WHEN IS IT? HOW DOES IT WORK?

As our members span the globe, our reading group operates asynchronously.

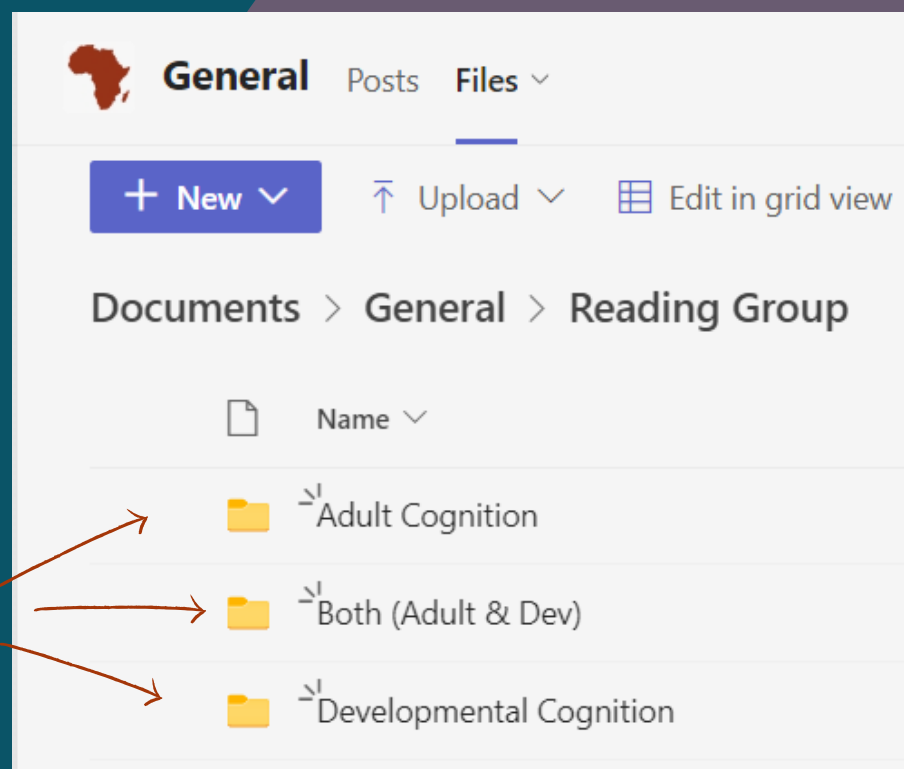

- Each week, we will select a paper (the schedule for the weekly readings is here: schedule).
- A new discussion thread will be created weekly in the General Teams channel to remind everyone of the selected paper.
- You are encouraged to read the selected paper and respond at any time throughout the week with any comments or questions you may have.
- We kindly request that all participants reply within the same thread, fostering focused and engaging conversations.

SELECTING A PAPER

All members are invited to actively participate by selecting papers for discussion.

If you come across a paper you find interesting and would like to engage others in conversation, please place it in the appropriate folder, categorized by adult or child cognition, or papers relevant to both. You can access the folders here: Reading_Group

Participation in the reading group is encouraged, but not required.

You may choose to participate at any given week without any additional commitments.

Be respectful of others.
