The Definitive Summer Party Dressing Guide

Navigating the barrage of summertime events is a special brand of baffling. In addition to meeting dress code mandates, there's weather (sizzling during the day, Arctic at night) and versatility (a wedding-per-weekend pace... READ MORE

Ask Jean: Do I Really Need Toner?

Q: I'm in my late thirties and still get the occasional breakout—but I'm also seeing wrinkles and some dryness. I use a great cleanser—Tata Harper Nourishing Oil cleanser—and I love Vintner's Daughter for treatment. Should I be doing anything else? Do I need a toner?... READ MORE

The Summer Skin, Hair, and Body Shape-Up

From an easy pedicure or painless hair removal to a glowy touch of a tan if you need one, set aside some portion of a day for a spa/salon moment—a busy person's solution to getting it all back together for summer, perhaps skipping what... READ MORE

Inside the goop Wellness Universe

On June 10 in LA, for the first time ever, we hosted an all-day wellness summit that brought together some of our most trusted doctors and experts, plus friends and great minds. There were paradigm-shifting chats, a live demo of a 10-minute facelift, customized crystal readings... READ MORE

The Off-Duty Chef: Sqirl's Jessica Koslow

It's clear from the constant line around the block at Sqirl in Silver Lake that Jessica Koslow and her team have tapped into a certain LA food ethos. With famous dishes like the crispy rice salad, sorrel pesto bowl, and a pretty perfect turmeric tonic, most locals credit it as the birthplace of the ingredient-driven, fresh and healthy, grain-bowl- and avo-toast-centric dining scene that's basically synonymous with the city these days.
