

European Housing Studies

Edited by
Sergio Nasarre-Aznar
Magdalena Habdas
Padraic Kenna

European Housing Studies

Edited by
Sergio Nasarre-Aznar
Magdalena Habdas
Padraic Kenna

Tarragona-Katowice-Galway 2024

Assistant scientific editors
Gemma Caballé-Fabra (Dr.)
Grzegorz Matusik (Dr. Hab.)

Edited and proofread by
Anna Sorówka-Łach

Cover design
Grafos

Cover illustrations
www.housingstudies.eu
ANRIR/Shutterstock

Publication prepared by Wolters Kluwer Polska Sp. z o.o.

ISBN 978-84-09-55851-3

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Contributors	19
Abbreviations	23
Legislation and case law	27
List of figures and tables	33
Foreword	35

Part I

The theory of housing studies

Chapter 1. Evolution of housing studies	39
David Clapham
Abstract	39
1.1 What are housing studies?	39
1.2 Relationship to teaching	40
1.3 Link to professionalisation	40
1.4 Research funding.....	40
1.5 The scope of housing studies	41
1.6 Interdisciplinarity	41
1.7 Comparative research	41
1.8 Links to policy-making	42
1.9 National focus. The United Kingdom	42
Bibliography	43
Chapter 2. Housing as an interdisciplinary academic study	44
David Clapham
Abstract	44
2.1 Introduction	44
2.2 Behavioural and institutional economics	45
2.3 Social constructionism	45
2.4 Materialism	47
2.5 Social practices	48
Bibliography	49

Chapter 3. Housing studies in Europe	50
Joris Hoekstra
Abstract	50
3.1 Main approaches in comparative housing research	50
3.2 Divergence in European housing systems	51
3.3 Towards an increasing relevance of regional or local housing systems?	54
3.4 National focus. The Netherlands	55
Bibliography	55
Chapter 4. Housing and the European Union	57
Padraic Kenna
Abstract	57
4.1 Introduction	57
4.2 Housing conditions and affordability	58
4.3 Human rights	60
4.4 Economic governance	60
4.5 Consumer protection	61
4.6 Climate change	61
4.7 EU housing policy	62
4.8 National focus. Ireland	62
Bibliography	63
Part II
The right to housing
Chapter 5. The right to housing	67
Padraic Kenna
Abstract	67
5.1 What is the right to housing?	67
5.2 Sources on the right to housing	68
5.3 Is the right to housing enforceable?	70
5.4 National focus. Ireland	71
Bibliography	72
Chapter 6. The concept of “home”	73
Gemma Caballé-Fabra
Abstract	73
6.1 Terms related to the concept of home	73
6.2 Main and secondary residences	77
6.3 National focus. Spain	77
Bibliography	78
Chapter 7. Adequate housing	80
Sergio Nasarre-Aznar
Abstract	80
7.1 Acknowledgement of the right to adequate housing in international law	80
7.2 The concept of the right to adequate housing and relation to other human rights	81

7.3 Specific characteristics and content of adequate housing	81
7.4 National focus. Spain	84
Bibliography	85

Part III Development of housing

Chapter 8. Housing and land use planning law	89
---	-----------

Rachelle Alterman

Abstract	89
8.1 Introduction	89
8.2 Planning “systems” and their main regulatory instruments	90
8.2.1 The function of land use plans in housing policy	91
8.2.2 Detailed plans and development control for specific housing projects.....	94
8.2.3 Technical and occupancy standards for housing	98
8.3 A Critical view of the relationship between land use regulations and equitable housing policy	100
8.3.1 Land use regulations and disparities in property values.....	100
8.3.2 Turning land use regulations around: instruments to mitigate exclusionary effects of land use regulations	104
8.4 In conclusion	106
8.5 National focus. The United Kingdom	106
Bibliography	109

Chapter 9. Nature and types of housing: Urban design and demographics	111
--	------------

Laia Soriano-Montagut Jené

Abstract	111
9.1 Introduction	111
9.2 Nature and types of housing.....	112
9.3 Urban design	113
9.4 Demographics	113
9.5 Migration	113
9.6 Preferences	114
9.7 Building communities	115
9.8 Universal design	115
9.9 Consultation with communities	116
9.10 National focus. Spain	116
Bibliography	118

