten values.
- Hone your choices further by circling your top five or six values.
