CHRIST COVENANT CHURCH

A Reformed and Presbyterian church plant in Fargo, North Dakota.

Brock and Katie are raising support to plant Christ Covenant Church in Fargo, ND. They need your help to make this happen!

WHY CHURCH PLANT IN FARGO?

Fargo is a rapidly growing city with a population of about 238,000 in the metropolitan area. It is the largest city in North Dakota and is very much a university town. Together with its “twin city” Moorhead, it has three major colleges. Fargo is home to North Dakota State University, which is the largest of these colleges enrolling around 13,000 students. Fargo is a cultural and economic hub in North Dakota. This means it is a strategic place to plant when thinking about reaching the whole state. Lord willing, we hope that Christ Covenant Church will be a church plant that plants other churches in this region.

BUT IT'S SO COLD...

North Dakota is a difficult place to move to if you have no connections to the area. This is one of the reasons that a primarily southern denomination such as the PCA has no churches in the whole state! For most people entering the ministry, North Dakota is low on the list of desirable locations. Both the location and the weather can make it a difficult place to live. With that said, both Brock and Katie call North Dakota home—Fargo is where Brock was raised and Katie has lived for 10+ years. This is part of the reason they have a heart for Fargo, and feel the Lord is calling them to ministry in this part of the country.

"The PCA has no churches in the whole state!"

"I am excited to see the PCA get established in a part of the country where the PCA has not been before. I've known Brock and Katie Larson for several years and am delighted that the Lord has led them to this work in Fargo. I hope many across the denomination will see the strategic importance of supporting this promising gospel work."

HOW CAN YOU HELP THE FARGO CHURCH PLANT?

Of course this work cannot succeed without your help. Would you consider supporting this church plant in any or all of the following ways?

Praying for the Work in Fargo

- We need many people praying for both Brock and Christ Covenant Church. If you would like to stay informed on what's going on with the church and ways you can be praying, please sign up for our newsletters by emailing: brock@christcovenantfargo.org

Financially Supporting the Work

- We are looking for three year commitments from individuals and churches. Lord willing, eventually the church will be fully supported by the core group that is gathered in Fargo. Until then we need your help!
  - Give online at: <https://give.pcamna.org/to/1902/>
  - Or mail checks to: 3550 38th Ave S, Suite C, Fargo, ND 58104

Helping Us Network

- We would love to connect with anyone you think would be interested in partnering with us. This may be prayer, financial support, or connections to those looking for a church in the area.
- Lastly, if you know college students moving to town, we would love to connect them to the church and the campus ministry Reformed University Fellowship (RUF).

GET TO KNOW THE PASTOR

Brock Larson is a native of Fargo, and graduate from North Dakota State University and Reformed Theological Seminary in Charlotte, North Carolina. While in seminary Brock interned at Christ Covenant Church in Matthews, NC. He spent the past year planting Reformed University Fellowship on the campus of North Dakota State. He is currently receiving coaching in the church planting process from Hunter Brewer of Trinity Church in Collierville, TN. Brock is married to Katie who was raised in Sidney, Montana. Together they share a desire to see Reformed and Presbyterian churches planted not only in Fargo, but across the state of North Dakota.