Chapter 10. Social housing development	120
---	------------

Núria Lambea-Llop

Abstract	120
10.1 Definition of social housing	120
10.2 Size of the sector	121
10.3 Types of social housing providers	121
10.3.1 Evolution of providers.....	121
10.3.2 A wide range of social housing providers.....	122
10.3.3 New trends: public-private partnerships.....	122

10.4	Financing the sector	123
10.5	Rent setting and beneficiaries of social housing (allocation scheme)	123
10.5.1	Rent setting.....	124
10.5.2	Beneficiaries: eligibility criteria and the role of the social housing sector.....	124
10.6	National focus. Spain	125
	Bibliography	127

Part IV

Access to and tenure of housing

Chapter 11. The continuum of housing tenures	131
Christoph Schmid, Annika Schulenberg and Ricardo Brehme-Roy
Abstract	131
11.1 The need for tenure diversification	131
11.2 Categorisation of different tenure models and options	132
11.3 Rent minus	133
11.3.1 Squatting and property guardianship	133
11.3.2 Contractual and informal housing tenures without tenant protection	134
11.3.3 Gratuitous loans, family law entitlements and purely factual situations	135
11.4 Ownership plus	135
11.5 National focus. Germany	136
Bibliography	136
Chapter 12. Home ownership	138
Sergio Nasarre-Aznar
Abstract	138
12.1 Home ownership data in Europe	138
12.2 Home ownership value	139
12.3 Protection of private ownership	141
12.3.1 Protection of private ownership by the state	141
12.3.2 Protection of private property from other third parties.....	142
12.4 Legal limitations of private ownership	142
12.5 National focus. Spain	144
Bibliography	145
Chapter 13. The European land market and public land law	146
Mark Jordan
Abstract	146
13.1 The European land market	146
13.1.1 Land use in Europe.....	146
13.1.2 Land ownership in Europe	147
13.1.3 Purchase and sale of land across Europe.....	148
13.2 Public land law and social and affordable housing	150
13.2.1 Planning and zoning systems across Europe	150

13.2.2 Public rules and implementation of social and affordable housing policies.....	151
13.3 National focus. The United Kingdom	152
Bibliography	153
Chapter 14. Forms of organising multi-unit buildings. (1) Condominiums	155
Magdalena Habdas and Grzegorz Matusik
Abstract	155
14.1 General overview	155
14.1.1 Socio-economic context.....	155
14.1.2 The essence of condominiums.....	157
14.1.3 Legal framework	157
14.1.4 Management of common areas.....	159
14.2 International/European/cross-border perspectives	160
14.3 National focus. Poland	161
Bibliography	162
Chapter 15. Intermediate tenures	162
Christoph Schmid, Annika Schulenberg and Ricardo Brehme-Roy
Abstract	164
15.1 Introduction	164
15.2 Old and new private law instruments	165
15.2.1 Real housing right and usufruct	165
15.2.2 Ground leases	165
15.2.3 Common law leases and Catalan temporary ownership	165
15.2.4 Shared ownership	166
15.2.5 Occupation right and right to durable housing	166
15.3 Private governance structures	167
15.3.1 Apartment ownership (condominium) and Scandinavian equivalents	167
15.3.2 Continental cooperatives and similar structures	168
15.4 Public-private partnerships	168
15.4.1 Models relying on public-private intermediaries	169
15.4.2 Models with state support for private housing.....	169
15.5 Conclusion	170
15.6 National focus. Germany	170
Bibliography	171
Chapter 16. Collaborative housing	172
María Paula Rodríguez-Liévano
Abstract	172
16.1 “Collaborative housing” phenomenon in different jurisdictions	172
16.2 Elements of collaborative housing	176
16.3 National focus. Spain	177
Bibliography	178

Chapter 17. Forms of organising multi-unit buildings. (2) Ownership-like cooperatives	180
Magdalena Habdas and Grzegorz Matusik
Abstract	180
17.1 General overview	180
17.2 International perspective	181
17.3 European Union perspective	184
17.4 National focus. Poland	185
Bibliography	186
Chapter 18. Tenancies. Regulation of rented housing	188
Mark Jordan
Abstract	188
18.1 Rented housing in Europe	188
18.1.1 Overview	188
18.1.2 Sectoral arrangement of rental tenures	189
18.1.3 Tenancies in housing policies	189
18.2 Regulation of rented housing in Europe	190
18.2.1 Nature and scope of regulation.....	190
18.2.2 Comparing regulation of tenancies	191
18.3 National focus. The United Kingdom	192
Bibliography	193
Chapter 19. Rental contracts	195
Christoph Schmid, Annika Schulenberg and Ricardo Brehme-Roy
Abstract	195
19.1 Introduction	195
19.2 Conclusion of the contract	196
19.3 Duration and termination of the contract	196
19.4 Rent setting and control	199
19.5 Maintenance, repairs and condominium costs	200
19.6 National focus. Germany	200
Bibliography	201
Chapter 20. Forms of organising multi-unit buildings. (3) Social housing	202
Núria Lambea-Llop and Padraic Kenna
Abstract	202
20.1 Introduction	202
20.2 Overview of social housing management	203
20.3 Lettings, allocations and homelessness	204
20.4 Rents and services charges	204
20.5 Repairs and maintenance	205
20.6 Tenant participation and consultation	205
20.7 Dealing with tenancy contract matters and neighbours and tenants' disputes	206
20.8 Support to tenants	206
20.9 Community safety	207
20.10 National focus. The United Kingdom	207
Bibliography	209

Part V
Forced loss and lack of housing

Chapter 21. Forced loss of housing. Evictions	213
Padraic Kenna
Abstract	213
21.1 Defining an eviction	213
21.2 Causes of evictions	215
21.3 The EU Report of 2016	216
21.4 Housing rights and evictions	217
21.5 National focus. Ireland	219
Bibliography	219
Chapter 22. Homelessness	221
Sergio Nasarre-Aznar and Núria Lambea-Llop
Abstract	221
22.1 The conceptualisation of homelessness and housing exclusion in Europe	221
22.2 Explaining the ETHOS categories	224
22.3 Pathways to homelessness	224
22.4 Instruments to tackle homelessness	226
22.5 Some data on the homelessness phenomenon in European countries	227
22.6 National focus. Spain	228
Bibliography	228
Chapter 23. Squatting	230
Héctor Simón-Moreno
Abstract	230
23.1 Squatting in Europe	230
23.2 National diversity	231
23.3 Squatting, adverse possession and the right to housing	232
23.4 National focus. Spain	233
Bibliography	234
Chapter 24. Supported housing models and Housing First	235
Samara Jones
Abstract	235
24.1 Emergency responses to homelessness	235
24.2 Supported housing and Housing First	236
24.3 What is Housing First and how is it different from other forms of supported housing?	238
24.4 Evidence base	241
24.5 Housing First and a housing-led approach to ending homelessness	241
24.6 Housing First and supported housing in a systems approach: success stories	243
24.7 National focus. Finland	244
Bibliography	244

Chapter 25. Housing for asylum seekers and refugees, and other excluded groups	246
Simona Barbu
Abstract	246
25.1 Housing and homelessness situation	246
25.2 EU policies on housing for excluded groups	247
25.3 Challenges and barriers to accessing adequate housing	250
25.4 Good practices/support measures	252
25.5 National focus. Greece	252
Bibliography	253

Part VI

Housing as a market. Transactions in homes and funding

Chapter 26. The housing market	257
Mark Stephens and Kenneth Gibb
Abstract	257
26.1 The economics of housing markets	257
26.2 Government intervention in housing markets	258
26.3 National focus. The United Kingdom	260
Bibliography	261

Chapter 27. Housing demand, supply and prices	262
Michał Głuszak
Abstract	262
27.1 General overview	262
27.2 International perspective	263
27.3 European Union perspective	264
27.4 National focus. Poland	265
Bibliography	266

Chapter 28. Mechanisms of housing as property transfer. Sales contract.

Property law. Property rights. Title and registration	268
Magdalena Habdas and Grzegorz Matusik
Abstract	268
28.1 General remarks	268
28.2 Obligational and real rights	269
28.3 Real rights – detailed discussion	270
28.4 Purchasing a real right to a dwelling – the contractual mode	271
28.5 Land registers	271
28.6 Sale contract	272
28.7 The right to use a dwelling and its registration	273
28.8 National focus. Poland	273
Bibliography	275

Chapter 29. Mortgage contracts	276
Héctor Simón-Moreno
Abstract	276
29.1 Lack of European rules on mortgage loans	276

29.2 National diversity	277
29.3 Equity release schemes in the EU	279
29.4 National focus. Spain	279
Bibliography	280
Chapter 30. The Global Financial Crisis 2007. Mortgage securitisation	282
Sergio Nasarre-Aznar
Abstract	282
30.1 Causes of the 2007 Global Financial Crisis	282
30.2 The role of housing during the GFC and the following years	284
30.3 National focus. Spain	288
Bibliography	289

Part VII

Roles and functions of housing. Property professionals and stakeholders in Europe

Chapter 31. Housing private stakeholders	293
Gemma Caballé-Fabra
Abstract	293
31.1 Developers, builders, architects, real estate agents, condominium managers, gatekeepers (notaries, land registrars, attorneys)	293
31.2 Mortgage lenders and brokers	294
32.3 The regulation of professional activity	294
31.4 Competencies, functions, rights, liability and particularities	296
31.5 Professional accreditation	297
31.6 National focus. Spain	297
Bibliography	298
Chapter 32. Housing and consumer redress	300
Héctor Simón-Moreno
Abstract	300
32.1 The Global Financial Crisis and the Mortgage Credit Directive	300
32.2 The MCD: a missed opportunity	302
32.3 A divergent national transposition	303
32.4 National focus. Spain	303
Bibliography	304
Chapter 33. Consumers and professionals issues on EU cross-border property transactions	306
Mark Jordan
Abstract	306
33.1 Cross-border purchasers of residential property	306
33.1.1 The European market in land	306
33.1.2 The scale of cross-border acquisition	307
33.1.3 A typology of purchasers	307
33.1.4 Problems encountered by citizens	307
33.1.5 Consumer protection of purchasers	308

33.2 Professional assistance	309
33.2.1 Cross-border conveyancing in Europe	309
33.2.2 The role of the conveyancer	309
33.2.3 Notarial functions in residential conveyancing.....	309
33.2.4 Joint or separate representation	310
33.2.5 Professional representation of cross-border purchasers.....	310
33.3 National focus. The United Kingdom	311
Bibliography	312
Chapter 34. Taxation of housing	313
Marc Lund Andersen
Abstract	313
34.1 Introduction to taxation of housing	313
34.2 Types of housing taxation	319
34.3 Housing-related tax deductions, reliefs, and subsidies	323
34.4 Taxation neutrality between housing tenures	326
34.5 National focus. Denmark	328
Bibliography	330
Chapter 35. Contemporary methods to finance real estate investments:
Crowdfunding	331
Rosa Maria Garcia-Teruel
Abstract	331
35.1 General overview	331
35.2 Real estate crowdfunding: a new type of investment	332
35.3 Crowdfunding under Regulation (EU) 2020/1503	333
35.4 National focus. Spain	334
Bibliography	335

Part VIII

Housing, city, territory and environment

Chapter 36. Housing and the city	339
Laia Soriano-Montagut Jené
Abstract	339
36.1 Housing and the city	339
36.2 Planning, zoning, design, architecture, development and building of housing	340
36.3 Housing and urban regeneration	340
36.4 Urban management	341
36.5 Social housing in urban plans	341
36.6 Municipal land patrimony	342
36.7 Public, green, inclusive, cultural, recreation and safe: spaces and places	342
36.8 Housing and urban services	343
36.9 National focus. Spain	343
Bibliography	345

Chapter 37. Right to the city and the UN New Urban Agenda	346
Agata Twardoch
Abstract	346
37.1 Right to the city	346
37.2 Threats to the idea of the right to the city and the right to housing	349
37.3 Right to the city and New Urban Agenda	353
37.4 National focus. Poland	354
Bibliography	355
Chapter 38. Territorial cohesion	356
Josep Maria Piñol
Abstract	356
38.1 Urban polarisation and competition for the city. Causes of exclusion	356
38.2 Urban policies and resilience	357
38.3 Peripheries: new imbalances and trends	357
38.4 Planning for a networked territory for a positive urban-rural relationship	358
38.5 Lively and connected rural areas: housing as a key factor	359
38.6 National focus. Spain	360
Bibliography	361
Chapter 39. Independent living for persons with disabilities and housing	363
Áine Sperrin
Abstract	363
39.1 What is independent living?	363
39.2 How does the EU promote independent living?	364
39.3 What is universal design?	366
39.4 Best practice model: Sweden	367
39.5 National focus. Ireland	367
Bibliography	368
Chapter 40. New urban challenges	369
József Hegedüs and Iván Tosics
Abstract	369
40.1 Introduction	369
40.2 Gentrification	370
40.3 Short-term rental	371
40.4 Empty dwellings	373
40.5 Substandard housing	374
40.6 Conclusion: integrated development and effective multi-level governance	375
40.7 National focus. The Netherlands: Rotterdam	376
Bibliography	377
Chapter 41. Green affordable housing	379
Rosa Maria Garcia-Teruel
Abstract	379
41.1 Green affordable housing and energy efficiency in the EU	379
41.2 Energy efficiency in condominiums and in rented dwellings	381
41.3 National focus. Spain	382
Bibliography	383

Chapter 42. The Sustainable Housing Target and Urban Goal SDG11: Safe and affordable for all?	384
Catalina Turcu
Abstract	384
42.1 International context	384
42.2 National focus. The United Kingdom	387
Bibliography	391
Chapter 43. Housing and health	393
Roderick Lawrence
Abstract	393
43.1 Introduction	393
43.2 Housing and health: key variables	394
43.3 A systemic matrix	396
43.4 Conclusion	397
43.5 National focus. Switzerland	397
Bibliography	398
Part IX
Housing and new technologies
Chapter 44. An introduction to proptech	403
Gemma Caballé-Fabra
Abstract	403
44.1 The concept of proptech and its challenges	403
44.2 Different types of proptech services and products	404
44.3 The use of technology in the iter of a real estate transaction	405
44.4 The real estate brokerage profession through proptech	406
44.5 National focus. Spain	407
Bibliography	408
Chapter 45. Blockchain technology, smart contracts and tokenization	410
Rosa Maria Garcia-Teruel
Abstract	410
45.1 Bitcoin, blockchain technology and smart contracts	410
45.2 Land registries and blockchain	412
45.3 Buying a home through the blockchain	412
45.4 Renting a property through the blockchain	414
45.5 National legislations and MICA Regulation	414
45.6 National focus. Spain	415
Bibliography	416
Chapter 46. Evidence-based analysis of judicial decisions and an application to Spanish housing case law	418
Lluc Font
Abstract	418
46.1 An evidence-based framework for legal research	418
46.2 A data-science perspective to the analysis of legal documents	420

46.3 A challenge for better quantitative legal research: data quality and accessibility	422
46.4 National focus. Spain	424
Bibliography	424
Chapter 47. Smart, sustainable and inclusive cities: housing and IoT	427
Montserrat Pareja-Eastaway
Abstract	427
47.1 Introduction: urban challenges in the post-COVID age	427
47.2 Concepts and definitions	429
47.3 Technology, the city and the house	430
47.4 Barriers and enablers to smart, sustainable and inclusive cities	432
47.5 National focus. Spain	432
Bibliography	433
Chapter 48. European data protection and housing	435
Dorit Garfunkel
Abstract	435
48.1 Emerging conflict between housing and privacy	435
48.2 Smart homes and the transformation of everyday living	437
48.3 Privately owned multi-unit housing (condominiums)	437
48.4 Rental housing	439
48.5 The European General Data Protection Regulation	440
48.6 National focus. Israel	442
Bibliography	443

Housing is a complex matter and there are no easy solutions to the challenges it poses. A successful housing policy and practice require up-to-date information and analysis.

European Housing Studies is a unique book of its kind. It is the result of work undertaken by 31 multidisciplinary housing experts from 11 European countries over three years. Each contributor has provided expert and condensed information and commentary on a variety of topics in structured chapters that range from the theory of housing studies and the right to housing to the development, access and loss of housing. The publication also contains sections devoted to housing as a market, housing professionals, housing and technology, and the interactions between housing, city, territory and the environment.

The book has been designed to be used as both a standalone handbook for those interested in a single publication containing all the current key topics related to housing and as a coursebook linked to the online European Housing Studies course (<https://www.housingstudies.eu>) devised by the Housing+ consortium and co-funded by the European Union.

Co-funded by the European Union

